GERMANY TO GET FINAL ANSWER FRIDAY

National Wire Strike Proves Failure

COMPANY HEADS DECLARE SMALL NUMBER ARE OUT

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, June 11.—Union leaders declared tonight that t day's response to the call for a nation-wide strike of com- l telegraph operators gave promise that the tie-up will be ete in three days, despite claims of the company officials strike has failed.

Reports received by the Associated Press from many towns ious sections of the country indicate commercial telegraph ce was not seriously interrupted in most districts.

A statement by President Carlton of the Western Union Telegraph Company that only about 166 persons, 121 of them operators, answered the strike call, brought from S. J. Konenkamp, international president of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America, a remark that more than that number of Western Union employees in Chicago alone had joined the strike by noon today.

UNION CLAIMS.

"Reports up to late today point to a 90 per cent. response in the Postal Telegraph Company service and a 70 per cent. response from Western Union employees," said Konenkamp in a statement to The Associated Press tonight. "The East has shown up surprisingly well, and in the Southeast alone the number of strikers now exceeds 3000. Telephone workers have added to the strikers' numbers in Philadelphia, New Orleans, Columbia, S. C., and Brunswick, Ga.

"When the electrical workers go on a nation-wide strike Monday additional telephone workers also will go out. Railroad telegraphers in all parts of the country are refusing commercial business and trouble anew is impending in Canada because of refusal of Canadian telegraphers to handle American business."

Later Mr. Konenkamp said his reports definitely showed more than 5000 telegraphers out with indications that the number approximated 15,000. By tomorrow, he said, he expected 75 per cent. of the Western Union forces would be out.

"We're well satisfied," he said, "but we have realized only a desperate strike would get us anything."

As to Postmaster-General Burleson's statement he could not go beyond the rulings of the War Labor Board, Mr. Konenkamp said:

"If Mr. Burleson had been willing to abide by the decisions of the War Labor Board there would have been no trouble. It comes with poor grace from him now to try to hide behind the board."

WESTERN UNION STATEMENT.

In a statement declaring only a few Western Union operators had quit, Edward F. Wach, deputy vice-president of the Association of Western Union Employees, said the 30,000 members of that organization were not concerned with the C. T. U. A. demands. Sixty-five per cent. of all Western Union employees are represented in the association, he said.

"The association has an agreement with the Western Union whereby it is recognized and is permitted to bargain collectively for wages and hours," he said. "We obtained a 5 and 10 per cent. increase under Postmaster-General Burleson and were promised adjustment of certain parts of a schedule entered into with the company which was not fulfilled by the Postmaster-General.

"Reports from locals in all sections of the country show Western Union employees on the job with a few exceptions which are negligible."

To substantiate his claims, Mr. Wach displayed telegrams from association officials in various districts, saying conditions were normal.

STRIKE AT END, SAYS REYNOLDS.

Postal Head Asserts His Company has not Experienced Serious Trouble.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, June 11.—Edward Reynolds, general manager of the Postal Telegraph system, issued a statement tonight declaring the strike, as far as his company was concerned, "is practically at an end." Mr. Reynolds said the Postal company had not experienced any serious trouble today.

Mr. Reynolds declared the Postal operators considered it unfair that they should bear the burden of "carrying on a fight against the Western Union company, which was the origin of the strike."

BURLESON DECLARES STRIKE UNJUSTIFIED.

SAYS WIRE CONTROL BOARD WILL NOT GO BEYOND WAR BOARD RULES.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, June 11.—Declaring the strike of wire employees, which began today, was "wholly without justification," Postmaster-General Burleson said in a statement, "no amount of pressure will avail to make the Wire Control Board extend or go beyond" rules and regulations affecting employees laid down during the war by the National War Labor Board.

Mr. Burleson said his information was that telegraphic traffic had not and would not be delayed. Government business, which makes up the bulk of that handled by the telegraph companies here, was reported moving as usual today, and at the State Department it was said there had been no interruption of cable communication with Europe.

"The present strike," said the Postmaster-General, "started at Atlanta, because it was claimed employees of the Southern Bell Telephone Company had been dismissed solely because of affiliation with the labor organization. The complaint was referred to postoffice inspectors for investigation. While the investigation was in progress a sympathetic strike against the Western Union was called in the Southeastern States. An insignificant percentage of the operatives respected the order to strike. In the meantime, it was ascertained that only seven employees of the Southern Bell Telephone Company had been dismissed during May, compared with an average of five for two months preceding, and the investigation of these cases so far completed shows no discrimination has been practiced against employees of that company because of union affiliations.

"Our information is that the telegraphic traffic has not been delayed and the information received indicates it will not be delayed. During the period of government control the rules and regulations of the War Labor Board have been strictly observed and will continue to be observed during the continuance of government control, but no amount of pressure will avail to make the Wire Control Board extend or go beyond those regulations.

"When the period of government control ends the wire systems can be and will be returned to their various owners intact, with their operating organizations intact, without the values of those properties having been in the slightest impaired."

LATE MORNING CITY NEWS

An unidentified Mexican early this morning killed another Mexican in Pasadena by stabbing him in the heart and seriously wounded the man's wife by slashing her across the face and breast. According to the Pasadena police, a party was held last night at the home of Daniel Laguna, at 967 South Raymond avenue. Considerable liquor is said to have been drunk, and shortly after midnight a quarrel started and the alleged murderer is said to have drawn a knife and stabbed his host through the heart. In an effort to assist her husband, the wife received wounds which are expected to prove fatal.

Ten boys of ages ranging from 8 to 16 years were taken into custody late last night by Patrolmen Fraker and Smith of the East Side Police Station on charges of petty larceny. The boys are said to have stolen a considerable quantity of material from the new addition to the Lincoln High School.

Proud Bride of the War's Super-Hero.

SALT LAKE CITY, June 11. (Exclusive Dispatch.) The Rotary Clubs of America are to hold a convention here and Rotarians are gathering from all over the country, but the only persons who are coming to town that the residents are really interested in are Sergt. Alvin C. York, and the sergeant's bride.

Sergt. York, who was kissed by French generals and given a chestful of medals, and the American Congressional Medal of Honor, and a banquet in New York, and a farm in Tennessee, is headed this way with his bride of last Saturday.

Rotarians gave the sergeant and his bride a honeymoon trip to their convention as a wedding gift.

The nuptials were followed by a basket picnic and barbecue in honor of the bride and groom, who have been sweethearts since childhood.

GOVERNMENT SHIP RAMMED

NEW YORK, June 11.—The steamship Graf Waldersee, a former German liner taken over by the United States Shipping Board, was rammed 100 miles off Sandy Hook at 11:45 o'clock tonight by the steamship Redondo, a cargo boat, according to a wireless message received by the naval communication service. A later message said the Graf Waldersee had six feet of water in her engine-room.

A wireless message received at 1 o'clock this morning said the steamship Patricia was taking off the passengers and crew of the Graf Waldersee. The engine-room and fireroom of the former German liner were flooded, but the message said it was believed she would remain afloat and a request was made that tugs be sent to her assistance.

WASHINGTON, June 11.—Reports received at the Navy Department from the commandant of the Third Naval District indicated that the steamer Graf Waldersee, rammed tonight by the freighter Redondo off Sandy Hook, was not in serious danger. A number of vessels, including the Leviathan, were reported close by and were ordered to the rescue. The Graf Waldersee was outward bound.

AMERICAN SHIP RAMMED.

NEW YORK, June 11. — The Italian steamship Argentina collided with the steamship Yankee, operated by the United States Shipping Board, off Fire Island Light late tonight. The Yankee was reported to be leaking so badly that she was abandoned by her captain and crew, who were taken aboard the Argentina, which is standing by.

HUNS TO GAIN NO POINTS; FIVE DAYS FOR A REPLY IS DECISION OF THE ENTENTE

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

PARIS, June 11.—Distinct progress was reported tonight on the reply of the Allied and associated governments to the German counter-proposals, and indications are that the reply will be ready for delivery Friday.

The Germans will be given five days' limit for final action, which, therefore, would come on or before June 18.

The main feature of this progress was an agreement regarding reparation terms, which have been the subject of a sharp controversy during the past ten days.

As finally adopted the terms do not fix the definite amount of reparations, but the commission is required to fix the amount within four months of the signing of the treaty.

The main changes are explanations, rather than modifications, to meet the contention that the financial commission was vexatious, inquisitorial and infringed Germany's rights to conduct her own financial affairs. The revised terms clear away much that was open to the construction of being vexatious.

Final action on Germany's request for admission to the League of Nations has not been reached, but the discussion is declared to be tending toward an accord. The Silesian question, which has given difficulty, also virtually has been settled.

WILSON STAYS IN PARIS.

Though all the chances are that the reply will be delivered by the end of the week, President Wilson has made no plans to leave for Brussels, as he has an engagement in Paris Saturday night. Col. House will leave for London Friday and will remain there during the five days allowed the Germans. He will return for the signing of the treaty.

It is practically certain the revised treaty will not be submitted to a plenary conference with the smaller powers before the reply is sent to the Germans. The revised treaty and memorandum accompanying the treaty will be sent to Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau, head of the German delegation, by messenger without ceremony.

The German counter-proposals agreed upon by the Peace Conference heads refuses the German request for a mandate for the former German colonies, it was learned today.

A lengthy memorandum gives the reasons for the refusal and explains the operations of the League of Nations on colonial matters.

The reparations portion of the reply, which has been completed and has reached the printer, does not fix the total sum which the Germans must pay. The text of the treaty itself is not changed, but the reply contains assurances to Germany regarding the method of the reparations process, explaining that it is a workable arrangement.

President Wilson fought strenuously to include a fixed total sum in the reparations clause, and the close of the discussion leaves him unchanged, it is said, in the belief that that is the best plan.

WILSON WILL SIGN.

It is understood, however, that the President said that, inasmuch as Premier Clemenceau had insisted to the contrary and also that he had signed the original draft, he would sign the reply, as formulated.

It is understood assurance will be given the Germans regarding the details of the army of occupation, the size of it, the cost of its maintenance and the duration of the occupation under favorable circumstances. The Germans called the attention of the powers to the belief held by the German authorities that they were paying for the maintenance of a large number of soldiers not actually in the occupied regions, but working in France.

Knox Would Block President's Plan.

BY ROBERT B. ARMSTRONG.
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, June 11.—Senator Knox's attempt to precipitate a vote on the League of Nations and the peace treaty before the President can return and explain the conditions will produce the bitterest fight and the closest division since the present Congress was convened. It is a deliberate attempt to force a test vote before the President can bring into play his vast prestige and the arguments of his advisers and associates in favor of an international league to prevent war.

Republican Senators who are in favor of the league feel that this move is one to take time by the forelock and prevent the President's going to the people. His speaking tour is already planned and the recent trip of Secretary Tumulty and the new head of the Democratic National Committee to most of the States in the Union was to line up the Democratic State Committees in advance for the league and make it a party measure.

Following his return to the United States, the President is scheduled to go through the Middle West, the South and the East and possibly the Far West in an effort to secure the indorsement of the people for the league and by popular expression of public opinion compel the Senate to ratify the treaty with the league covenant, as contemplated by the Peace Conference delegates of the United States.

It may be that Vice-President Marshall will have the deciding vote in a test of strength now precipitated by the Knox resolution, which will come to the Senate within a day or two with the prestige of the Foreign Relations Committee indorsement fresh on it.

WALSH DEFENDS LEAGUE.

Asserting that opponents of the League of Nations have trumped up many unsupportable objections to play upon popular sensitiveness, Senator Walsh, Democrat, of Montana, defended the league covenant in the Senate today against charges that it subverts the American Constitution.

Answering Senators Lodge, Republican, of Massachusetts, Knox, Republican, of Pennsylvania, and others who urged constitutional objections, he quoted many precedents to support his position that the covenant neither sets aside any constitutional prerogative nor assumes any new power in treaty making.

Charges that the league would be a "superstate," he delared to be a "mere declamation" since the organism in most of the provisions complained of could only "advise" or "recommend." The celebrated Article X, he continued, certainly would bind the United States to make war in certain instances, but added that the same obligation had been assumed by various treaties made by this government in the past.

CAN'T AMEND, HE SAYS.

Senator Walsh said no one contended the league covenant was perfect. But it was "a mere subterfuge," he declared, to talk of amending it. "What the Senate may do," he continued, "is to propose amendments, which in substance is rejection of the treaty with a condition. The whole subject is thus opened up and negotiation must be resumed.

"The situation is not unlike that which was presented when our Constitution was submitted to the States for ratification. Its opponents, open and secret, were all strong for amending the draft submitted. Washington was not deceived by this method of attack. 'If another Federal convention is attempted, so he wrote to Charles Carter, of Fredericksburg, 'its members will be more discordant; will agree upon no general plan. The constitution is the best that can be obtained at this time.'"

VILLA HITS AT JUAREZ.

Federals Killed in Cavalry Clash.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

JUAREZ, June 11.—In a skirmish between Mexican Federals and advance forces of Gen. Angeles, a few miles east of Juarez, this afternoon some Federals are reported to have been killed. The Federals were picked off by snipers. There was no report of any casualties on the rebel side.

Reliable information is to the effect that unarmed Villa and Angeles men have been trickling into Juarez during the evening.

A Mexico Northwestern Railway engine and several stock cars were moving south of the station. It was a military train, but information as to where it was going could not be obtained.

The city on the surface is quiet but feeling is intense. The name of Villa is heard frequently on the streets, something unusual since the Villa-Carranza split. All officers, even quartermasters and paymasters, wore their side arms tonight.

With advance forces of Gen. Felipe Angeles reported at San Agustin, sixteen miles east of Juarez, midway between this city and Guadalupe, thirty-two miles east, where it is asserted the revolutionary leader has a large force of men, a battle for possession of Juarez is expected tonight or early tomorrow.

June 11, it has been known for several days by sympathizers of Gens. Angeles and Villa, was set for the taking of Juarez by the anti-government leaders.

Gen. Francisco Gonzales, commander of Juarez, said his men were ready for the fight.

INVESTIGATE CARRANZA.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, June 11.—Two small Central American nations, it has been learned here, were referred to by Gen. Carranza of Mexico in his recent pronunciamento against the Monroe Doctrine, in which he said he had been asked by "friendly countries" to make a public statement on the attitude of Mexico toward it.

The identity of the Central American countries concerned has not been disclosed, but an investigation is being made unofficially at the request of several Senators to determine whether the request to Carranza was spontaneous or instigated by him to furnish him with an opportunity to attack America's traditional policy. When he had furnished the excuse for speaking out on the subject, Gen. Carranza said Mexico did not recognize and never would recognize the Monroe Doctrine. As a result of this disavowal, and the disclosure that two small nations were referred to by Carranza as asking for his opinion, Richard R. Cole, formerly Carranza's representative in Washington, said here today:

"It was precisely this trend of the then first chief that forced me to withdraw from his movement. He was always suspicious of and hostile to the United States and President Wilson, in spite of unheard of American generosity and leaned toward Japan, Germany or whatever nation or power in his opinion was a possible enemy of our country. No argument or facts could budge him from his hostility.

HOSTILITY MANIFESTED.

"Immediately on his defacto recognition by the United States his hostility was manifested by refusal to comply with the promise to protect American lives and rights, which promises were the basis of the American government's recognition.

"Carranza is not opposed to the Monroe Doctrine as a doctrine but because it is a policy upheld to safeguard the United States. He would not object to it if it were for the protection of or was upheld by Germany or Japan."

NEW PLAN FOR HUN CANNON DISPOSAL.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, June 11.—Representative Johnson of South Dakota has come forward with a new solution of the problem of disposing of captured German cannon. In a bill introduced in the House he provides that all such cannon and other war trophies shall be distributed among the State legislatures according to an apportionment based on the number of men from the various States who were in military service.

AUSTRIANS PROTEST TERMS.

PARIS, Tuesday, June 10.—Karl Renner, Austrian Chancellor, and head of the Austrian peace mission, has sent a letter to the Peace Conference complaining of the "hard conditions" imposed upon his country, and pointing out the complexity of the Austrian frontier question. The letter will be laid before the council of four tomorrow.

I.W.W. SWELLING RANKS OF REDS.

More Than 8000 Delegates Enrolling New Members.

Naval Report Shows Socialists Support Radicals.

WASHINGTON, June 11. — More than 8000 delegates of the I.W.W. armed with credentials from Chicago are and have for some time been enrolling new members throughout the East, according to statements contained in a report prepared by Lieutenant-Commander Van Amherst of the naval intelligence service.

The report, resulting from independent investigation by Lieutenant-Commander Van Amherst, was filed nearly five months ago, but received no attention until recently, when Francis P. Garvan, alien property custodian, who has been named assistant Attorney-General in charge of all criminal investigations, began active steps against the nihilists. Accuracy of the statements contained in the report is attested by the fact that officials of the Department of Justice verified every statement of the naval officer as to the character and record of each individual named in the document.

The naval intelligence bureau recently became active in investigating I.W.W.-Bolshevik propaganda and now has a large force of operatives in the field.

Referring to I.W.W.-Bolshevik proselyting Lieutenant-Commander Van Amherst said in his report:

ACTIVE RECRUITING.

"The I.W.W. has been particularly active in making every effort to gain recruits. General headquarters, I.W.W., in Chicago, is now issuing credentials to 'delegates,' who will organize on commission. The delegates work solely on commission. Besides the delegates there are what is known as 'job hunters.' These visit different cities and locate places where large operations are in progress, reporting to headquarters when delegates are sent to organize.

"The I.W.W. as individuals are supporting the Bolshevik movement. They are received in Bolshevik conventions and gatherings the same as delegates regularly elected by their respective units, and are finding their way to important committees of the Socialist party.

"Reports received of Socialist activity clearly indicate that the transition of Socialist party branches from political Socialists to radical industrialists is proceeding rapidly. The industrialists are taking hold of the local heads of the Socialist branches and indications clearly point to the radical element using the Socialist party branches as recruiting grounds for the radical circles."

JEWESS AN ORGANIZER.

Propaganda activities of the Bolshevists in the East, according to the report, is shown in the fact that numbers of lecturers had been arriving in Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, New York and Boston from I.W.W. headquarters in Chicago and from the Pacific Northwest. One of these, a Russian Jewess, graduate from Chicago University and a cultured and polished speaker, according to the report, spoke at Bolshevik meetings in Boston, Providence, Fall River, New Bedford, Taunton, Bridgeport, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and other eastern cities.

The report, quoting from Nova Mira, the Russian radical newspaper published in Chicago, says that a census taken late last year by that paper showed more than 600,000 avowed Bolshevists in the United States with more than 200,000 others classed as "active sympathisers."

WILSON TO ACT ON IRISH QUESTION.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

PARIS, June 11.—President Wilson today told representatives of Irish societies in America that he would do what he could unofficially to bring the Irish question to the attention of the other peace commissioners.

Announcement to this effect was made by Frank P. Walsh and Edward F. Dunne, representatives of the Irish-Americans, after they had had a thirty-minute conference with the President.

The promise made by the President was in reply to a question from Walsh and Dunne as to what the President intended doing in view of the resolution adopted by the Senate urging that the American delegation take steps to have representatives of Ireland heard by the Peace Conference.

Walsh and Dunne said that they went over the situation in Ireland generally in their talk with the President.

DUBLIN, June 11.—A Paris dispatch to the Freemen's Journal claims authority for the statement that the Irish question will probably be raised in the Peace Conference.

Col. House, one of the American delegates to the Peace Conference, will, it is stated, visit England during the next fortnight and will then, it is declared, urge upon the British government the necessity of settling the Irish question. It is said that he also intends to visit Ireland to investigate conditions and ascertain the sentiment of the people here.

YUKON LOWEST ON RECORD.

SEATTLE, June 11.—The first steamer left White Horse for Dawson on the Yukon River, Tuesday, according to cable advices received here today. Waters of the Yukon, it is reported, are the lowest on record for this time of year.

DEPUTIES EXPRESS FAITH IN CABINET.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

PARIS, June 10.—By a vote of 276 to 137 the Chamber of Deputies today expressed confidence in the cabinet after discussion of an interpellation regarding search by the judicial authorities of the headquarters of the national office of the press. This organization supervised for the French press generally the purchase of paper and undertook to obtain exemption of necessary employees from the military service.

It was in connection with one of these cases of exemption that the interpellation was made.

from Western Union employees," he said. He said not a single operator in the Western Union Chicago office struck and explained empty chairs were merely for use when emergency relay sets were in operation. To this, Konenkamp asserted "the vacant chairs were occupied yesterday."

F. W. Collins, general superintendent of the Postal Telegraph Company in Chicago, admitted a large number of their 300 operators had quit, but insisted that if the agitators about the building were driven away many employees would come to work.

Mr. Collins said he did not know what the general situation was as to Postal strikers, but that the company had not been seriously affected. "We expect quick improvement," he said.

Police protection was asked by the Western Union here after numerous street clashes of a minor character. Delivery service was hampered late in the day when all Western Union messenger boys at the main office, except four, joined the strike. It was charged they had been intimidated and messages taken from them.

Many Postal messengers here also struck.

At a meeting of strikers tonight, Konenkamp said the telegraphers would "fight all the way to prevent further discrimination against union workers."

"We want the right to organize and the right to bargain collectively through a legitimate trade union," he said. "With these principles settled all other questions would be quickly disposed of by some fair tribunal."

COAST RESPONSE LIGHT.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 11.—Pacific Coast Commercial Telegraphers in the Western Union and Postal failed fully to respond to the national strike order, effective today.

Union officials said that before the night was over hundreds more would be out. Western Union executives said they are keeping their their forces intact despite strenuous picketing at many points. The Postal company admitted it was crippled, but continued to receive business without reservation.

In San Francisco, Spokane, Tacoma, Portland, Los Angeles and other big centers, it was determined the Western Union practically was unaffected, while the Postal appeared to be badly crippled.

Assisted by Archie Rainey, a member of the Executive Committee of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America, union officials in the San Francisco Bay region were consolidating their interests throughout the night in the expectation of an extended strike. The strikers here were to meet tomorrow to arrange benefits and other strike details.

Jerome, Ariz., was reported isolated telegraphically when the entire staff of three quit their posts in the Western Union office. It was the first report of a complete tieup. Practically all of the Denver Postal employees were reported to have left their posts, while at Tucson, Ariz., the service was badly crippled. In the smaller Arizona and Wyoming centers all operators were said to have reported for work.

Union officials here expressed the opinion that the strike would extend to Canada and that brokers and railroad operators would join the movement.

SULLEN SKIES OVER EUROPE.

will be ready to be handed to Germany tomorrow or Friday. In the meantime President Wilson will visit Belgium during Saturday and Sunday, and if the Germans refuse to sign the treaty he will start for America direct from Antwerp, as the George Washington draws only twenty-two feet and can approach within easy distance of Antwerp.

PRESIDENT TO RETURN.

If the Germans refuse to sign, it is the President's intention to return to America immediately, leaving final disposition of the treaty for a return to France, or to Secretary Lansing to settle, if the Germans get cold feet after refusing, as is expected.

Three different reports were turned in by the American, French and British financial experts concerning the reparations changes. The Americans reported in favor of instructing the inter-Allied reparations commission to make a report on the total reparations to be extracted from Germany by October 1 and by limiting the commission's intrusion into Germany's private affairs.

SENT TO BIG FOUR.

The French reported in favor of generally maintaining the treaty proposals. The British favored telling Germany immediately approximately how much she must pay. The three reports were sent to the big four for final decision.

Regarding the left bank of the Rhine, the French stood out firmly for the British and Americans maintaining large forces at the Cologne and Coblenz bridgeheads for a minimum of five years, but the British wished to cut down the size of the Rhine armies and the Americans conceded the point by backing up the British if all the other terms of the treaty are carried out by Germany.

Regarding the admission of Germany to the League of Nations Lord Robert Cecil favored letting the Germans become members in October immediately after the amount of reparations is known and when the Germans agree to pay the total. The Americans favored giving the Germans a partial and restricted membership six months hence, but the French refused to support either proposition. The League of Nations recommendations, therefore, were placed before the big four en bloc and it is believed that Germany will be promised fair treatment and representation if the league discusses any propositions affecting her before she is admitted.

Victor Tungs-tone Stylus

-the perfect reproducing point for playing Victor Records

THE Victor Tungs-tone Stylus has several important advantages over all other reproducing points.

It not only provides the perfect point which is essential to the proper playing of every Victor Record, but it has besides the convenience of being semi-permanent—plays from 100 to 300 records without changing.

The tungsten point being cylindrical in shape always presents the same perfect point for every part of every record—for the last record as well as for the first. And the ductile tungsten being softer than the record wears slowly away and protects the record from the injury that a hard needle would inflict.

The Victor Tungs-tone Stylus is made in both full tone and half tone. It is changeable at will, thus retaining all the advantages of the Victor system of changeable needles, and enables you to get the utmost enjoyment from every record.

How Telegraph Union Confessed Defeat in Advance.

LOCAL STRIKE FLAT FAILURE.

Theaters Stage Rank Fake to Coerce Operators.

Companies Well Pleased with Situation Over Country.

That a dozen or more unionized telegraph operators, employed by the Western Union Telegraph Company in its local office, surrendered their cards and quit the union rather than participate in the strike, was the statement made by an official of the company last night. He said that only three key men left their posts during the entire day, and that these union radicals, which the company would be better without.

J. J. Tompkins, president of the local chapter of the Associated Western Union Employees, received word from El Paso that all the key man walked out there. H. H. Baynes, president of the union in Chicago, wired Mr. Tompkins as follows: "Ill-advised strike has fallen flat. The few radicals who quit their posts leave the union and association in healthier condition than before. The future looks brighter. New vigor has been instilled into the ranks, and members are coming in from all parts of the country."

STRIKE HITS CHICAGO.

From Chicago came this message from a prominent association official:

"The automatic forces showed no change with the exception of two who were dismissed this morning. There are a few Morse radicals who are out, but as a whole all reports of a strike are nil. The boys went out together and have filed up. Heard there were some men over there. These were strike men. They gave a password 5 o'clock. These were the signal, and they went by the couple of times, but a squad of men arrived on the scene and joined them with little effort. There is talk of them going back, but we be fruit to be accomplished by staring out if the Western Union folks cannot see their way to the story. I hear that the operators of the Omaha C.T.U.A. went at the key this afternoon. Omaha, so I look for a number back to their posts within three days if fishing is no good. Anyhow, it looks rosy for us and for the quitters."

POSTAL MEN OUT.

The Postal Telegraph Company has, however, that none of its men came on for the night force being apparently at many operators short. The manager stated that they were doing business through, although everything was being accepted to delay. It was stated that the Postal's branch offices also were closed yesterday.

The unionized telegraphers' grief over their inability to get support of their fellow men was revealed yesterday by the publication of a fake picture was on the front of the Western Union telegraph office and an effort to have it published in the columns of The Evening Herald yesterday afternoon as a bona fide picture.

The picture published in the Examiner yesterday morning, without name or telephone number, purported to show a "blind," called upon to work in a picture on the southwest corner of Sixth and Spring streets in front of the Western Union headquarters at 11 o'clock yesterday. A small crowd responded to the call, a large proportion of the assemblage being curious onlookers.

At the psychological moment two automobiles appeared upon the scene with a banner denouncing Postmaster General Burleson, who is also the telephone and telegraph czar. The whole throng was photographed and labeled as a group of "supers."

The "supers" ad was obviously inserted for the sole purpose of attracting a crowd so a great strike picture could be photographed and published in the hope of misleading the public. Whoever planned the fake failed utterly in the attempt to mislead the people, but clearly betrayed the fact that the strike directors knew in advance that their strike would be a failure.

MANAGER OPTIMISTIC.

Manager Green of the Western Union Telegraph Company, declared that not a single employee left the local office. He ventured the opinion that none of the night force would quit work in support of the strike, and said he had been advised from the head office in New York that only 166 out of 40,000 employees had struck.

"Our men and women nearly all belong to the Western Union Employees' Association, and those who belong to this organization are loyal to the company at all times," was Mr. Green's statement. "They know that they can always get an issue before the company and obtain fair treatment, so they are not easily led astray by union agitators."

Mr. Green said his company was getting its business through on schedule time yesterday and that the outlook was entirely satisfactory.

Frank S. Fell, manager of the Postal Telegraph office, said last night that probably not more than half a dozen men on the day force walked out in the morning. He expresses the opinion that none of his men would have left their keys had it not been for intimidation from union agitators. The Postal Company, he stated, was operating three direct wires into New York from here yesterday, and business was going along as usual, only at slower speed.

SAN DIEGO UNAFFECTED.

SAN DIEGO, June 11.—None of the Western Union or Postal telegraph operators left their places here today and the local manager said they expected none would join the strike.

Officials of the telephone company in this city are professing no uneasiness over the possibility of a general strike of telephone workers. So far the Electrical Workers' Union here, which includes linemen and telephone operators, has taken no action on the strike proposal, but union officials this morning stated that if the men here are ordered to walk out that they will do so. Less than half of the telephone operators are said to be members of the union.

SEVEN QUIT SANTA BARBARA.

SANTA BARBARA, June 11.—The five Western Union and two Postal telegraph operators employed at the local offices of these companies were said by the managers to be on strike this morning.

At 4:30 o'clock this afternoon J. P. Coleman, district commercial manager of the Western Union arrived in town from Los Angeles with two operators, one book-keeper, one telephone operator, one counter clerk and one delivery clerk and immediately took over the local office. Coleman declared that he would have local conditions back to normal by noon tomorrow. Seven operators and five clerks employed by the Western Union and Postal Telegraph companies walked out at 8 o'clock this morning. All the messenger boys in the city have lined up with the men seeking higher wages, the bluecoats declaring that no messages will be delivered if they have their say.

HARBOR DISTRICT NOT AFFECTED BY STRIKE.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LOS ANGELES HARBOR, June 11.—The harbor district was but little affected by the nation-wide wire strike of telegraph operators affiliated with the Commercial Telegraphers Union of America, called at 8 o'clock this morning.

All local telegraph operators were at their appointed posts this morning, and messages were accepted for all parts of the United States by the Western Union Company, according to N. E. Damico, manager of the local office.

Mr. Damico declared that the Western Union office here was sending and receiving messages to and from widely-scattered parts of the United States without delay. He declared that his office had transmitted a message to San Francisco and delivered a reply in less than an hour.

STRIKE IS SURE TO FAIL, OFFICIALS SAY.

In connection with the strike here, E. C. Vanderbilt, district commercial superintendent of the Western Union Telegraph Company, with jurisidiction over the territory comprising Southern California, Arizona and Southern Nevada, states: "The strike is an absolute failure, not only in this section of the country, but throughout the entire United States, due to the loyal support of the employees of the Western Union. We have been given assurance during the past few days that a strike could not succeed. We knew our employees better than the union officials did. Expressions of loyalty have been received from day to day. The employees have no grievances, being satisfied with the fair treatment accorded them by the Western Union. The failure of the strike has been due to a large extent to the Western Union Employees' Association members, who stood together to a man.

"Business is being handled without delay and there is no need of worry."

CARLTON SAYS STRIKE IS COMPLETE FAILURE.

WESTERN UNION DIVISIONAL REPORTS SHOW WIRES CLEAR, TRAFFIC NORMAL.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

NEW YORK, June 11.—Only 166 persons, including 121 operators out of a total of 40,000 employed by the Western Union through the country, were absent from duty at noon today. Newcomb Carlton, the company's president, announced in a statement terming "a complete failure" the strike called by the Commercial Telegraphers' Union.

The divisional reports which covered all the large centers in the Western Union service, declared that the wires were clear and traffic normal, Mr. Carlton said.

"We are handling business throughout the country without serious interruption anywhere," Mr. Carlton stated.

The reports at hand were from New York, Chicago, San Francisco, Atlanta, Dallas and Denver districts and from headquarters for the maritime provinces.

Mr. Carlton asserted that the stock exchange and cable operating departments were not affected by the strike.

Contrary claims were made by Percy Thomas, vice-president of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union. He estimated that 90 per cent. of the telegraph operators would be affected when the strike became fully effective.

Reports from the seven divisions of the Western Union Telegraph Company throughout the United States and the maritime provinces showed a full force of operators on duty two hours after the Commercial Telegraphers' Union strike order had gone into effect, Mr. Carlton announced.

WASHINGTON LITTLE AFFECTED BY STRIKE.

SEATTLE, June 11.—Washington was but little affected by the strike of commercial telegraphers today, according to statements of managers of the Postal Telegraph and Cable Company and Western Union Telegraph Company headquarters for the State.

There has been no delay to service on the Western Union lines, and all messages offered have been accepted, W. L. Overman, night manager of the Western Union, said.

The Postal force in Seattle apparently suffered more than anywhere else in Washington. Here all the organized men went out, numbering about forty, according to Ollie F. Schulz, local manager.

"Smaller offices throughout the State are unaffected," he said. "Spokane and Tacoma and other large cities are also virtually unaffected. Here, however, the men were well organized. We are still able to handle messages out of Seattle with little delay."

BERGER HEARING MAY EXTEND FOR MONTHS.

WASHINGTON, June 11.—In the preliminary skirmish bearing on the right of Victor L. Berger of Milwaukee to sit in the House of Representatives in view of his conviction for violation of the Espionage Act, two facts developed today indicating the hearing might continue for months.

Chairman Dallinger of the Special Elections Committee, charged with the investigation, announced Mr. Berger was to have a fair, full and impartial trial, even if that meant hearing all evidence presented and excluded from his trial before Federal Judge Landis at Chicago. The chairman explained no limit would be put on the proceedings.

STRIKERS KILL A NONUNION GUARD.

DALLAS (Tex.) June 11.—With 200 special policemen sworn in, the regular police force working twelve-hour shifts instead of eight hours, five men in jail charged with murder and $500 raised offered for evidence leading to the conviction of the slayer of A. J. Fisher, a guard employed to protect nonunion workmen, the situation in Dallas was quiet tonight after a clash today between alleged union strikers and nonunion members. In addition to the killing of Fisher, two men were injured.

Today's was the first bloodshed in the strike which has been in effect nearly three months. A crowd of nonunion linemen was attacked while at work in a thickly populated residential district. Fisher received a charge of buckshot in the head and died instantly.

Five alleged union strikers were arrested on charges of murder.

Police reports were that about twelve men engaged on each side in the fight. Union leaders said the men approached the nonunion linemen with a view to persuading them to join the union. The union men claimed to have fired in self-defense. Both sides used shotguns, the police said.

WINNIPEG, June 11.—T. S. Morson, special returned soldier constable, accidentally was shot in the leg tonight. He and another special policeman were set upon by strike sympathizers and were defending themselves vigorously when a citizen, to aid them, fired a revolver, aiming for the rioters, but hit Morson instead.

LITTLE INTEREST TAKEN IN STRIKE.

TELEGRAPHERS REPORT FOR WORK AT USUAL HOURS MOST CITIES SAY.

PHILADELPHIA, June 11.—Only one messenger quit work in the Western Union office in this city today in response to the strike call, according to the chief operator. Three operators were sent to Atlantic City to take the places of men who struck.

The Postal Telegraph Company admits that fifteen men, about 25 per cent. of its early force, are on strike.

CLEVELAND MEN AT WORK.

CLEVELAND, June 11.—Western Union and Postal Telegraph Company officials here said that every employee reported for work this morning.

MILWAUKEE DELAYS ACTION.

MILWAUKEE (Wis.) June 11.—Telegraphers employed by the Western Union and Postal companies reported for duty as usual this morning. According to report it was decided at a meeting last night to postpone the contemplated walk-out until Saturday.

NONE OUT AT DULUTH.

DULUTH (Minn.) June 11.—Managers of the Western Union and North American Telegraph companies in Duluth reported to newspapers this forenoon that no telegrapher had gone on strike here.

SALEM IS UNCHANGED.

SALEM (Or.) June 11.—The telegraphers' strike has had no effect here. Both the Postal and Western Union offices are working as usual and without change in personnel.

Fake Crowd of Los Angeles "Telegraph Strike..." How It was Gathered.

The ringed "liner" appeared in the Examiner yesterday morning calling for a mob in front of the Western Union headquarters here at 11 o'clock a.m. At 10 o'clock yesterday telephone calls came to all the local newspaper offices saying that the "strikers" would gather in front of the Western Union offices at 11 o'clock and suggesting that it would make a good "strike picture." The large cut is a reproduction of that appearing on the front page of yesterday afternoon's Herald, taken in response to that call. As the picture was about to be taken two union men appeared in front of the crowd of "supes" with the banner shown, to give the impression that the crowd was composed of striking telegraph operators.

The Day of the SMALL GRAND Is Here—

The upright piano was designed primarily for use in limited quarters where lack of space prohibited the use of the old, large-sized Grand. Since the advent of the new Small Grand pianos, they have been forging steadily into popular favor. They possess all those superior qualities of tone and beauty of line found in the large Grand, yet occupy no more space than an upright. There is nothing that so enhances the beauty of a room as one of these charming instruments.

Geo. J. Birkel Co. are exclusive agents for the Davenport-Treacy Small Grand at $635—the Estey Small Grand at $775 and the wonderful Schmer Small Grand at $950. We earnestly suggest that you see these beautiful little instruments before purchasing. We believe that each of these names stands unquestionably at the head of its price-class—positively the best piano value obtainable for the money. We will accept your old piano in trade at a fair valuation. The balance in liberal monthly terms if desired.

The Grand Piano Lends An Air of Richness and Beauty to the Home Which the Upright Cannot Convey.

"Profitable Tales of Trust Management" (No. 2)

HE USES the BANK as a "FLYWHEEL"

The flywheel of an automobile motor keeps the engine moving steadily over obstacles, or if a cylinder misses fire. Without this steadying force, which melds a series of explosions into continuous power, the machine would literally tear itself into pieces.

A successful Los Angeles man, who has built up a powerful business machine is preparing, while he is alive and strong, to insure its smooth running in the hands of his sons.

A "Living Trust" with a reserve of capital, in the Security Trust & Savings Bank is the "flywheel." Into this Trust is accumulating a reserve of capital, the controlling interest in the business. While the maker lives he, and the Bank, and his sons agree as to the details of policy. When his hands are taken from the steering-wheel, the Trust will continue, in smooth, harmonious action, keeping the whole estate active and safe.

Men die, lose their grip, pass out of action in life or by death; but a Bank can give to Estate Management an assurance of wise, careful, continuous policy, unaffected by the mutability of human affairs. A Trust in such a Bank as the Security makes the ideal "flywheel."

ANYBODY'S RACE FOR AD SESSION.

Los Angeles Delegation may Get Convention.

Stockton is Principal Rival at Portland Meet.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PORTLAND (Or.) June 11.—It's anybody's race yet for the Pacific Coast Advertising Men's Association meeting next year and Los Angeles is giving Stockton a fast run for the 1920 honor. Morris M. Rathbun, F. W. Kellogg and C. M. C. Raymond, all of Los Angeles, are always in evidence among the delegates and it is believed tonight that the Los Angeles delegation has won over the San Francisco delegation to vote for them as against Stockton. Stockton came prepared for a bitter fight. Quartettes and workers galore are boosting for Stockton but they are not putting over anything on Los Angeles.

Presidency and 1920 meeting place are yet to be settled. It is an unwritten law that the presidency of the organization goes to the city that is to entertain the convention. If Los Angeles wins, Fred J. Wadley will be elected president; if Stockton wins, Dave S. Matthews will be the official head. Selection of the next place of meeting and nomination of candidates for officers rests with a committee composed of Marshall N. Dana, Portland; Fred Butterworth, Los Angeles; George Putnam, Stockton; T. M. Keane, Spokane and F. Hargrave of Oakland.

Until the early hours this morning presidents of Pacific Coast Advertising clubs and delegates at large to the Pacific Coast Advertising Men's convention sat in conference with William C. Darcy, president, and F. W. Kellogg, vice-president of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, over the question of affiliation between the Pacific Coast clubs and the national organization.

FAVOR LOCAL AUTONOMY.

When the conference began, the expressions of sentiment were generally in favor of stronger local autonomy and an attempt to promote advertising science and truth through a well-knit Coast organization. When it ended, so persuasive was Mr. Darcy, practically every delegate had pledged his best efforts to induce the club of his representation to continue affiliation on the terms required by the associated clubs.

Harry B. Carroll of Los Angeles worked unceasingly for the national organization. The arrangement tentatively accepted by the Portland Ad Club was that representatives of the National Better Business Bureau will be sent within two weeks to help put the Better Business Bureau of the Portland Ad Club on a self-sustaining basis, the local organization in return to continue its past relation with the national. One of the complaints had been that the associated club asked much in the way of dues but gave little in the way of service.

Efficiency in advertising was explained to the delegates by the means of a score of charts exhibited during a talk made by W. V. Cooley, advertising manager of the Burroughs Adding Machine Company. Mr. Cooley advocated the use of every form of advertising but also warned his hearers that such advertising must be placed scientifically if results are to be obtained. The advertiser must remember always that confidence and truth are two important factors in all advertising.

CONVENTION ENDS.

PORTLAND (Or.) June 11.—Today's sessions marked the end of the Pacific Coast Ad Men's Association convention here, although entertainment features were to continue throughout the week in connection with the rose festival.

Rev. Harvey Miller of Sacramento won for that city last night a cup offered as a prize in a contest of brief addresses on the topic, "Why You Should Live in Our City." Representatives of San Francisco, Los Angeles, Modesto, Stockton and Oakland were among the competitors.

F. W. Kellogg, Los Angeles publisher, was one of the principal speakers at the official convention banquet.

The feminist influence made itself felt at the Ad Club's convention today, when women of visiting delegations started a movement to have the name of the Pacific Coast Advertising Men's Association changed to Pacific Coast Advertising Clubs, so that it may include the women's organizations also. Women have played an important part in the present convention and Mrs. Beatrice Woerner of Sacramento won a cup offered by the Spokane delegation for the most constructive talk on retail advertising. Little opposition was expected today to the women's request.

San Francisco, with a delegation of thirty-four, travelling a total mileage of 26,000 miles, will carry home the Oakland trophy offered for the greatest distance traveled by an entire delegation.

Spokane seemed to stand the best chance of winning the grand sweepstakes cup awarded by the Seattle Chamber of Commerce for the delegation winning the largest number of individual trophies at the convention. Sacramento and Los Angeles, however, were still strong competitors.

STATE UNIVERSITY'S BRANCH HERE FACT.

WILL BE LOCATED ON NORMAL SCHOOL SITE; DR. WHEELER TO RETIRE JULY 15.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 10.—At a meeting here today of regents of the University of California definite formation of the Southern California branch of the university was effected, with the adoption of a resolution presented by President Wheeler fixing the status of the southern institution. The branch will be located on the site of the Los Angeles State Normal School. It was provided for in an enactment of the last Legislature.

Dr. Ernest C. Moore, present president of the Normal School, was named director of the university branch. Prof. Monroe E. Deutsch and Baldwin M. Woods were named to assist him as an advisory administrative board.

A subcommittee is in the East seeking a successor to Dr. Benjamin Ide Wheeler, who recently resigned as president of the University of California, the special committee to name Dr. Wheeler's successor announced at the meeting of the regents today.

Dr. Wheeler will retire July 15 with the title of president-emeritus and professor of comparative philology, it was announced. In the event no head has been selected by that time, the affairs of the university will be administered by Profs. William Carey Jones and Charles Mills Gayley, with Regent John A. Britton administering the financial and legal affairs.

Prof. Thomas H. Reed, formerly City Manager of San Jose, was named professor of municipal government by the regents.

Gifts of $1000 from an alumnus and $500 by A. B. Spreckels of San Francisco to support the university branch observatory and other university astronomical work in Chile were announced by the regents of the University of California here today.

GERMAN "VICTORY" AT JUTLAND CELEBRATED.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, June 11.—I hear a remarkable tale of what happened at Scapa Flow on March 31. Scapa Flow is the harbor in the remote Orkneys, north of Scotland, where the British fleet and certain United States Navy units made headquarters during the great war. In this harbor now lies at anchor the powerful German fleet surrendered to the British navy soon after the armistice was signed.

On May 31 it was noticed with astonishment that some of the German ships had raised the German ensign and that most of them were gayly decorated with banners and bright-colored signal flags. Also, the German crews who remain in charge of the interned ships were dressed in their best, and athletic games and sports were in progress.

Astonishment deepened to amazement and incredulity when it was seen that draped over the side of one of the bigger ships, was a large banner on which was printed in English the following legend:

"Celebration in honor of the anniversary of the great German naval victory at Jutland."

I learn from another source that the German crews, who were in the depths of gloom when the German navy came limping across the North Sea to ignominious surrender, have lately become cocky. They seem to believe that when the peace treaty is signed the German fleet will be turned back to Germany.

When, as is certain, they learn that no German warship among those interned will ever be given up to Germany, the disappointment will be terrific. The British navy may be trusted to see that their anger does not show itself in damage or sinking of the vessels by opening the sea cocks.

FORTY-ONE MINUTES IN BRIDGING RHINE.

FIRST ENGINEERS MAKE RECORD, WIN 150,000 MARKS FROM SECOND.

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

COBLENZ, June 10.—A pontoon bridge 1450 feet long was thrown across the Rhine in forty-one minutes this morning at Honningen by the First Engineers. This is better then four times as fast as the Germans ever did it.

Incidentally this beats the record of fifty-eight and a half minutes established by the Second Engineers a week ago. The morals of the Second is lower today for the First took not only their laurels of bridging the Rhine in the best time, but 150,000 marks in addition.

With the wager as an added stimulus the First tore into the task at 9:30. Two battalions each worked simultaneously from Honningen and Neiderbriesig on the opposite sides of the river. There was plenty of speed, organization was perfect, there was no confusion and little lost motion. Forty-one minutes later Col. A. J. Atkinson started across the completed structure in an automobile. The sweating engineers swiftly completed their progress across the swiftly moving stream.

After a few minutes, rest they began tearing out the bridge to permit resumption of river traffic. Shortly after 11 o'clock it started to rain in a storm of wind and thunder. Lightning struck but the Yanks kept at it. When the job was finished at 1 o'clock they went to show. After cleaning up and collecting the marks they went properly to enjoy Sunday afternoon. With more perfect conditions the bridge can be constructed in thirty-five minutes in the opinion of one of the Second experts.

An unhealthy strain of rivalry between the First and Second divisions, which are east of the Rhine, has been traced to its source. Now the men are waiting to get even.

The men of the First were told that the troops of the Second asserted they were poor soldiers. The men of the First were told that the Second made derogatory remarks about them. These things were taken up by soldiers in cafes and there were a few clashes.

Now it is discovered the slanderous remarks were made by Germans in villages where the soldiers are billeted.

The veterans of the First and Second are proud of the records of their divisions and each has a wholesome respect for the other. They are ashamed they were duped.

TOURS WORLD FOR CITRUS METHOD.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, June 10.—Gaston Bastonchury, owner of one of the show ranches near Fullerton and an engineer and horticulturist of more than local renown, is to make a circuit of the world to find new and better ways of raising citrus fruits, if there are any. He arrived in Washington and called on the State Department for passports. It is probable that the authorities will permit the California orange grower to satisfy his desire to find all there is to be found in other countries of advantage to the citrus culture in Southern California. It was necessary, however, for him to send home for some papers in connection with his passports, including his certificate of birth and some other statistics of vital importance to the permission for his world quest.

Mr. Bastonchury in the meantime called on Congressman Osborne and other members of the California delegation in Congress and was an interested spectator in the Senate galleries.

ADMIRAL BENSON IS HONORED BY FRENCH.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

BREST, Tuesday, June 10.—Admiral W. S. Benson, chief of operations of the United States Navy, arrived here last night from Paris, accompanied by Mrs. Benson. After he had boarded the United States battleship Arkansas, on which he will go to America, Admiral Salaun, commander-in-chief of the Brest naval district, went on board to greet him and look for Mrs. Benson with a gift of flowers on behalf of Georges Leygues, French Minister of Marine.

Officers of the Seventh Division (regulars,) which is here waiting to leave for America, were received at the City Hall today. Admiral Salaun conferred several French decorations upon the American officers, including the commander's Cross of the Legion of Honor for Maj.-Gen. Edwin Wittenmeyer, commander of the division.

WILL INVESTIGATE BRUTALITY CHARGE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN JOSE, June 11.—General charges of brutality in the handling of patients at Agnews State Hospital will be taken up and investigated tomorrow morning by the board of managers of the asylum, it was announced tonight, when the board met in this city to transact routine business and clear the way for the investigation tomorrow at the asylum offices. It was announced that Ben Pendleton of the State Board of Charities and Corrections, will represent Gov. Stephens. Dr. Frederick Webster of San Francisco filed the charges. Other charges of a general nature were filed by Henry Tilgner of San Francisco, who was a patient at the hospital from December, 1915, to December, 1916.

CLARK IS WEARY OF "POLITICAL HARPOON."

WASHINGTON, June 11. — Continued Republicans attacks on the administration's conduct of the war drew a sharp speech in the House today from former Speaker Clark.

"Two can play at this game of political harpooning," Mr. Clark declared. "It has been one-sided long enough. We Democrats have sat here day after day and listened to you nag and nag and nag. I for one am sick of it.

"An investigation of war activities has been started. Of course, you will find things that were not exactly as they might have been, but I will assert that you will find nothing of major importance if the investigation is conducted fairly."

HOUSE ASKED TO HELP FIND CORRESPONDENT

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

PARIS, Tuesday, June 10.—The House, one of the United States peace delegates, has been asked to investigate the disappearance of Robert Minor, a newspaper correspondent and cartoonist, who was taken from his hotel presumably by French officials. The American embassy was asked by Lincoln Steffens to inquire about Minor, but no information was forthcoming. Consequently, Col. House was requested to investigate.

Minor recently came to Paris from Germany, and was in Russia for many months. He was formerly employed by the New York Call and the Philadelphia Public Ledger. His trunk is still in his hotel, but his papers have been removed. Minor's disappearance was noted at his attendance at a meeting of his fellow employees' meeting.

NEW YORK, June 11.—Robert Minor, newspaper correspondent and cartoonist, whose disappearance from a Paris hotel was reported in cable advices today, has for some time been a free lance writer, it was said today at the offices of the New York World, where he was formerly employed. While on the staff Minor obtained an interview with Lenine which was published several months ago.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 11.—Robert Minor, American newspaper correspondent and cartoonist, whose mysterious disappearance from a Paris hotel has been brought to the attention of Col. House of the American delegation, was publicity director and treasurer of the Industrial Workers of America from August, 1916, to January, 1918, it became known here today. While he was attached as a correspondent to the punitive force sent into Mexico country under Gen. Pershing, Minor was the league was formed to raise funds for the defense of Thomas J. Mooney and his co-defendants in the San Francisco Preparedness Day bomb murder case here.

Minor interested himself in the Mooney case while in Mexico.

SHIP SALE IS CALLED NATIONAL CALAMITY

SENATORS FLETCHER AND RANSDELL OPPOSE SALE TO BRITISH SYNDICATE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, June 11.—Opposed sale of ships by the Interstate Mercantile Marine Company of ships to a British syndicate was opposed in the Senate today by Senators Fletcher of Florida and Ransdell of Louisiana. They declared it would be a "national calamity" and "suicidal" to the American shipping interests.

Continuing his testimony before the Senate Commerce committee, Chairman Hurley of the Shipping Board said he would think it would be wise to enter into with the original owners of the ships of $500,000,000 and take the ships at the market.

It was developed that ships were sold recently at $110 a ton more than they cost, Senator Moses, Republican, New Hampshire, suggested that there be well for the board to buy 3,000,000 tons of ships, the contracts for which were recently.

The chairman said the question of the development of private enterprise was fundamental of knowledge as to what the policy was to be made as to the fleet and said he was trying to get up the question of a permanent government policy.

ASKS ANTI-JAP LEGISLATION.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, June 11.—Hoping with the aid of the suffrage demand for a special session to ratify the constitutional amendment granting the vote of women, Senator Phelan today wired Gov. Stephens to include the land laws and anti-Japanese legislation in his call. His wire to the Governor follows:

"You have been asked to call an extra session of the California Legislature to consider the ratification of the woman suffrage constitutional amendment which is desirable because it will enable women to vote at the next Presidential election, to which you will doubtless accede. I beg of you earnestly to include in your call the subject of land leasing and corporation laws so far as they affect aliens and also an amendment to the statute affecting marriages which would stop the picture bride evil. I can give you indisputable evidence that the present land laws are being circumvented and their purpose defeated. I will write to you more fully on this subject. The absorption of the land of California by aliens is a matter of the gravest concern to not only the welfare but the life of the State. Relying on our common love of California I trust you will not hesitate to help to preserve it from oriental colonization."

FIUME WANTS INDEPENDENCE.

In City Itself Croat Dialect is Seldom Heard.

Atmosphere Full of Subtle Intrigue, Spying.

Parties Allied on Some Issues, Hostile on Others.

BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

FIUME, June 4 (by courier to Paris, June 10.)—Four days ago I stepped ashore in the city of Fiume, whose destiny hung long in the balance in Paris. What I saw was a city of 50,000, of Latin aspect, lying quiescent under the Italian sun and the guns of Italian warships patrolled by Italian carabinieri, stunning Italian women flaunting Italian green, white and red placards announcing flamboyantly:

"Viva l'Italia! Viva Fiume Italiana!"

Surprises came thick and fast) We think of Fiume as nearly equally divided among the races. But in Fiume itself the Croat dialect seldom is heard. I have known members of the Jugo-Slav club to speak Italian among themselves. Your waiter—if he is a good waiter—takes an order in German and your butcher, banker or tramway conductor addresses you in Italian, nearly always in Italian.

This, the supreme fact in support of Signor d'Annunzio, is countered at once by anoter which militates against his disciples. Theoretically Fiume is occupied by an inter-Allied force. Acutally, the horizon blue of the French and the British khaki figure but little. Here Italy poured in the flwer of her youth. I have seen the Italian soldier at home. I have seen him in lower Dalmatia, where he makes a poor showing alongside the stalwart native. And I was amazed at their splendid physique, the veteran bearing of the Fiume garrison. We have here the Arditi, the Bersaglieri with cock feathers afloat in the breeze, the Alpini, with the artillery and colonial troops in their red fezzes, and stalking through the gay evening streets like ghosts at a feast are the carabinieri.

ITALIAN FORCE 20,000.

What is the strength of the Italian force? The Allied officers agree a conservative estimate for the Fiume district is 20,000, while the British have only one battalion of Yorks and Lancasters and the French a battalion of infantry and one of Annamites. We are represented by the destroyer Schley. In the harbor is the Italian dreadnaught Dante Alighieri, two Italian battleships and three destroyers.

Here is the fact to consider in connection with the present regime in Fiume: The command is Italian, since Gen. Grazioli is the senior Allied officer. He occupies the Governor's palace. His carabinieri form the most of the police force, and he has been able, by virtue of his command, to throw his own troops into the Salz suburbs and surrounding communes, where they have built barbed wire entanglements.

Now, Italy is an interested party in the Fiume question. The present government, Consiglio Nazionale, is composed of Italian partisans and came into power when the Italian troops marched in. Perhaps it would remain if the troops marched out, but this is as much of a plebiscite or election as has been held, as we understand those terms. Two facts, then, stand out: A non-elected pro-Italian council, forming the local government, and the Italian Army of Occupation.

Since my arrival, four days ago, I have talked with the chiefs of four parties, with Gen. Grazioli, with Allied officers, with men under the council's disfavor and with various people in all walks of life. The situation is infinitely involved. The parties are Allied on some issues, hostile on others. The atmosphere is such as novelist once dreamed of—an air of subtle intrigue, in which beautiful countesses move as spies and private baggage is rifled for secret documents.

FOR INDEPENDENCE.

I have tried to learn the will of these people, who, if they speak at all, must speak under military regime. And my opinion, formed at that disadvantage, is this: If Fiume were cleared of Italian troops and the small garrison of British and French were left behind, the first vote would be divided between independence, Italian annexation and Jugo-Slavism, with independence leading a little, and the second vote, held when both nationalists had despaired of victory, would result in a landslide for an independent Fiume.

In the city proper, comprising the port and business section, the Italian party is strong. It numbers middle-class officials, speaking Italian, and young, turbulent element—the Giovanni Fiumami, who have gained notoriety by smearing the Slav shop signs with black paint and by hanging up posters insulting Wilson and the Allies. But the districts of Fiume extend about four miles into the Hinterland and the outlying quarters are indisputably Slav.

Add to this Susak. That Slavic town of some 5000 people is separated from Fiume by a narrow canal in which two sloops can just pass. Back of its quays are lumber sheds and railroad yards with tracks leading into Fiume. Now these quays are a convenient, if not an essential addition to the Fiume port but, if they were included, it seems only fair the householders of Susak should vote on their disposition. Many of these householders have business in Fiume and trade in the Fiume market returning at night to the flats and villas of Susak, which is a comparatively new town.

WANT AUTONOMY.

Besides the two national parties there are autonomists and Socialists who would have none of either Italy or Jugo-Slavia. The Autonomists are bourgeoisie of the older generation who fear economic ruin if Italy gains possession. They claim about 2000 electors, all speaking Italian. If Italy comes in, they look forward to a closed Jugo-Slav frontier, a share in the burden of Italy's war debt and secondary position to Trieste. Rather than be annexed to Italy they prefer Jugo-Slavia, but they think that country too young to hold a port like Fiume. They want to be autonomous under American or British protection.

The Socialists are stronger. They claim 8000 persons of voting age, including working women, but they have doubtless a little less. They still belong to the Hungarian Socialist party and receive their orders from that source. They eschew autonomists as bourgeoisie. Nevertheless their political aims are somewhat the same.

They want no foreign protection. Protection, says their leader, Dr. Samuel Maylander, a Hungarian Jew, is equivalent to annexation. They hope for a little republic where no one of the powers could excite jealousy by special privileges. The Croats, they hold, are a race of fewer advantages than the Hungarians and Italians. Therefore they are against them. But they are also against Italy whose party they say is stronger than the Slav in Fiume proper.

Dr. Maylander maintains there were once 20,000 laborers in Fiume. Only a small part of these, however, had a Fiume franchise, which was easy for the Magyars to obtain but could be refused pointblank to foreigners however long they might live in Fiume. It follows the Socialist strength depends on a revision of Fiume citizenship.

"We don't want a plebiscite yet," Dr. Maylander said, who meets every conception of the agitator and keen politician. "At present the party in power can gain adherents by offers of food and work for some 4000 former laborers have lost their employment here mainly through the dearth of coal and iron. We might have to wait a year for normal times and proper campaigns by various parties. Now the Allied command forbids us to agitate. Yes, we should be willing to have a regiment of Americans or British as guards but afterward no protection."

"Revolutions," he added with a fierce gesture, "will settle such problems everywhere in the future."

...ion completed and presented to the council of four a second report, containing certain modifications of the league covenant in favor of the Germans, but the fate of the report is uncertain.

REJECTED BY CLEMENCEAU.

The first report was submitted after it had been adopted unanimously by the commission. It was rejected by the council, it is said, on the insistence of Premier Clemenceau and sent back to the commission to be toned down. Any information whether the second report provides for the admission of Germany into the league at the first meeting, next October, was refused today.

While the treaty textually is unchanged, the reply reads into it constructions, definitions and explanations of certain clauses, which in the belief of some elements of the conference become virtually part of the treaty itself, entitling consideration by all the parties involved.

Premier Clemenceau is especially firm in his refusal to agree to the admission of Germany to the League of Nations immediately. The French hold that they understand German psychology better than the Allies and realize what the increasing arrogance of the Germans during the last few weeks means. They say they appreciate how much this arrogance would be increased if the Peace Conference should yield to the German demands for immediate admission to the league. The French, it is understood, are willing that the Germans should be admitted later, but insist that this admission must not be in compliance with what they term Germany's present haughty demand.

AUSTRIAN ACTION DELAYED.

Little progress is being made in the drafting of the missing articles of the treaty with Austria, owing to the greater urgency of completing negotiations with the Germans. One American official who is working on the Austrian treaty asked today when the rest of the summary would be available, replied:

"There may not be any more. The Austrians have more now apparently than they are able to sign."

The same waiting attitude is observed regarding the Hungarian treaty, parts of which are identical with the German and Austrian treaty, and already are in print. A tentative draft of the frontiers of Hungary has been prepared for submission to the council of four, but there is no expectation that the council will begin serious consideration of the Hungarian settlement until the expected changes in the Austrian and German pacts are out of the way.

Karl Renner, Austrian Chancellor, and head of the Austrian peace mission, has sent a letter to the Peace Conference complaining of the "hard conditions" imposed upon his country, which, he says, "is overwhelmed with despair," and pointing out the complexity of the Austrian frontier question.

The Austrian note complains strongly against the dismemberment of Austria, particularly the separation of Bohemia and the Tyrol. The note says that Austria cannot survive the loss of her industries.

It is added that the Austrian delegation is prepared to send immediately observations on the territorial clauses of the peace terms.

LITHUANIANS ASK TO RECRUIT IN AMERICA.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, June 11.—The Lithuanian National Convention before its close tonight voted to recruit an army in America to maintain Lithuanian independence if the United States government will sanction plans to transport such troops to Lithuania. The Lithuanian provisional government had cabled that 1000 well-equipped Americans of Lithuanian origin would do wonders for Lithuania's morale and that 5000 would insure Lithuania's freedom.

"Marvelous!"

—says L. E. BEHYMER

President of Gamut Club and President of Musical Managers' Association of U. S. and Canada.

After hearing the Knabe Ampico Reproducing Piano in joint recital and scientific comparison with the playing of Leopold Godowsky at Trinity Auditorium on the night of Thursday, June 5th, Mr. Behymer, a recognized musical authority, and leading impresario, made the following statement:

"The performance was most satisfying and remarkable. It pleased me from every angle. I know Mr. Godowsky and his work personally and when I closed my eyes I felt his presence and personality re-created through the magic of the Knabe Ampico's reproduction. Some called it ghostly, uncanny, but to me the Knabe Ampico was marvelous and should be in the home of everyone who can possibly afford one. The one thing it failed to do for me was autograph my programme, which Godowsky did."

Mr. Behymer is one of many other prominent musicians and music lovers who paid glowing tribute to the superhuman faculties of the Knabe Ampico Reproducing Piano.

The same wonderful powers of the Knabe Ampico Reproducing Piano which amazed thousands at Trinity last Thursday night may be enjoyed in your own home. This instrument will bring into your family circle the greatest pianistic geniuses of the world, giving you their true-to-life hand playing.

COLLINS NEVER MISSES A DAY

Gardena Man So Rundown He Didn't Work Regularly.

Gains Strength Rapidly After Starting on Tanlac.

Gains Ten Pounds and Feels Like New Man, He Says.

"At the rate I am picking up now I will soon get all my lost weight back," said Burt A. Collins, a well-known mechanic, living at 630 Palm avenue, Gardena, California, in a recent statement regarding the benefits he has derived from the use of Tanlac:

"I have suffered for twenty years," he continued, "from indigestion, gas on my stomach, and painful disordered kidneys. My stomach was in such a bad condition that I could eat nothing without bloating up with gas and feeling miserable. My kidneys bothered me constantly and my back ached so bad that I could hardly bend about and do my work. In fact, I was unable to put in full time, was often down in bed, and while I tried everything I knew of or heard about I kept losing weight and strength and getting gradually worse.

"Finally a neighbor of mine, who had used Tanlac with fine results, persuaded me to try it. I noticed some improvement with my first bottle, but since taking my third bottle I have been gaining ground rapidly. I am now in my sixth bottle, have picked up ten pounds already and am still gaining. My sleep is always sound and restful at night and my stomach trouble seems to have disappeared entirely, as I can eat what I want and the gas has stopped forming entirely. My kidneys and back don't bother me any more and while my work is hard and confining I never miss a day. I am going to take a few more bottles of Tanlac, but I am like a new man already and I am glad to tell my friends and the public what the medicine has done for me."

Tanlac is sold in Los Angeles, Pasadena and San Diego by The Owl Drug Company.

CHIEF CLIFFORD IS TO RETIRE.

Seeks Rest After Serving Pasadena Twenty Years.

School Janitors Profit by Board's Generosity.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PASADENA, June 11. — After twenty years' service in the Pasadena fire department, Fire Chief A. M. Clifford plans to retire July 1 and has applied to the recently-organized police and fire pension board for a retirement pension.

Clifford's application is the first one the local pension board has received and it will be taken up at the next meeting of the board. Chief W. S. McIntyre of the police department is chairman of the board and Chief Clifford himself is vice-chairman. The police and fire pensions board was created by the voters of Pasadena at the recent city election.

Under the retirement pension regulations, Chief Clifford is entitled to retire on half pay, which would be $100 a month. He is retiring because of ill health. He has been ill some time and Assistant Chief A. F. Holmes is acting chief of the department.

Two veteran sergeants of the police department, A. O. Bristol and J. O. Reynolds, are planning to ask for retirement on pensions. Both have been in the police department more than twenty years.

VETERAN TEACHER RETIRES.

Miss Alberta E. Stearns, teacher at the Columbia school, this city, retires this year on a pension from the State, having taught school in California for more than thirty years. For twenty-five years she has been a teacher in the Pasadena public schools. She is held in high regard by the pupils and patrons of Columbia school, and in announcing her retirement today, Supt. J. M. Rhodes paid a high tribute to the fine service Miss Stearns has rendered to the Pasadena schools in the quarter of a century she has been a teacher of the youth of the community.

JANITORS TO GET RAISE.

Teachers are not the only employees of the Pasadena Board of Education who will get more pay the coming year, the board today announcing its decision to increase the pay of the janitors. The exact amount of the increase for the janitors will be determined by the board at another meeting Friday.

FORGER IN UNIFORM.

Utilizing a rubber stamp stolen from the Pasadena Tent and Awning Company, a man in soldier's uniform forged the name of E. A. Smith, head of the awning company, to a check for $25, and passed the check on a local cigar store, according to a report made to the police today. The discovery was not made until after the cigar man had cashed the check and the forger had disappeared.

SUGGEST MONO-RAIL.

A petition signed by C. W. Leighton and others who have been studying the system will be presented to the City Commission soon, asking that body to investigate the mono-rail plan of transportation before the municipal-railway-to-Los Angeles project is again brought before the people. The commission some time ago announced its intention to study interurban transportation and submit the municipal road project to the voters again. The proposed bond issue of a road failed of election this spring.

HURT IN RUNAWAY.

Samuel Bricker, aged 69 years, a rancher living at 1895 Linda Vista road, was painfully injured today when the horse he was driving to town ran away. Bricker was thrown from the flying buggy at West Colorado street and Orange Grove avenue. His left shoulder was wrenched and two ribs broken. He was treated at the Emergency Hospital and later taken to his home.

COLLEGE CLUBS GIVE "CHIMES OF NORMANDY"

POPULAR LIGHT OPERA PART OF COMMENCEMENT WEEK AT POMONA.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

CLAREMONT, June 11.—As the opening event of commencement week at Pomona College, the men's and women's glee clubs will give the light opera, "Chimes of Normandy," in the auditorium of Bridges Hall on Thursday evening, June 19. The production, for which rehearsals have been in progress for a month past, is under the direction of Prof. Ralph H. Lyman, Prof. Walter Earle Hartley and Houston Peterson, who is acting as dramatic critic.

Miss Marian Towt, president and soloist for the Girls' Glee, has been chosen for the leading soprano role, and Miss Helen Sheets for mezzo soprano. The baritone lead is assigned to Corbin Devalon, a member of the male quartette of the college, and four years one of the most valuable singers in the Men's Glee Club. Paul Russell will sing the tenor role and Earl Powers and Robert Judy the two basses. These soloists, all of whom are actors of ability, will be given opportunity to assume the distinctive character parts demanded by the opera. Their acting will be supplemented by large choruses from the two glee clubs, assuring a production of artistic merit.

"Coronado Tent City" is open.

SEAL HUNT FAILS.

Hunters Unable to Fill Order From Europe—to Try Again.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA BARBARA, June 11.—The Sea Wolf, with a crew of ten seal hunters has returned from Santa Cruz Island, from an unsuccessful trip. The seas were too tempestuous to permit of success in the effort to catch sea lions. The crew lost two immense seal nets owing to the heavy ground swells. The seals are wanted by Capt. George McGuire for London, Paris and New York clients, and the crew has put back again to the island, determined to try again.

These are the first seals ordered by Europeans since the war started. It is not generally known, but practically all the seals in circuses and zoological gardens over the world come from the Santa Barbara Islands. Other sections from which seals were formerly taken have stopped seal hunting or the seals have disappeared from those localities.

GLENDALE NURSES RECEIVE DIPLOMAS.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

GLENDALE, June 11.—Commencement exercises of the 1919 class of the Glendale Sanitarium and Training School for Missionary Nurses was held in the Intermediate School Auditorium on Wilson avenue last night. The graduating class occupied seats on the platform and the other nurses of the sanitarium, both those of the alumni and those in training were present in uniform. Dr. William J. Johnson delivered the address of the evening, and Dr. H. G. Westphal, medical superintendent of the sanitarium presented the diplomas. The invocation was by Pastor M. M. Hare, of Los Angeles, president of the Southern California conference of the Seventh Day Adventists, and the benediction by Pastor W. R. Munson, chaplain of the sanitarium. The musical programme consisted of a vocal duett by Miss Olive Adams and Marian Lysinger of Los Angeles, two numbers by Mrs. Blakie, a piano solo by Miss Evelyn Parr and four selections by the sanitarium orchestra under the direction of Clarence Jones.

LOCATE FISH HATCHERY

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA BARBARA, June 11.—The State Fish and Game Commission plans to locate a fish hatchery in Casitas Canyon, just over the county line in Ventura. The move has the backing of County Game Warden Abels of this county, as well as Game Warden Barnett of Ventura, who has chosen the site, and is in Los Angeles today to confer with the commissioners.

It has been intended to locate the hatchery in Santa Paula Canyon, but this, the wardens believe, would be a mistake, as the Casitas has far better water facilities, it is said, with an abundance of sources to draw from, and in many other ways is better adapted to the hatchery purpose.

It is expected, in carrying out the plans, to build several reservoirs in the canyons nearby, where the coldest and most pure mountain water, filtered through heavy gravel beds, can be easily obtained. It is stated that the waters in the Casitas have the reputation of being among the purest in the State.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

EL CENTRO, June 11.—George J. Blenhorn, winner in the pig contest held by the El Centro schools, has learned along with his other lessons of the year that porkers are good payers. His record shows a profit of $27.20 on a single pig within three months. His total expenses were $22.80 for the pig, when it weighed forty pounds, and for the feed and his time. At the close of the contest the pig had gained sixty pounds and was valued at $50.

Placerville Gets Next Year's Convention.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

VENICE, June 11.—The ocean and its sandy shores suddenly lost charm today when the 300 delegates of the Fraternal Order of Eagles gathered their rollicking crowd of visitors in front of the band plaza and, amid a volley of yells and song, music and jazz, proceeded to march up Windward avenue. The beaches and amusement centers were emptied of people, and for an hour the streets from Windward avenue to Rose avenue were thronged with thousands of enthusiastic pleasure seekers, who pushed along with the parade and vied with the three large drum corps by continual cheering. When the parade once more stopped in front of the band plaza the crowds were entertained with a concert by the drum corps. At 4 o'clock the Eagles and their friends gathered at the picnic grounds at the Race Through the Clouds, and, building a roaring fire in each of the twenty great ovens there, roasted a goodly part of the fish caught in the bay this morning.

Early this afternoon swimming and athletic events were staged in the plunge. At 2 o'clock Ferullo's band entertained, presenting as special features Etore Campana and Miss Ethelyn Ostrom, who sang a number of operatic numbers.

At the regular business session of the convention this morning E. J. Sanford of Ukiah Aerie No. 819 was elected President of the order for the coming year. The other officers elected today are: Gustave Pohlman, Secretary; Forrest B. Owens of Bakersfield Aerie No. 93, Vice-President; Fred L. Thomas of San Jose Aerie No. 8, Treasurer; H. J. Elvin, Vallejo Aerie No. 71, Inside Guard; H. Fleisig, Santa Cruz, 460; State Trustees, E. B. Regan, Thomas H. Selvake and C. G. Chenn.

It was decided also at this meeting that the next convention will be held at Placerville.

Resolutions were passed declaring the delegates to be unanimously in favor of the League of Nations. The delegates also declared themselves in favor of the $40,000,000 bond issue that is soon to come up in the next session of the State Legislature.

Tomorrow a ritualistic contest in the auditorium promises to be a big feature of the week's convention. Special music by the band and a sight-seeing trip of the bay district in automobiles will be other attractions.

BLAZES AT TULARE.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

TULARE, June 11.—Fire of an unknown origin destroyed a barn on the ranch of John Hahesy four miles west of here, together with farming machinery and other property. The loss is about $3000, partly insured.

Sparks from a locomotive are said to have caused a fire which burned several acres of pasture on the E. J. Foster ranch near here. A fire break kept the flames from the grain on the property.

TWO PIONEERS DIE.

Owner of Famous Race Horse Dead at Santa Ana.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SANTA ANA, June 11.—Jacob Willits, resident of Santa Ana since 1888, and known among old-time horse racing fans as the owner of Silkwood, famous black pacer, who in 1893, made a record of 2:07 on the Santa Ana track, died at the Orange County Hospital today, at the age of 95. Funeral services will be held at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon, under auspices of the G.A.R. Mrs. Willits died in 1892. Two sons survive, Thomas of Santa Ana and George of Ramona, Okla. Mr. Willits came here from Topeka, Kan.

A. R. Dresser, another Santa Ana pioneer, died today, at the age of 79, following a residence in Santa Ana since 1870. He is survived by a widow and nine sons, W. H. and A. P. Dresser, of Santa Ana; C. A. Dresser of Bakersfield, F. E. Dresser of Paso Robles, A. R., L. E., E. F., H. M. and Ernest Dresser, all of Tulare; a brother, C. H. Dresser, of Hollywood, and a sister, Mrs. Julia M. Dunning, of Bakersfield. Services will be held Friday, at 3 p.m.

TAKES HER OWN LIFE.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

WOODLAKE, June 11.—Despondent because of ill health and believed to have been temporarily demented, Mrs. Billie Anderson, wife of Nels Anderson, a resident of the Upland district, hanged herself here today. The body was found suspended from a post in the rear of the Anderson home.

Mrs. C. Atwood, Mrs. Anderson's daughter, who discovered the body, said her mother had made two prior attempts to take her own life during the last two months.

Mrs. Anderson was fifty-two years of age, a native of Sweden. She is survived by her daughter and husband.

CELEBRATE FLAG DAY.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

POMONA, June 11.—With an elaborate programme which is expected to attract a record crowd to the Greek theater in Ganesha Park, the Pomona Lodge of Elks will, on Friday evening, pay their tribute to love to the flag. Flag Day, this year, falls upon Saturday, but because this date is not practical for many of the business men a special dispensation was granted allowing the change of the date of the observance to Friday evening.

For several weeks the local committee composed of Homer Duffy, chairman, S. F. Widener, O. H. Edinger, J. C. Millen and J. R. Baynham, have been busy on the details for the programme. There will be three special features. One, the well-known Elks' Band of Los Angeles. Another, the Los Angeles Drill Team composed of thirty-five men and twenty-five women and ex-Senator Miguel Estudillo, of Riverside, as speaker of the day.

"THE ROSE MAIDEN."

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

GLENDALE, June 11.—The Rose Maiden, a cantata by Frederick Cowen will be given by the Pacific Mutual Glee Club, under the direction of Horatio Cogswell under the auspices of St. Mark's Episcopal choir, Monday evening at the Masonic Temple. The proceeds of the entertainment will benefit the Memorial Organ Fund which is now started in the church. Dancing and an informal social evening will follow the cantata.

VISALIA, June 11.—Geo. S. Ray, county veterinarian, has reported to the Board of Supervisors that a few isolated herds of cattle have been found near the Kings-Tulare county line, affected with the Texas tick. Plans are now being worked out for close co-operation between the counties named to prevent any further spread of the pest. It is probable a special inspector will be employed to work with the State officials and make frequent inspections and to enforce such quarantine measures as are in accordance with the best practice.

TRACTOR VICTIM.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

CALEXICO, June 11.—Instant death came to Henry Zieger, a ranch hand east of here, when a tractor he was operating turned turtle yesterday afternoon, crushing him underneath. Gasoline ignited, burning the body most horribly. Mr. Zieger of German birth, was 37 years of age. He had taken out the first of his naturalization papers.

Los Angeles Goes on Record Today.

THE DECISION which the City Council will make this morning at 11 o'clock on the permit requested by the Brownstein-Louis Company goes further than simply affecting this Company's immediate plans. It will be accepted by the Business, Industrial and Financial World as the attitude of Los Angeles toward her industrial development and her treatment of the growing progressive concerns within her boundaries.

Every effort which Los Angeles has expended to attract tourists and other transients to her borders is to be commended; every piece of literature circulated to spread the wonder stories of our beaches, mountains, golden oranges and climate is worth while; every convention, every industrial fair, or parade, or carnival week does its full measure toward upbuilding this community.

Four Pertinent Questions

BUT—isn't it about time that some consideration be given to business firms originating and developing in the City of Los Angeles?

Isn't it about time that some encouragement be given to business firms who want to build magnificent modern establishments in an environment and atmosphere worthy of their ideals?

Isn't it about time that some support be given to business firms who build up million dollar pay rolls and provide the wherewithal to pay the grocer, the butcher and the landlord?

Isn't it about time that Los Angeles cooperates with her own industries?

Today—Now—the City Council has the opportunity to go on record and say to all the world—"Los Angeles is a big calibre, metropolitan, Western-spirited City, who takes care of her own."

The Far Reaching Effect

The City is alive and teeming with after-the-war projects. These business men are watching today's decision with keen interest. Will they, too, be discouraged and subjected to a heated controversy over their plans? They are wondering what form of opposition they will meet when they are ready to go ahead with their constructive work.

Let's begin to think in terms of industry, pay rolls, world markets and full cargoes as well as of sunshine and flowers.

We built a harbor. Let's make something to ship out of it.

We ask industries to come here. Let's support as well, those that started here.

1890 Ideas Won't Fit 1919 Plans.

Los Angeles projected her technical "industrial district" when she was a city of 50,000 people. Now she has 600,000. Some day she will have a million. Must her commercial future be circumscribed by 1890 ideas? Industries which were never thought of in 1890 are flourishing here in 1919. Los Angeles is looked upon as one of the big markets for all sorts of wearing apparel. It is forging ahead of Eastern centers because of its superior merchandise made by superior workmanship.

Since the first announcement made by Brownstein-Louis Company it has received offers from the Chambers of Commerce, Boards of Trade and public-spirited citizens of the cities of Pasadena, Long Beach, Santa Ana, Wilmington, Lamanda Park, Santa Monica, Santa Barbara, Alhambra and Pomona, of liberal concessions, cash bonuses, free sites and other valuable inducements if it is unable to proceed with its plans in Los Angeles.

WINNIPEG MAY CALL MILITIA.

Future Street Disorders to be Signal for Troops.

Citizens Aiding Mayor in Preserving Order.

Vancouver General Strike Beginning to Break.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WINNIPEG (Man.) June 11.—Mayor C. F. Gray made formal announcement tonight that any further street rioting of a serious nature will be the signal for him to call upon the militia. He intimated the question of invoking military aid was discussed during yesterday's disturbance at a conference with Gen. H. D. B. Ketchon, commander of the Manitoba military district, and Col. J. Steearns, commanding the Royal Northwest Mounted Police forces here.

It was stated at the City Hall the street fighting resulted in a large increase in the number of applicants for special constable duty.

The day passed without any demonstration on the part of strikers and their sympathizers.

There was no disposition to heckle the returned soldier constables and police officials expressed the opinion no further trouble would be experienced.

Energetic steps are being taken by civil authorities to establish house-to-house delivery of bread, milk and ice. Managers of companies supplying these necessities have promised a partial delivery system by Friday.

WILL START STREET CARS.

All newspapers today carried an appeal by Manager McLimont of the street railway company to all employees on strike to report for duty tomorrow. Street-car men, union officials stated at a meeting to consider the notice, voted unanimously to remain on strike. Mayor Gray has declared if the employees fail to take out the cars tomorrow morning volunteers will be employed to resume the service, which has been paralyzed for four weeks.

Conferences between the railway brotherhood's mediation board and metal trades employees continued today. Officials of the board announced a deadlock exists on the question of recognizing the Metal Trades Council.

"Conciliation has failed," said H. E. Barker, chairman of the mediation board, "and there is nothing further we can do that I know of, but we are still in session."

MAYOR'S PROCLAMATION.

Mayor Gray in a proclamation published today again urged citizens to assist in the maintenance of law and order. "I wish to avoid the use of sterner methods if possible," the proclamation said. Military forces have been ordered to "stand by." Winnipeg was quiet this morning and additional strikers were reported returning to work.

Dismissal of the regular police force was followed last night by the most serious disturbance of the general strike when Sergt. Frederick Coppins was probably fatally injured by strikers. A mob attacked a group of veterans who had been sworn in as constables.

Telegraph operators of the Canadian Press, Limited, at Winnipeg, Calgary and Edmonton, who have been out on strike for more than three weeks, returned to their keys this afternoon, following satisfactory negotiations with the management. The operators were reinstated with their former status, but agreed to refrain in future from any attempts to censor or alter news dispatches.

VANCOUVER (B. C.) June 11.—First break in Vancouver's general strike came today when striking employees of "near beer" plants returned to their posts.

ENGLAND RECOGNIZES THE UNWRITTEN LAW.

LONDON, June 11.—The unwritten law has been recognized in the verdict rendered at the Bodmin assizes in Cornwall, despite the strong appeal by the judge to the jury against permitting itself to be swayed by sentiment.

An officer named Capt. Ernest Schiff, well known in London Bohemian circles, was found on March 24, badly beaten, on the cliffs near Carbis, and died a few days later. A miner called Albert John Nicholls was charged with manslaughter in connection with this. Evidence showed that Schiff had been pressing his attentions on Nicholl's daughter, who was a servant at his hotel, and had invited her to go to London with him. The judge strongly denounced the unwritten law as tending to destroy all order and bade the jury not to be swayed by natural sympathy with the injured father. The jury acquitted Nicholls without leaving the box.

Naval Reserve to be Released.

VALLEJO, June 11.—All officers, enlisted men and women in the naval reserve service are to be released from duty, June 30, according to unofficial advices from Washington received today at the Mare Island navy yard.

UNIONS DEMAND A WET AMERICA.

Federation Resolution Condemns Prohibition.

Gompers Supports Move to Eliminate Dry Laws.

Demonstration in Washington Saturday Planned.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

ATLANTIC CITY (N. J.) June 11.—A resolution expressing organized labor's disapproval of wartime prohibition and strongly urging that 2¾ per cent. beer be exempt from the provisions of the eighteenth amendment to the Constitution and from the wartime prohibition measure which goes into effect July 1, was adopted today by the reconstruction convention of the American Federation of Labor.

A bitter fight was waged on the proposal by dry elements, especially by Seattle delegates, who based their arguments on the benefits they said their city had found through prohibition, but it was carried, 26,475 to 4005. The voting is proportional to the membership of the unions represented.

The resolution will be sent to President Wilson and Congress.

Nearly all the big labor organizations of the country voted for the resolution. The blacksmiths, spinners, stereotypers and delegates of the Teachers' Federation of America all voted against it. The boilermakers, iron shipbuilders, longshoremen and typographical organizations split their vote. Aside from Seattle, Chicago was the only one of the big city labor organization that voted "no."

FOUR STATES AGAINST.

In the list of State federations Florida, Missouri, Kansas and Virginia voted against it. The railway clerks' delegation refused to vote, giving no reason; while the delegation from the Illinois State federation of labor declined to vote because their organization had taken no stand on the matter.

Immediately after the passage of the resolution another was offered providing the convention should suspend its session Saturday that the delegates might go to Washington on a special train to participate in a great demonstration to be held in front of the Capitol there as a protest against wartime prohibition. The Seattle delegation was the only one to vote against it.

At the outset the resolution disapproving of prohibition cites the provisions of President Wilson's executive order, stopping the brewing of beer December 1, 1918; the provisions of the war emergency bill establishing wartime prohibition and the eighteenth amendment. It continues:

THE RESOLUTION.

"Whereas, all the foregoing is principally intended to deprive the workers of America of the means to secure legally a glass of beer after a day's work, and,

"Whereas, all this restrictive and sumptuary legislation has the effect of destroying part of the American labor movement and is seriously crippling many international organizations affiliated with the American Federation of Labor; therefore be it,

"Resolved, that the American Federation of Labor, in convention assembled in Atlantic City, express its disapproval of wartime prohibition, and that a strong protest from the delegates to this convention be forwarded to the government at Washington, setting forth in a most emphatic manner the opinion of the delegates to this convention that the present mild beers of 2¾ per cent. alcohol by weight should be exempted from the provisions of the eighteenth amendment to the constitution and also from the provisions of the war prohibition measure; and be it further,

"Resolved, that the executive council of the American Federation of Labor be and is hereby instructed to convey these expressions through a committee to the President of the United States and to the Congress and to do everything in its power to preserve to the people of the United States their freedom, liberty and democracy."

GOMPERS EXPLANATION.

Introduction of the resolution precipitated a hot battle of words. So spirited did the debate become that Samuel Gompers, president of the Federation and chairman of the convention, became involved in it. Gompers said that as delegates had criticised him for having written magazine articles on the subject of prohibition, he felt called upon to speak. He explained that he had written articles "as an American and a good citizen."

"From the time of the signing of the Declaration of Independence and the conception of the Constitution of the United States," he said, "the prohibition question is the first that has ever actually involved denial of the right of people to do things.

"What is going to happen if the habits of a people are suddenly changed overnight? Look at Russia. Since vodka was suppressed entirely it is a fact that there have been more cases of alcoholism in the hospitals than ever before in the history of that country.

"I am not prepared to say that prohibition of alcohol and Bolshevism are cause and effect. But you will find when later resolutions are introduced that the proposition that comes from Seattle is one that favors Bolshevism for the United States."

Gompers said the resolution was not a prohibition question. "It is a proposition to determine whether we think it fair to allow us to lead our lives as we desire."

SEATTLE OPPOSED.

James A. Duncan, chairman of the Central Labor Council of Seattle, criticised the actions of the Resolution Committee for reporting the resolution first, claiming that in his opinion the workers of the country would have been better satisfied had resolutions dealing with a six-hour working day been the first out of the committee. He said he and his organization were against any movement to alter in any way wartime or any other kind of prohibition.

Nearly all, if not the entire body of delegates attending the reconstruction convention of the American Federation of Labor will on Saturday go to Washington by special train to participate in the great union labor demonstration there in protest against further enforcement of war-time prohibition. Virtually every delegate today signed a card signifying his intention of going to the capital.

Secretary Morrison announced that Secretary of Labor Wilson would address the convention Friday.

PEACE TREATY CLOUD CLEARED.

Latter Got it from Davison, Head of Red Cross.

Morgan, Vanderlip Deny Seeing it; Inquiry Halts.

WASHINGTON, June 11.—How the peace treaty reached private hands in New York and thus stirred up a sensation in the Senate, was established today at a two-hour hearing before the Foreign Relations Committee.

Senator Lodge revealed that the copy he saw was shown him by Elihu Root, a former Secretary of State. Mr. Root told the committee he got it from Henry P. Davison, a member of the Morgan banking house and head of the Red Cross, and Mr. Davison, in turn, testified it was given him in Paris by Thomas W. Lamont, another Morgan partner attached to the American peace mission.

J. P. Morgan and Frank A. Vanderlip, retiring president of the National City Bank, said they had never seen a copy.

The committee adjourned without setting a date to continue the hearing and with members on both sides of the treaty controversy saying privately the investigation apparently was over.

Mr. Davison said he secured the copy to clear up the status of the Red Cross under the League of Nations and never had used it in a financial way. He had shown it to no one except Mr. Root, he continued, and had sent it to him because he knew the former Secretary was being consulted by the American mission.

Mr. Root gave it as his opinion there was nothing improper in the way the treaty reached him and that he was free to use it as he chose. There could be nothing secret about it, he told the committee, because the German government had made it public.

Mr. Root, who appeared in the inquiry voluntarily, went on to say that, while the Senate was within its rights in asking for a copy after the treaty became public in Germany, President Wilson was within his rights in withholding it.

All the witnesses say they had heard rumors of other copies in New York but did not know whether they existed. Like statements were made in telegrams to the committee by Jacob Schiff, of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., and Paul Warburg, formerly a partner in the same firm.

Tonight the inquiry seemed to have reached a standstill. No one had any further witnesses to suggest. Senator Lodge and Senator Borah, Republican of Idaho, who made the revelation which started the investigation, said they considered their statements in the Senate had been proved and Senator Hitchcock, Democrat of Nebraska, author of the investigation resolution, declared the inquiry apparently had lapsed without showing any dangerous leak in diplomatic channels.

Mr. Root testified that it was he who showed a copy of the peace treaty to Senator Lodge. Mr. Root testified that he got it from Henry P. Davison of the Morgan banking house.

GOT IT FROM LAMONT.

Mr. Davison testified that he got it from Thomas W. Lamont, another partner in the Morgan house, one of the financial advisers to the American peace mission in Paris, but asked for it not in his capacity as a banker but as president of the International Red Cross League, which is backed by the covenant of the League of Nations.

Mr. Root gave it as his opinion that the President was within his rights in not consulting the Senate more freely on the negotiations but thought it would have facilitated a solution had that been done.

Mr. Root saw nothing improper in Mr. Davison having a copy of the treaty.

At the conclusion of Mr. Vanderlip's testimony the committee ended the hearing for the day and went into executive session.

Mr. Vanderlip, who recently visited Europe, said there was "most desperate need" of assistance there, not only from the United States but from other countries. "A situation exists there that is threatening civilization," he said. "Our interests are most vital. I don't think there can be another general conflagration without our becoming involved."

"Do you think we ought to guarantee the political and territorial integrity of all Europe?" asked Senator Knox.

"I do not," Mr. Vanderlip replied emphatically.

Mr. Vanderlip advocated private, rather than government aid to Europe, through group-financing by bankers.

Senator Borah questioned Mr. Davison at length to support his declaration in the Senate that the treaty was in the hands of "certain interests" which were "peculiarly interested" in it. Asked directly whether he had a "peculiar interest" in the document, the witness replied he certainly had, though he never had used his knowledge of the text in any financial way.

Mr. Morgan and Mr. Vanderlip were not examined at length regarding the treaty, but from the latter, who recently returned from abroad, the committee got considerable information about conditions in European countries. Both were questioned also regarding the present status of international banking.

Wants Relics of War.

Col. A. M. Wetherill, army recruiting officer for this district, was yesterday advised that a big advertising campaign will be waged at the end of this month to bring before the public the advantages of the peace-time army. He is very desirous to obtain war relics for a large window display and requests that any civilians or discharged soldiers having such materials, loan them to him for this campaign. He assures us that these donations will be taken care of and that the names of the donors and where they were acquired will appear with the display. Any persons having any of the relics and who will loan them will please bring them to the United States Army Recruiting Station, San Fernando Building, Fourth and Main streets, as soon as possible.

ORDINARY SUITS FOR MEN $50 TO $75.

KANSAS CITY, June 11.—Ordinary suits for men next spring will cost from $50 to $75 each and the public is ready to pay that for a suit, Ludwig Stein, president of the National Clothing Manufacturers' Association, declared here today before the Midwest Reconstruction Conference of Retail Clothiers. Mr. Stein declared cloth would be scarce because of a lack of labor. He said the tendency in men's styles is turning slowly back to plain models.

SPEEDING AUTOS MEET.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

POMONA, June 11.—Another serious automobile accident was added to the long list of casualties, which have occurred at the intersection of Holt and Central avenues, today when a machine driven by N. J. Roden, of Chino, crashed into an automobile owned and driven by Jesse Tucker, a salesman from Los Angeles. Roden was traveling south on Central avenue while Tucker was going west on Holt avenue. Neither driver observed the approach of the other until it was too late to avoid the crash. Tucker was thrown from his seat to the road and suffered a severe scalp wound together with numerous cuts and bruises. The other driver escaped without injury.

In the collision the Roden machine was completely wrecked and the other car badly damaged.

McBurney's Kidney and Bladder Medicine

MR. W. F. McBURNEY, Los Angeles, Cal.:

Dear Sir: It affords me pleasure to testify to the efficiency of your Kidney and Bladder Cure. I have been troubled with my kidneys and bladder for over four years. I have been treated by Dr. C. A. Parry and Dr. Frank Wells, the latter being my son. I regret to say they did me no good. I was advised to spend the winter in Los Angeles, which I did. On the night before I left for home, I got a bottle of your medicine. The first dose did me good and I was well when I reached home, and I can say in conclusion that I am grateful to you. If this letter is of any use to you, use it. THOS. WALLS.

McBURNEY'S LIVER REGULATOR

Restores the functions of the Bowels and Liver, and gives purity and vitality to the blood.

Do you get nervous?
Do you have heart trouble?
Do you have stomach trouble?
Do you have pains around the waist?
Do you have pains under the shoulder blade?
Do you have diarrhoea?
Do you feel tired and weak?
Do you have a bad taste in mouth?
Do you have female troubles?
Do you worry?
Are you constipated?

If you have the above complaints you should take McBURNEY'S LIVER REGULATOR in connection with the kidney and bladder medicine. It will give you a good appetite, and make you feel young, strong and vigorous.

Price, McBurney's Liver Regulator, $1.50 per bottle. Send 50c to W. F. McBurney for five days' treatment of McBurney's Kidney and Bladder Medicine. Regular size $2.00. 2007 South Vermont ave., Los Angeles. Sold by all druggists. Est. 1895.

BURN MONEY TO LIGHT GAY WAY.

Nocturnal Taxi Ride Ends in Orange County Bastile.

Police Believe Names Given by Pair Fictitious.

A trail of bank checks led by a sinuous but brightly-lighted nocturnal route from Los Angeles to the Orange County Jail yesterday, with the arrest at Santa Ana of A. J. Weston, Butte mining man, now visiting this city, and a young woman, who gave the name of Marie Wilson.

Miss Wilson, who is a pretty young woman, about 25, and Weston, also known as John A. Weston, who is 35, left Los Angeles a little after 8 o'clock Tuesday night, headed south. They were in an automobile driven by Joe Vaughn, and belonging to the Mitchell Auto Service, of 635 South Spring street. Vernon, Seal Beach and Long Beach were included in the journey, with checks in evidence in each place, the police were told.

In Long Beach Weston stopped at a doctor's office, where the young woman with him had a slight injury to her hand dressed, and where Weston, it is alleged, paid with one of his checks. She said her hand was hurt in a fight with her brother-in-law at a downtown Los Angeles hotel.

The car arrived in Santa Ana shortly before 1 o'clock, yesterday morning. Weston registered at the Rossmore Hotel as A. J. Weston and wife, and deposited a $10 check. A little later, it is alleged, he tried to cash another check in a Santa Ana cafe, but failed when the manager communicated with the hotel and learned that Weston was not known there. He was arrested a short time afterward, and was charged by T. A. Alexander of the Rossmore Hotel with issuing a no-fund check on the Long Beach Trust and Savings Bank. The woman is held on the charge of vagrancy.

The young man of unlimited check book first made his appearance at the Hotel Hayward in Los Angeles, Tuesday evening. He registered, but was not assigned to a room. An hour later a manager of a downtown cafe called up the Hayward and asked if Weston's check for $50 was good. He was told that Weston was not known.

Weston rented the car about 8 o'clock in the evening, and shortly afterward left the city. On the way to Vernon the Wilson woman joined him, the police were told.

Weston told the Santa Ana police he was a married man, and expressed a desire to have the affair wound up quietly. He and the Wilson woman are believed to be traveling under assumed names.

TO THE CITIZENS OF LOS ANGELES:

Los Angeles is passing today through the most critical period of the reconstruction era. Thousands of men are on strike at the shipyards; other strikes are threatened or are in progress. The radical elements of the labor unions, I.W.W. and Bolsheviki generally have opened their campaign for the reduction of this citadel of industrial freedom. The issue whether the labor and industry of this city shall be bond or free has been fairly joined. It must be fought to the finish.

No compromise is possible, for principles cannot be compromised, and the principle on which Los Angeles has grounded its greatness is at stake. It is no longer a question between the employers and the employees in the industries where strikes have been called, for the men have not walked out by reason of unsatisfactory hours or working conditions; the greater issue of whether open-shop conditions shall pass from industry has been raised. That issue is not confined to big employers of labor and their employees, but it embraces the whole of the social, commercial and industrial community.

Industrial freedom will continue to triumph in Los Angeles only on condition that it shall receive the support of a united people. It must find as its bulwark not only the manufacturers, the merchants, the bankers and the shipyard owners—every man and woman in Los Angeles who believes in free labor and free industry must fall into line. It is as much to the interest of the workingman that labor shall be free—that a man or woman shall work where he pleases and when he pleases without asking the consent of some potentate of the labor unions—as it is to the firm that employs him and to the community in which he resides. There is a marked analogy between the man who works in labor-union bondage and the contract slave labor of other days.

Just as Los Angeles is world-famed as a stronghold of industrial freedom, San Francisco is known as a citadel of labor-union bondage. In that city the autocracy of the walking delegates is regarded as more secure than elsewhere in the country. The contrast between the growth of the two cities during the last fifteen years reveals clearly the effect of the two policies. The comparative growth in population in favor of Los Angeles has been four to one; the increase in property valuation has been three to one. During that period San Francisco has lost nearly 50 per cent. of its manufacturing plants by reason of unsatisfactory labor conditions, while the increase in Los Angeles has been 300 per cent. Reading those comparative statistics, who can doubt that our policy of industrial freedom has paid in happiness, in wealth, in social betterment and general prosperity?

Everyone who has followed the commercial and industrial development of Los Angeles in recent years knows that the great impelling power was freedom from labor-union bondage, that our one incomparable industrial asset was the open shop. Millions of capital have been invested here yearly by reason of the industrial conditions. Tens and hundreds of millions more will be invested here if that freedom is preserved.

There have been occasional clashes here in the past between the adherents of the open and the closed shop, and victory has always perched on the banners of industrial freedom. But the victories of the past will not win the battles of today and tomorrow. There can be no resting on our laurels when faced by a foe as vindictive and unscrupulous as the radical enemies of the open shop. We must make our city a promised land alike for the employer and the workmen. We must see to it that every man and woman who toils receives the highest wages and labors under the best working conditions that the industry will permit.

No sweatshops have been located here; we must continue to keep them out. There must be no stinting the workers, no cutting down of wages to increase profits. Hours, conditions and pay must be the very best. We must be able to prove to the walking delegates that there is no amelioration of hours or working conditions that the closed shop could bring. Every employer of labor who fails to adhere to this principle is the common enemy of all the rest.

We repeat that the present strikes are not called to secure shorter hours or higher pay, but to establish the domination of the closed shop. Within the last few days letters have been received here declaring that the industrial situation in San Francisco is fast becoming intolerable; that San Francisco cannot hope to keep pace with Los Angeles in industrial growth as long as this is an open-shop town while the shops of San Francisco are closed to independent labor; that Los Angeles must either be unionized or San Francisco industry will be practically ruined; that the contrast between conditions in the two cities is too great.

Eternal vigilance cannot be relaxed if we are to continue to prosper. At present union men and independent workmen labor side by side in the industries in and about Los Angeles. They receive equal treatment, equal pay, equal opportunities. To close the doors to independent workmen would be to throw a great deal more than half the working population out of jobs. Such an unjust policy would be ruinous. Equal opportunity and equal pay is the motto of Los Angeles industry. There can be no denial of our ideals, no compromise with the radical fighters for the closed shop.

BUYS BIG RANCH TRACT.

George E. Platt, president of the Los Angeles Creamery Company, yesterday concluded the purchase of 112 acres of the Laguna Rancho, fronting on Telegraph road just west of the Salt Lake railway, the consideration being $112,000. R. E. Ibbetson, local realty broker, handled the transaction, the largest in that section in several years. The land purchased by Mr. Platt is part of the old Arcadia de Baker estate. The purchaser paid $40,000 in cash and transferred thirty acres of the E. S. Field's tract on Stephenson avenue, the former location of the Los Angeles Creamery Company's dairy. Mr. Platt, who some time ago acquired nearly 1000 acres of land in the San Fernando Valley for dairy purposes, expects to improve his latest purchase with a group of modern dairy buildings which when completed will be equipped so as to make the plant second to none in Southern California.

LAWYERS CLASH IN COURT.

The insistent demands of Charles Thompson, attorney for Harrison Oliver, accused of making false proof of claims on insured property, to know the name of a girl who rode in an automobile driven by E. Lapero, a witness, led to a clash, yesterday, between the attorney and the theft of the vehicle. Lapero caused Justice Forbes to warn both attorneys that they might be fined for contempt of court.

Oliver is accused of presenting false proof of loss to get $1000 insurance on a car, which he was buying from S. F. Babson, on a lease contract. It is alleged that he took the car to a garage run by Guy S. Garner of Highgrove, and had the numbers of the engine block removed, then trying to collect for identified the car as one he had sold to C. J. Jones, later sold to Babson and then to Oliver.

The witness identified the car by a hairpin which was wrapped around a rod of the windshield, put there by a girl with whom he was riding. Attorney Thompson questioned the witness closely regarding his home life, and Mr. Hill obected, until the latter charged unethical conduct, a charge which was flung back by the opposing attorney.

Oliver was held to answer. He also will appear in Superior Court Monday, on a charge of embezzlement, growing out of the same deal.

HONEYMOON IN HOSPITAL.

A honeymoon in a military hospital will be the unusual experience of Herbert R. Kendall, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Kendall, of Santa Ana, who yesterday obtained a license to wed Miss Mary Chase Kenyon of Montana.

Kendall, while a student at the University of California, went to France with an ambulance unit early in the war and remained with the French army until the United States entered the conflict. He was then transferred to the American flying corps and became an expert aviator. During the fighting at Argonne Forest his plane was brought down inside the German lines and he suffered a severe injury to his right leg. After the American advance Kendall was recovered by his own troops and spent some time in a hospital overseas and was finally sent to a hospital in Baltimore. In ten days he will go to the Letterman Hospital in San Francisco to receive additional treatment.

The wedding will occur at the Hotel Maryland, Pasadena, next Thursday evening. The bride is a daughter of Squire S. Kenyon, a wealthy Montana lumberman and has been a guest at the Rex Arms Apartments, Orange street, Los Angeles, for several weeks.

PUNISHES PARENT.

Court Finds Boy Cruelly Beaten for Playing Truant.

A beating given his little son John, aged 9 years, yesterday cost Alex Pavoloff of 124 South Glass street, a Russian junk dealer, just $150 or 150 days in the City Jail. Police Judge Chesebro only took one look at the boy's scarred and bruised back before pronouncing sentence.

According to the evidence brought out by police officers who arrested Pavoloff yesterday, the child went to a motion-picture show instead of attending school several days ago. Complaint was made by school authorities to Pavoloff and to correct the boy he was beaten with a leather strap until unconscious. The child's condition was discovered by his school-teacher and a complaint made to the police. The arrest then followed.

Up to a late hour last night Pavoloff had been unable to secure money to pay his fine and he was locked in the City Jail.

OPEN-SHOP RULE UPHELD.

Strike After Strike Fails Here; Union Labor Chiefs Discouraged.

Great discouragement is felt by union labor here because of the failure of the shipbuilders to win their strike and the local telegraph walkout fiasco. Now in their third week of idleness, 6000 shipbuilders are disheartened over the outlook, and scores of them would return to work if they could. Many others have secured other employment in order to support their families, only to be taxed a day's pay each week to support those who are idle.

"The company has not in the past in any way recognized unions, nor has it ever done any business through or with unions. It should be understood, once and for all, that the Los Angeles Shipbuilding and Drydock Company's plant will be operated as what is known as an 'open shop.' The company will, at all times, as in the past, deal with its employees, but not with outsiders. There has not been, and will not be, any recognition of the Metal Trades Council or its right to direct any of the affairs of this company."

OTHER STRIKES COMING.

Members of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers have received an order to go on strike here Monday morning. This call includes all linemen, switchboard men, switchboard operators, and inside and outside wiremen who belong to the union. The brotherhood claims 5000 followers in Southern California. Organizers have been active here for the past month, getting the workers enthused over the prospect of a victorious strike. The telephone workers have pledged the support of the striking telegraphers, but there are only a dozen or fifteen key men on strike at present.

SERIES OF FIASCOS.

The strike of tailors and pressers which has been in progress for twelve weeks is broken. The union tailors are walking the streets, and men who wanted work are comfortably employed in the big tailoring establishments.

Members of the Bakers' Union are gradually returning to work. Most people are not aware that a bakery strike has been in progress for two months. Nobody has been deprived of a life-giving loaf as a consequence, but a couple of hundred bakers are still trying to compel the master bakers to recognize their union. That is what the tailors are seeking. After being awarded a substantial increase in pay they declined an invitation to return to their places, holding out for recognition of the union.

The Los Angeles Railway has already replaced the forty linemen who struck last Saturday. Their walkout made no difference with the company, from all appearance, supply men being dropped right into their places. Nobody has had to walk downtown because the high-power men quit work.

There are strikes and rumors of strikes every day. The Crescent Creamery Company's milk wagon drivers struck Tuesday morning, because a union man had been dismissed, but thought better of it and went back to work within an hour. There are numerous strikes in progress and others scheduled, but the public isn't experiencing any particular inconvenience, and the men who are walking out are letting a lot of perfectly good money get away from them.

FLY TO COMMENCEMENT.

Five Stanford University graduates, who are army aviation instructors at Rockwell Field, San Diego, passed over Los Angeles yesterday on a flying trip to Palo Alto to attend commencement and service men's memorial exercises at the university. They flyers are Capts. R. A. Kelly and F. J. Wilson, and Lieuts. W. H. Henry, F. E. Williams and Robert Worthington, each piloting a machine. In each of four of the machines a mechanic was carried. The machines used for the trip were two Hispanos and a La Pere, a Sopwith and a De Haviland, each carrying two persons.

The flyers left Rockwell Field at noon and arrived at Venice field before 2 o'clock, where a stop was made for gasoline. The flight was then resumed northward, and Bakersfield was reached at 4 o'clock, where a stop was made for gasoline, and the machines again took the air and proceeded to Fresno, where they arrived in time for dinner. The flyers spent the night there and planned to take the air this morning and arrive at Stanford University by noon today. They plan to start the return trip on Sunday.

While at the university the aviators will make exhibition flights while the corner-stone is being laid of the building to be built in honor of the Stanford men who took part in the world war.

Lieuts. Henry and Williams who made the flight yesterday are Los Angeles boys. Capt. Kelly is in command of the squadron.

Maj. Albert Smith and Lieut. S. H. Sharpe are planning to make a nonstop flight from North Island, San Diego, to San Francisco, within the next two weeks

REACH BAKERSFIELD.

BAKERSFIELD, June 11.—Four army airplanes en route from North Island, near San Diego, to Palo Alto, to participate in the flying circus during Stanford University commencement week June 12-16, arrived in Bakersfield this afternoon and will leave tomorrow morning on the final leg of their journey. They plan to stop at Fresno and to make the trip over the coast range via the Pacheco Pass.

Whereabouts of a fifth plane, a La Pere, piloted by Capt. H. R. Kelly, which left North Island with the squadron this morning, were unknown to the four officers, Capt. F. Q. Wilson, Lieut. W. H. Henry, Lieut. Robert Worthington, and Lieut. Paul Willams, who landed here. They said Capt. Kelly had not arrived at Venice when they left today for Bakersfield via the Fort Tejon Pass. A heavy head wind was bucked all the way to Bakersfield and they surmounted the pass at altitudes ranging from 7000 to 14,000 feet. The four army officers are all Stanford men.

SAILORS HOLD SHIP BACK.

Claiming that the ship Finisterre is overloaded and in that condition is dangerous to take to sea, twenty sailormen are holding the vessel at the harbor, it became known yesterday. The ship is loaded with lumber and is bound for Liverpool.

The Finisterre dropped anchor at the harbor two weeks ago, with a 3 per cent. list and her Plimsoll mark two feet submerged. According to the act of the English Parliament in 1874, fathered by Samuel Plimsoll, the Finisterre cannot go to sea with the mark covered.

The boat sailed from Seattle ten days ago, with the approval of the Pacific Coast Underwriters' Association, but Lloyds declined to write the insurance the owners of the Finisterre asked. C. White Mortimer, British Consul, has been appealed to in the matter. He is now in cable communication with London.

Collector Elliott yesterday declined to state what, if any, action the government would take, further than to say that if the Finisterre is of American registery he will act, but in the present instance the responsibility lies with the British government. It is understood that clearance papers have been refused the commander of the Finisterre on account of the overloaded condition of the craft and the protests of the crew.

CALLED SLACKER, SUES.

Man Asks Damages for an Alleged Attack on Patriotism.

Remarks alleged to have been uttered by A. L. Darby in September, 1918, reflecting on the patriotism of William T. Richardson, were made the basis for a slander suit filed yesterday. In his complaint Mr. Richardson alleges that the defendant said:

"Richardson is a notorious slacker; he has no business driving a bus; he ought to be in the war."

Other alleged remarks were that Mr. Richardson evaded the draft, that he caused the separation of his mother and stepfather, and tried to put his stepfather in jail.

Mr. Richardson asks $5000 damages for the alleged false and malicious statements.

CHINESE ASK BALM.

Ten thousand dollars is the amount which Tong Fook Young of 976 San Julian street wants from the city as damages for injuries he alleges he sustained when he was struck by a falling concrete lamp post at 6044 Hollywood boulevard early in May. The formal claim was filed with the City Clerk yesterday by J. M. Marmaduke, attorney for the Chinese.

JEWS JOIN IN MUTE PROTEST.

Ten Thousand Parade City's Downtown Streets.

Reported European Massacres Stir Race to Action.

Ask Aid for War Orphans in Palestine and East.

As a mute protest against the reported massacre of Jews in Poland and Eastern Europe, 10,000 local Jews paraded the streets of the city, yesterday afternoon, over half of them on foot. A long line of automobiles brought up the rear of the procession.

There were a large number of banners, also bearing inscriptions. One of the banners declared that 40 per cent. of the "Lost Battalion" were Jews, and another proclaimed that 3 per cent. of the population of the United States is Jewish. Other banners called on the people of the United States to stop the pogroms in Poland. Another declared: "Freedom is not license to riot and murder innocent people."

A striking feature of the parade was the number of aged women who marched. There was also a long line of children, boys and girls, and these carried a banner which read: "Do Not Feed Baby Killers."

SERVICE MEN MARCH.

The parade was lead by B. Cohen, marshal of the day, followed by a uniformed band. Then came fifty-seven soldiers in uniform, and four sailors in uniform; then there was a long line of young men without uniform. The procession was divided into nine divisions.

The parade formed on Temple street and marched south on Broadway to Eighth, east on Eighth street to Spring, north on spring to First, east on First to Main, south on Main to Eighth, east on Eighth to Los Angeles street, where it disbanded.

The march consisted of nine divisions. The first division comprised Jewish soldiers and sailors.

The second division was of Jewish children up to the age of 16 years. Third division, Jewish women; fourth division, various Jewish fraternal lodges; fifth division, clubs, educational, benevolent associations; sixth division, members of synagogues and congregations; eighth division, members of the needle industry; ninth division, consumers and co-operative leagues.

The People and Their Troubles

DOROTHY DIX TALKS

The Superfluous Girl.

BY DOROTHY DIX.

There is no more pathetic figure than that of the superfluous girl.

By "superfluous girl" I mean the young woman who belongs to a rich or well-to-do family and who at 30, plus, is still hanging upon the parent bough; who is strong and active of brain and strong and active of body, overflowing with energy and ability, but who finds herself useless and purposeless in life.

There seems to be no place in all the world for her. No one really needs her. She has nothing to do except to kill time, which is the dreariest occupation ever devised by the father of evil.

She can't find employment in helping mother with the housekeeping for the very sufficient reason that mother won't let her. Mother is herself still young and husky and fully able to manage her own affairs and, what's more, determined to do it. The jealous Turk, who brooks no rival near the throne, isn't a marker to a woman's jealousy about having any other woman interfering with the way she runs her establishment.

Especially is she determined not to have her daughter poking her finger into her domestic pie, because no mother ever realizes that her own little girl ever grows up into being a woman with judgment and intelligence enough to know how to make a cake without being told just how many eggs and how much sugar to put in. Therefore, the daughter at home, unless mother becomes an invalid or grows senile, is about as much real use as a fifth wheel to a wagon.

For a girl whose father maintains her in the lap of luxury to go out and get a job horrifies her family, and brings upon her the reproach of being eccentric and queer, than which there is no more damning reputation.

And nobody, least of all her parents, considers the poor girl's point of view, or ask themselves how they would like to live a life without a single real live interest in it; how they would like to sit with idle hands that were simply itching to do worth while constructive work; how they would like to be a perpetual infant without the independence, or freedom of an adult, no matter how old they might grow.

For that is the case of the daughter who stays at home. A woman only cuts the parental leading strings and achieves independence by getting married, or going to work and making her own living. As long as her father and mother pay for her board and clothes, they consider they have a right to boss her, and tell her generally where she gets on and off.

Moreover, the girl who doesn't marry finds that in some queer way the family look down on her. They may love her and want her to stay in the home nest, yet all the same they feel that she has been a sort of a failure, because she hasn't made a nest of her own.

That might be endured. The unendurable part is that the "superfluous girl" is planning for nothing, hoping for nothing, achieving nothing, really interested in nothing. Her married sisters are absorbed in their families, her brothers are absorbed in their business and careers. Her life is a blank, and she is expected to fill it with vicarious interests in church work, or settlement work, or uplift work, and to administer to herself some sort of altruistic dope that will deaden her longing for some real, personal, human aim in life.

This is asking for bread and getting a stone, for just because a woman is unmarried doesn't necessarily and inevitably, as people seem to suppose, fill her with a passion for knitting socks for the heathens, and leading prayer meetings, and washing other people's dirty little brats.

Of course, the time will come when there will be no more superfluous girls, because every girl will be prepared to do some part of the world's work, and she will follow her chosen occupation as simply and as much as a matter of course as her brother does. Because a man, inherits money, or his father is able to support him without his working, is no excuse in our eyes for his passing his life in idleness. We know that it is best for him to work, whether he needs the money or not, because only in doing useful work does anyone find happiness. Only in work can any intelligent human being find a worthy outlet for their energies, and a real, live, abiding interest that never palls.

Some day we shall have intelligence enough to know that a woman can never be happy as a parasite any more than a man can; that a woman needs work and the interest of work just as much as a man does, and that she deteriorates in idleness just as a man does.

Then, when our daughters do not marry and have not the work and interest of rearing a family, we will not laugh at them and oppose them, and think they reflect on the family, when they want to go into business and follow careers. Instead, we will give them money, and start them in business, just as we did their brothers, and so do away with the superfluous girl.

WOMEN'S MORALS.

OCEANSIDE, June 11.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Why do the morals of the two sexes never improve at the same time; if one improves the other deteriorates?

In the joyful old days when the men used to gather around the festive board and drink from one to nine bottles of Madeira, not to speak of champagne and other things, woman stayed quietly at home and enjoyed herself at sewing or other wild excitement, and if she did dance, it was either the stately minute, of the Payene or some other of a similar nature, and dressed only in a stately manner and guarded herself from ribald eyes with hoop skirts and innumerable petticoats.

Now alas how different for the poor man. It's not only considered disgraceful to go and get comfortably drunk, but even to wet ones lips with a drink containing the slightest odor of alcohol, say plebeian beer for instance.

But woman how does she get along in this proper age? Have her morals kept step with her male partner? "I trow not." Look at the dance; instead of the stately minute, we have the shimmy "in place of the noble Payene "the Fox trot and the bunny hug" and others even worse, and her dress! Oh, heavens! Far be it for me, a poor male, to attempt to describe it, but it is cut off at the bottom and cut down at the neck.

No, the female idea of morals differs widely from that of the male and the true reason for women setting her face firmly against all sorts of drinking is this.

The male being knows from bitter experience that the female of the species is more deadly than the male and the only way that he can hope to cope with her is to keep his spirits up by pouring spirits down, and when you take away his Dutch courage he has no hope left.

And as soon as woman realizes that she need have no fear of the male animal, then look out for startling changes in the family relations. All of the old husbands better prepare for a change, for no attractive wife will hang to a cross, ugly, bad tempered husband when a young one is here for the asking, so if you drive drink out of the family, goodby to the family. Life will be nothing but dancing and eating ice creams and drinking sodas. The only way of comfort is that most of the men won't survive the severe regime, but with broken hearts and folded hands will drift out of this world.

From one of the unfortunate examples.

The Gas Company.

LOS ANGELES, June 9.—[To the Editor of The Times:] In a recent issue of a morning paper we noticed an editorial regarding the employment of San Francisco capital to develop industries in Los Angeles, from which it would seem that this paper desires to create the impression that it is a crime to bring foreign capital to Los Angeles for investment. Not commenting upon the unwisdom of such policy, because we believe that can be better taken care of by your able writers, we do wish to call your attention to the fact that in this particular instance there are a great many people living in Los Angeles who have heavy investments in the property referred to in the editorial, and we resent the reflection upon the good name of a corporation in which we, together with our fellow citizens, have invested the major portion of our capital.

My wife and I, who have been residents of Los Angeles more than ten years, made our investment at a time when this property consisted of three separate corporations, viz., the Pasadena Consolidated Gas Company, the Los Angeles Lighting Company and the Los Angeles Electric Company. For the purpose of more easily handling these properties and in order that one might, through a single investment, have an interest in all of them, the stock of these three companies was placed in the Pacific Lighting Company as a holding company, whose principal office was in the city of San Francisco. Subsequently these three operating companies were consolidated into one operating company, the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation whose stock was given to the holding company in place of the stock of the other companies. Therefore while our investment is now represented by the stock of the Pacific Lighting Corporation, as a matter of fact our capital is actually invested in the poles, wires and pipes of the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation, and we know that there are a great many people living here who have made similar investments, aggregating many hundreds of thousands if not millions of dollars, and all of whom depend upon the revenue received by the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation for the interest on said investments.

EDGAR E. EDWARDS.

Males, Take Heart!

HUNTINGTON PARK, June 11.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Nothing has amused me quite so much lately as the wild wail emitted by one Mr. Hurley, whose hysteria seems to have taken form in the idea of that nearly the whole male population is about to be jerelillised at the instigation and by the unanimous consent of the female of the species, whom he evidently considers deadly malignant.

Personally, I have never heard any woman advocate any such punishment for men unless it was some woman so unattractive that no man would ever look at her or else one who had a deuce of a time trying to keep her own husband from treading the primrose path of dalliance. On the contrary, I believe that is the very first mode of punishment which springs into a man's mind whenever he finds another of his kind has trespassed on his preserves. Was it not the uncle of Heloise, and not her auntie, who so madly attended to Abejard when he discovered their love affair? And it has not been so many years ago that the whole country was shocked and horrified by the spectacular methods employed by the scion of a well-known family to permanently incapacitate another equally well-known member of society who he thought had dishonored his home. Of course, I do not say this may not come to pass, for by harboring a thought we grow familiar with it, but it will be a long time yet before we women become so barbarous as the men and even if we were so savage we could never be unanimous as to who should be sacrificed, and who saved.

We all know that man is a mere biological incident in woman's life, but most any man would rather be an incident than an accident; so take heart, Mr. Hurley—"A coward dies many times before his death; the valiant never dis but once."

"Wear-Ever" Aluminum Griddle

A KITCHEN full of smoke and odor of grease is unknown to the woman who uses the "Wear-Ever" Griddle when making that distinctly American and most delicious breakfast dish—griddle cakes.

No grease necessary—and the cakes do not stick, but are browned beautifully and baked thoroughly—light, deliciously appetizing and wholesome.

Heat the griddle. (Some women place a bit of batter near the outer edge of the griddle. When the batter browns, griddle is hot enough to bake cakes.) Then turn down the flame about one-half. Save fuel!

It now is possible for you to get shapes and styles of "Wear-Ever" utensils which have been unobtainable during the war because so many thousands of tons of aluminum have been used in making cooking utensils for soldiers and sailors.

The utensils which gave enduring service there will give lasting service here.

BIG SCOUT PARADE TODAY.

Every Person in City will be Asked to Become Associate Member.

In every part of the United States and in every district, industrial, residential and business, of Los Angeles, someone today will endeavor to place one more of the hundred million American adults on the associate membership rolls of the Boy Scouts of America.

Under the direction of J. Sheldon Riley, subscriptions taken by chairmen in the industrial district amounting to hundreds of dollars will be ready for delivery at headquarters today. Under Mrs. J. T. Anderson, nearly 1500 women are in readiness to solicit memberships in every part of the city not covered by Mr. Riley's assistants.

When you have signified by the payment of $1 to one of the authorized membership solicitors that you uphold and indorse the ideals of this institution for American boys over 12 years of age, you will be given a green ribbon. With Doug Fairbanks as their grand marshal, and the only adult marching in the big parade this afternoon at 4 o'clock, 3800 Los Angeles scouts of seventy-two troops will march through the downtown section to Pershing Square. Mrs. Sloan-Orcutt is chairman of solicitation for the Pershing Square precinct. Dr. Shiels, Superintendent of City Schools, has, through the Board of Trade, arranged that every Boy Scout who will take part in the parade be dismissed from his studies at 2:45 o'clock this afternoon. During the day the first twenty-five scouts who apply at the local headquarters, 320 Van Nuys Building, for requests for school excuses, will be permitted by the school board to act as messengers during the day. The scouts are asked to meet not later than 3 p.m. at Ninth and Hope streets, where the parade will form, and to bring troop flags, American flags, banners and patrol flags. There will be a special division of scouts without troop flags, and boys who have decided to become scouts; also, a special division for scouts from surrounding towns and cities.

The Fife, Drum and Bugle Corps will be out in full force, under Maj. Walter Westcott, corps major, who is also Los Angeles' one eagle scout. Chief office executive, Harold F. Benner, has asked that the bicycle division bring their wheels, the scouts wear their regular camping equipment, including their haversacks and blankets; that they may be fully prepared for the encampment which will be held at Pershing Square immediately following the parade.

At the Man's City Club yesterday noon, following an address by Mr. Harold F. Benner, every member present, at the request of the speaker, pledged himself to "invest a dollar in boyhood to build manhood."

FOR OBSERVANCE OF FLAG DAY.

"Never Floated More Proudly Than Today," Says State Readjustment Body.

As Flag Day is next Saturday, June 14, the California State Committee on Readjustment yesterday issued a general statement to the public, asking fitting observance of the day.

"The American flag," the statement says, "never floated more proudly than today. It stands for civilization, for national advancement, for the enlightenment of the world, for the cause of humanity, for the honor of a great country."

WILMINGTON'S PARK.

Council, Reminded of Forgotten Pledges, to Discuss Cost.

The Chamber of Commerce of Wilmington yesterday sent to the City Council a communication calling attention to the fact that the preconsolidation pledges provided for the creation of a public park in Wilmington; that each year since that section had become a part of Los Angeles efforts had been made to secure this park, but the city had neglected to take decisive action, and urging that provision be made in the new budget for securing the necessary land and making required improvements. The subject was referred to the Budget Committee.

Property owners in the vicinity of Silver Lake asked the Council to place that section of Silver Lake lands set to trees under the jurisdiction of the Park Commission, so that it would be properly cared for. They claimed that the trees are dying from neglect.

WILL CONTRAST MUSICAL ERAS.

A view of the revolution in music from the sixteenth to the twentieth century is what the Zoellner Quartette announces for the next two of their evenings of chamber music—next Friday and the 20 inst., at the Ebell Club. The list of the two concerts will be known as an evening with old masters; the succeeding programme will be devoted to modern masters. When the Zoellners gave two such contrasting programmes in the East some two years ago they aroused much comment, and the concerts were a tremendous success.

Do likewise. When there is sickness in your home keep Lysol solution always in the bed pan. Boil all eating utensils used by the patient in Lysol solution of proper strength. Wipe off all woodwork in the sick-room—floor, window frames, doors, etc., with water to which Lysol has been added.

In the case of highly infectious diseases boil thoroughly all clothing worn by the patient and all bed-clothing in water containing Lysol.

You will then go a long way in preventing the rest of the family from contagion.

What Happened to Her Man's Suit

Second Chapter of "How the Wife Slipped Back Some Money Into Her Husband's Trousers Pockets"

In which the "Secret of Eighty-Five Cents" and "How They Delivered All of the Goods" is Thrillingly Told

Never before had the Average Wife heard so intensely interesting a story as the marvelous experience of "Her Man's Suit," as he related them, sitting so spick and span in his own home, after he had been delivered by one of a great caravan of motor delivery wagons of the American Dye Works.

The "Secret of Eighty-Five" Cents Is Out

"You know," started "Her Man's Suit," "after you read 'The Secret of Eighty Five Cents' that Monday morning, you called for a wagon and bundled me off.

"I thought I was going to just an ordinary clothes-cleaning place, where you had sent me before. When I got there—to the American Dye Works—I began to think it could swallow up two or three hundred ordinary tailor shops. There were about fifty wagons all coming in with suits in about as bad shape as I was in.

"Most of the clothes I noticed, though, were women's suits instead of men's. The 'men's department' really is only a small department compared to the whole immense plant. There seemed to be hundreds of people working there in a dozen different big rooms.

"They wouldn't let us go in with the women's suits and wraps and furs, but kept us 'Men's Suits' by ourselves.

"I guess there were four or five hundred of us Men's Suits went in that morning.

"The first place they took us was to the 'dry cleaning' room. When I got there I really had to laugh to think how you had always been 'fooled' before about 'dry cleaning.' If I ever had been 'dry cleaned' before they must have chloroformed me first, for I never knew it.

"'Dry cleaning' really means a 'benzine bath.' And it's some bath. When they threw me into a great big revolving vat I found myself completely drowned in 'pure benzine'—no imitation stuff. There were six or seven other big vats like mine.

"I must have been there an hour. It seemed a day, the way they whirled me around this way and then quickly whirled me back that way, until the benzine had actually penetrated every fiber of my being.

"I began to feel like a new suit even then, the way they forced the dust and dirt out of me.

"Finally they stopped the big vat and took me out and threw me into a great revolving 'centrifugal drier' that soon forced all the benzine out of me and I began to feel like a fresh suit for the first time since I was made.

"Then they took me into the 'repair and spotting' department. The way that 'spotter' went over me you'd thought I'd had spotted fever or something. He found spots on me I never knew about—and he took them all out.

"Then a pretty girl with dark eyes took me in hand and began 'going for the rips.'

"Honestly, you'll never have to sew me up again as long as I live. I really hated to leave that pretty girl, but they came and got me and took me to the pressing machines. Yes, machines—no ordinary hot iron that a tailor uses.

"I think the first time that that big presser came down on me it must have weighed a ton, but they had soft pads under me and it didn't hurt a bit.

"They heat the big things by a system, at the exact temperature, so they couldn't burn me if they tried. But it seems so good to get all your wrinkles all pressed out of you. I must look as young as I was when I was made. I don't believe you can find a wrinkle on me with a microscope and I feel as if I never could wrinkle again.

"Well, then they went all over me again with a brush and an important-looking man came up and looked me all over once more and kind of patted me on the shoulder as if he thought I was a 'good job,' and then he tied a tag on me and hung me up with hundreds of other suits who were coming out again like new. I had begun to feel kind of stuck up, but I noticed they all looked as good as I did.

"The next morning they took me down, very carefully, and folded me just as first I was folded by the tailor when I was born and Eighty Five Cents brought me home in another motor delivery.

"It was the best cleaning and pressing I ever had had — in fact the only one—for I never had been really 'dry cleaned' before. I'm strong for those benzine baths. And everybody was so kind and gentle with me, as if they liked to make me look new again.

"I tell you those Eighty Five Cent Fellows certainly know their business.

"They make you feel as if the Dollar and a Quarters and Dollar and a Halfs have 'fooled' you long enough."

The Average Wife was so thrilled with "Her Man's Suit's Narrative" she made up her mind to send one of her own suits this week to learn what would happen.

Next week will be told the big denouement of "How a Woman's Suit Was Brought Back to Life."

SOCIETY.

BY VIRGINIA WOODS.

Another June Romance.

Los Angeles society will be given an exceedingly pleasant surprise this morning by the announcement of the engagement of Miss Margaret May Johnston and Eugene Olston Hawkins, Jr. The wedding will be solemnized at St. John's Church on the evening of July 16 and will be one of the important events of the summer.

Miss Johnston is the second daughter of Mrs. William T. Johnston of 527 South Kingsley drive and her engagement follows closely upon that of Miss Florence Johnston, whose engagement to Lieut. Hancock Banning, Jr., has started a whirl of social festivities. Now the two sisters, among the most prominent and most charming in Los Angeles, will share alike these courtesies. Being two of the most beautiful girls here, they are always distinctive figures at any affair they grace.

Miss Johnston is a graduate of Marlborough School and with her mother and sister spent a winter in New York, returning here just at the beginning of the war, which prevented her making a formal debut. During the war Miss Johnston served diligently with the Food Administration under Louis Cole.

News of her interesting romance was made known at a luncheon given yesterday for her sister by Miss Margaret Miller, at which there were twenty-four guests.

Mr. Hawkins is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene A. Hawkins of 601 South Kingsley drive, and is a young attorney associated with his father's law firm. He came to Los Angeles with his family from Texas. He is a graduate of the University of California and served as a lieutenant with the Machine Gun Corps at Camp Lewis. Miss Johnston's family originally hailed from the South also, her mother being a member of the prominent old Dupuy family of Kentucky.

Church Wedding.

Of interest to a large number of friends here as well as in Salt Lake, where the couple formerly resided, is the marriage of Miss Marguerite Rice and Roger Jessup, which took place at noon yesterday at St. John's Episcopal Church. Dr. George Davidson read the service in the presence of relatives and a few friends.

The bride is a niece of Mrs. W. V. Rice of 351 South Alexandria boulevard, with whom she has made her home for several years. W. W. Armstrong of Salt Lake City gave the bride in marriage. Mr. Jessup is in business in Glendale, where the couple will reside.

By Mrs. Hines.

Mrs. Fred A. Hines is to entertain at a large reception at the California Club on Saturday afternoon in honor of her daughter, Mrs. Maurice Newman.

Miss Godowsky Home.

Miss Dagmar Godowsky, who has been in New York since January with the Washington Square Players, has returned home. She plans to go to Italy and Spain in September with the Metropolitan Grand Opera Company, who are to have their productions screened in those countries.

Afternoon Tea.

Miss Lorena Cruce of Oklahoma City is incentive for the tea at which Miss Lenabel Morris and Miss Jeanne Gilbert are entertaining a bevy of girls at the Alexandria this afternoon. Miss Cruce is domiciled at the Windemere Hotel, Santa Monica, for the summer, a guest of her aunt, Miss Ade Bennett. Miss Cruce is the daughter of former Governor Cruce of Oklahoma.

Church Wedding.

The marriage of Miss Emma Gamble to Mr. Pierre Eugene Baffert will take place next Wednesday evening at St. Vincent's Church, Los Angeles, and will be one of the interesting events of next week.

By Mrs. Smith.

To welcome her son and new daughter-in-law, Lieut. and Mrs. Charles Watts Smith, Mrs. Eugene Smith entertained at tea yesterday afternoon at the Los Angeles Country Club. Lieut. Smith has just returned from France; his bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Gilroy of Newark, N. J.

Assisting Mrs. Smith were Mmes. Jefferson Paul Chandler, Henry Vanderlip, Joseph Sartori, Charles Munro, Thomas E. Newlin, Andrew Baldwin, Hugo Vischer, J. J. Burns, C. C. Parker, E. W. Britt, Constance Barnore, George M. Wallace, Robert E. Meyler, Wells Morris, Eugene Clark, G. Bell, Misses Amy Busch, Louise Hunt, Vanderlip, Rosemary Sartori, Marie McCoy, Florence Johnston, Margaret May Johnston, Dorothy Lindley, Agnes Britt, Harvie Wallis, Evelyn Byrd and Waddilove.

For Mrs. Parkinson.

Mrs. Paul Parkinson, sister and house guest of Mrs. Alfred Darien, 2360 West boulevard, has been complimented with numerous happy hospitalities. On Monday Mrs. John W. Gibson of 1934 West boulevard entertained with a pleasant luncheon for the visitor at which Mrs. C. H. Bennett from Chicago, sister to Mrs. Darien and Mrs. Parkinson, was also a guest. Others present were Mmes. T. A. Crippen, George Sheldon, Charles Stanley, Fanny Gore, James L. Howard, E. A. D. Trabue, Don Stanberry, E. Polkhill, Edith Campbell, N. T. Walt, Harry George, George I. Brock, D. C. Rhodes, R. J. Brush, Mrs. Joy of San Francisco, and Mrs. L. L. Garriduss.

Mrs. Darien herself entertained with a bridge and dancing party for her sisters and many other happy affairs are forthcoming.

Returned Travelers.

Mrs. Wyllie and her charming young daughter, Miss Edith Wyllie, have just returned to their home after a three months' sojourn in the Orient. They visited Manila, Hongkong and numerous Japanese cities, the trip being taken for the benefit of Mrs. Wyllie's health. In Japan Mrs. Wyllie purchased some pedigree spaniels to add to her well-known kennels. They arrived home on the Tenyu Maru last week, leaving Yokohama on May 16.

Personals.

Miss Beatrice Sparks, a student of the University of California, and a member of the Phi Kappa Gamma sorority, is home from Berkeley to spend the summer vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Perley Sparks of 1711 Harvard boulevard. Dr. P. Albert Sparks, formerly a lieutenant in the United States Navy stationed at Mare Island, has received his discharge and will be associated with a dental firm at Berkeley and at Richmond.

Mrs. Charles Weir of Westmoreland place and her niece, Miss Eva Russell, have gone to Kansas City and Fort Scott, Kansas, for a six weeks' visit with relatives.

Lieut. Willard Rhodes, who has been ill ever since returning from France, is now recuperating and is able to greet his friends at the home of his father, A. W. Rhodes, of 2300 West Twenty-seventh street. While in the air service abroad he was injured in an airplane accident and later suffered an attack of influenza from which he is just now recovering.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hubbell of Los Angeles and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bell of New York motored to Forest Home in the San Bernardino Mountains for recreation.

Mrs. Samuel Baeskin and son, Reaven, of Martinsville, Ind., are in the city as guests of her sister, Mrs. A. K. Nelsman, of 822 East Twenty-eighth street, whom she had not seen for thirteen years. Mrs. Nelsman entertained for her and plans to show her all places of interest.

Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan G. Baughman left by automobile for a two weeks' trip, the incentive being the graduation of their daughter, Miss Imo Pearl Baughman, who finishes her course at Stanford on Monday, next. Before returning they will visit the Yosemite Valley and other places of interest.

ing to secure some concessions in regard to the operation of the law, but so far he has been unsuccessful and confesses that the chances are against any half-way measures in the enforcement of a law that has been allowed to remain quiescent for years. It seems to be the policy of the authorities in Washington to confine the fishing and coastwise trade to American citizens, though it is known that but few Americans are engaged in the work.

In the last two weeks the Shipping Board has refused to authorize the transfer of two vessels to Japanese ownership. One of these applications was made by the Sun Harbor Packing Company of San Diego, that sought to transfer the fishing boat Wechsaco to Japanese owners. The Department of Commerce ruled that it could not be done. At the same time the Halfhill Tuna Packing Company of the harbor, asked to be allowed to transfer the gasoline screw yawls, Nos. 2 and 3, to Japanese ownership, but this was denied.

Collector Elliott sought to have that ruling reversed, but was unsuccessful, being advised that it was to be the policy of the government hereafter to enforce the law prohibiting alien-owned vessels from operating either in the coastwise traffic or the fishing business.

RESUMES HIS PRACTICE.

Dr. Harry G. Marxmiller, formerly a major in the Medical Corps, U.S.A., has resumed the practice of medicine at 1016 Baker-Detwiler Building.

MAY NOT VOTE WET-DRY HERE.

Names of Petitioners for Referendum not Filed Yet, and May not Be.

Names of petitioners in Los Angeles county who seek to have a vote in the State regarding the ratification of the national prohibition amendment have not been filed in Los Angeles county, according to David B. Lyons, Registrar of Voters. It was claimed that about 15,000 persons in Los Angeles signed the petition. Mr. Lyons said that, at any rate, he would not accept the names for filing, as he believes legally he is not entitled to do so. Whether enough names have been filed in other counties, or not, was not learned.

UNIFORM ABUSE TO BE STOPPED.

War Department, City Unite Against Nuisance.

Seek to Suppress Those Who Exploit Service Men.

Similar Steps Being Taken in All Large Cities.

Steps to protect the people of Los Angeles and Southern California against abuse of the uniform of the United States by persons using it while begging, soliciting newspaper and magazine subscriptions and selling articles from house to house, were taken yesterday at a conference in this city of representatives of the War Department, officials of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Welfare Bureau and city officials. The object of the conference was to prepare the way for a war on unscrupulous persons who have encouraged discharged service men to don their uniforms in order to promote purely selfish aims. Similar steps are being taken in large cities all over the country, as the result of complaints made to Col. Arthur Wood, assistant Secretary of War, in charge of soldiers' and sailors' welfare work.

Present at the conference were Capt. Edwin Wemple, special representative of Col. Wood; Lieut. Alexander S. Craven, special War Department investigator; E. H. Bagby, chairman of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Replacement Bureau; Erwin W. Widney, City Prosecutor; Albert Lee Stephens, City Attorney, and Dr. A. D. Houghton, representing the American Legion, the national organization of world war veterans.

ASKS CO-OPERATION.

Speaking for the War Department, Capt. Wemple asked the co-operation of all citizens and business men as well as discharged service men in suppressing the exploitation of the uniform. He said the public welfare agencies, acting in co-operation with the War Department and United States labor bureau, were well able to take care of the replacement work and that all honorably discharged men would be placed in situations if they exercised patience and co-operated with the local replacement bureau. He declared himself as opposed to this replacement work being attempted by private interests.

pose of assisting to raise $500,000 for the Jewish war orphans of Palestine. The present committee consists of Dr. Edgar F. Magnin, Dr. M. Rosenthal, Dr. I. Werne, J. L. Jonas and F. M. Rissa, the latter being chairman of the committee, with headquarters at 517 Title Insurance Building.

"The American Jews are the only hope of the orphans of their race in the Far East," said Rabbi Abramson yesterday. "Ninety per cent. of the Jews in Palestine are in dire need and unable to help the suffering children, and the Jews in Russia, Belgium, England and other countries have their own needy ones to look after. There are now about 450 orphans being sheltered in a building in Jerusalem, loaned to us by the British government, but we hope to raise $500,000 in America for the purpose of erecting a permanent orphanage."

Rabbi Abramson stated that among the prominent New Yorkers on the committee are Dr. P. H. Klein, Adolph Lewisohn, Nathan Straus, Felix M. Warburg, Cyrus Sulzberger, Dr. Bernard Drachman, Perira Mendes and Samuel Bernstein. The headquarters of the New York committee is at 55 West One Hundred and Tenth street, and Samuel Bernstein is chairman.

HARD STUFF.

Why don't the booze fighters go to Belgium? Alcohol is said to be selling there for two cents a quart and few takers.

WHAT'S THE DIFFERENCE?

The unions lay much stress over the right of a man to belong to a union, but they themselves do not seem willing to peacefully concede the right of a worker to not belong. One right should certainly be as good as the other.

PRETTY POLLY.

Among other things to worry about is the price of sunflower seed. It used to be five cents, but is now twenty-five cents a pound. Everything seems to be coming Kansas' way. People who have been living on sunflower seed might try sand as a substitute. That hasn't gone up so very much.

RESPONSIBILITY.

The Street Railway Employees' Union at Pittsburgh has been sued for $3,000,000 damages on account of losses and inconvenience to the public through a recent strike. It might be some task to collect a judgment, but if the unions could be made to understand that they would be held financially responsible for loss or damage wrought by them they would not be so eager in urging a strike.

CURBSTONE ORATORY.

James Eads Howe, the millionaire tramp, has opened a hobo college in New York. Among other things on the bill of fare is a post-graduate course in public speaking. It is one of America's ills that she already has too many open-faced orators. The curbstone Cades and corner Catos would serve themselves and their country better if they would concentrate their noodles in the direction of writing scenarios for the moving pictures. They would be doing less harm and if they should chance to put something across they would have a larger audience. At the present moment America is infested with more stump speakers than there are stumps. Curbstone oratory might well be curbed.

THE WRECKERS.

Senator Pomerene is a sturdy Democrat, but he has not been pleased with the way the administration has been playing with the utilities. He says it was a great mistake for the government to have ever taken over the wires. Says he: "No good came from it, but much harm. There was no necessity for taking them over. Government operation has served to destroy the morale of the companies." There was a time not so very long ago when these words would almost have been accounted treasonable if uttered by a Democratic Senator. But, anyhow, the war lasted long enough to show that government operation is a delusion and a snare and in its full expression means an extravagance that leads to the wreckage of the properties.

SOLDIERS AND ALIENS.

The disturbers at Winnipeg thought they would have the returned soldiers on their side, but the answer was a command from the soldiers that the unions oust all aliens from their membership and that they be deported. Even a discontented soldier will not embarrass or oppose the orderly administration of the country he has served in the field. If the unions were free from aliens and the members were required to take the oath of allegiance to the American flag and Constitution they would be a benefit instead of a menace to free government. But any time the agitators think they can swing the returned soldiers to their programme of industrial disruption and national disorder they are doomed to disillusionment.

HOME RULE ALL ROUND.

Years ago, when Gladstone was in all his glory and the Irish home-rule battle was raging about his devoted head and high collar, the suggestion was made that if Erin were granted self-government England, Wales and Scotland could claim it, too. Now comes the news from London that after a two-days' debate the British House of Commons has adopted a resolution in favor of the appointment of a Parliamentary committee to examine and report on the desirability of creating subordinate legislatures for England, Scotland and Ireland. Waley seemed to have been overlooked. Perhaps the "predominant partner," as Lord Rosebery once called England, thinks the principality is too small.

The reason given for the proposal to adopt the federal system in Great Britain is that it is desirable to enable the Imperial Parliament to devote more time and attention to the larger affairs of Great Britain and the empire by ploughing off local questions on the proposed legislatures. It is not unlikely, however, that many of those who voted for the appointment of the committee of inquiry did so in the hope that the creation of subordinate houses will help to solve the Irish question. If so, one is afraid they are oversanguine. There are too many irreconcilables in Ireland. They say they can't logically accept any measure of self-government from England, and they won't be satisfied till a republic is set up in Dublin.

DEMOCRATS IN HOT WATER.

Teaching the Democratic donkey new tunes is a task of which the administration leaders have made but a mediocre success. Harmony and Democracy—spelled with a capital "D"—never have been synonyms; but while the Democrats were in complete control of the pie counter the noisy ones were kept stuffed too full to holler. As a minority party, the Democrats find the feast is over, but that piles of dirty dishes and soiled linen remain to be washed. They would be just as well satisfied to have Congress adjourn over the hot season, and it is true that the summer climate of Washington is torrid enough without any admixture of sizzling investigations; but the Republican majority holds steadily that there is work ahead more important than the personal comfort of the members. Judging from the various notes of lament emitted by the minority in each house the Democrats are going to prove poor losers.

First, the Democrats must give a plausible explanation for the continued high cost of living. America has now been out of the war as long as it was actually in the thick of it. The people accepted the explanation of war exigencies for the catapulting of necessities; but they are becoming restive because the administration hasn't yet discovered that the war is over. Plainly the old maxim, "All that goes up must come down," does not hold good under a Democratic administration.

Representative Fitzgerald of Massachusetts, "Honey Fitz" of Boston Mayoralty fame, has been playing the wrong music. He was a Democratic member of the House in 1913 and gained a temporary notoriety by his denunciations of the Republican majority for the high cost of living. He is back again this year and has already played twice from his old notes. His associates accuse him of still using the Democratic 1912 campaign book. Just now there are no high notes in the Democratic score; they are trying to sing low on everything, most of all on war extravagances and the cost of living.

Tribulations are added to the Democratic grief by the persistent demands for a rigorous investigation of war waste. That combat plane fiasco will not stay dead. When a number of Democrats protested last year that $640,000,000 was expended in aircraft construction and not a single bombing plane was delivered to the American troops in France the administration forces sat down on them with a thud that shook the whole country. They were charged with circulating Hun propaganda. These Democrats have come to life again and are making their old charges at a time when the war exigency arguments have lost their potency. The Democratic leaders are naturally distracted to find their own forces seeking to stand from under.

Farmers throughout the Middle West are making some pointed inquiries concerning that $100,000,000 appropriation to provide nitrates for them. This appropriation was in great favor a year ago; the farmers looked to it for additional yields, assuring more bountiful harvests. They now complain they got that $100,000,000 in their tax bills, but didn't get the nitrates.

There is something decidedly unsavory about the handling of the supplies of meat which the government had in stock when the armistice was declared. Secretary Baker decided to sell this meat abroad, and his decision awakened a great storm of protest in this country. It was alleged that such a disposal of the meat on hand was plainly in the interest of the packers. There was a stock of 100,000,000 cans of beef and 50,000,000 pounds of bacon to be disposed of. When the plan to sell it abroad was blocked the War Department invited bids from municipal hospitals, asylums, penal and charitable institutions. The announcement was naively made that the stock on hand "was not intended for commercial use." Good enough for the soldiers, good enough for the enforced wards of the States and municipalities, but not good enough for "commercial use!" Good God! Little wonder there is lack of harmony in a party forced to go before the people with such a record. It is one before which every loyal American must bow his head in shame.

Even President Wilson's personal appropriation of $100,000,000 is hardly in shape to stand a searching investigation. The last Congress gave him that sum as a bit of pin money while the war was on. Moore of Pennsylvania, one of the Republican House leaders, charged last week that the President had spent most of the $100,000,000 without much detailed accounting and is now calling for an additional $5,000,000 to spend in Paris. A Republican wit remarked that the cost of high living in Paris probably had something to do with the high cost of living here.

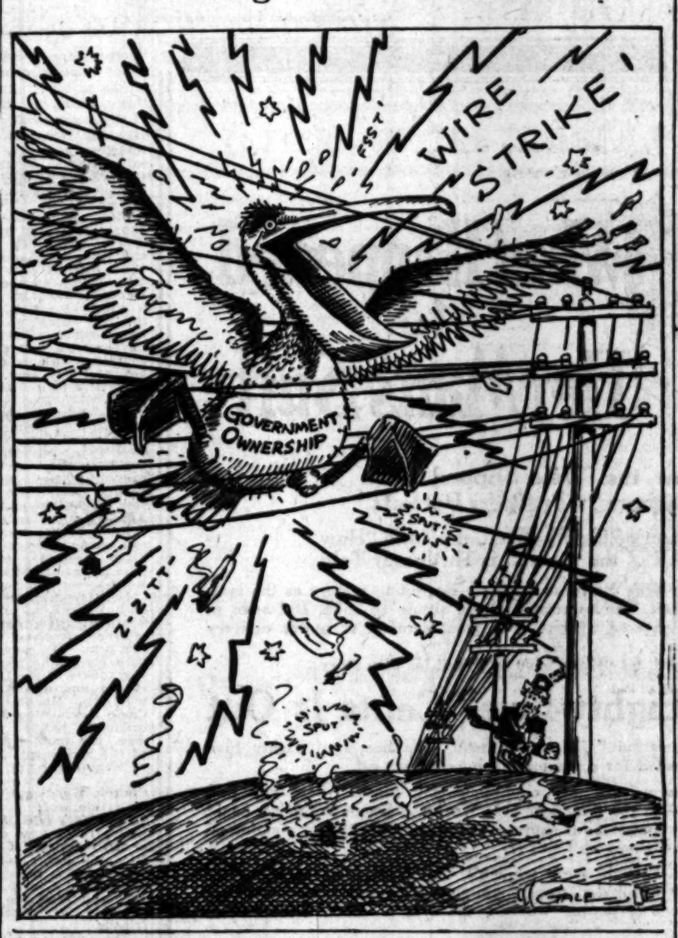
There are scores of other lump-sum appropriations which are to be given the once-over by the House committees on department expenditures. For the first time in many years these departmental committees have real work cut out for them. It is perhaps unfortunate for the administration that the membership of some of those committees is made up mostly of first-term men who are eager to make a record. They have not the reverence of the veterans for red tape and they have not yet lost the faculty of being indignant at a waste of millions to insure party harmony and party success.

Other discords are floating northward from the Mexican border and have their echo in Congress. The Villa-Angeles revolution is regarded as the most formidable that has occurred in Mexico during the Carranza regime. Official Washington has always favored Angeles, who was Madero's chief mainstay; but it would be regarded as disastrous to Democratic policies to have this country drawn actively into the Mexican imbroglio. The fiasco of our Mexican invasion in 1915 has not yet been wholly forgotten, although the stain was wiped out by the heroic service of our troops in France and Belgium.

Judging from surface indications there is going to be more hot water in Washington this summer than the administration ice plants will be able to cool. About the only frigid thing thus far recorded was the reception of George Creel on his return from Europe.

Wonder if we all appreciate the great privilege we enjoy in living in these epoch-making days? There has not been a time since the creation of man when there have been such issues facing civilization.

Locating the "Trouble."



THE NEW AMAZONIA.

Assuming that a land where the women have the vote and the men most of the offices is but half-governed, an old and worthy resident of Monrovia is taking steps to correct some of the glaring inequalities of administration.

To that end he is busily circulating an initiative petition, the purpose of which is to bust the State Constitution wide open. As this reformer puts it, he intends to abolish autocracy and establish diplocracy—which is highbrow for self-government of each sex.

The process is distressingly simple. By a series of constitutional amendments the present Assembly is abolished and in its stead two Senates of forty members each are created—one composed of men and t'other of women. These latter will be called Senatresses—with the accent on the tresses. Likewise, there shall be a Governor and a Governess. The men's Senate, with the approval of the Governor, shall, independent of the women, enact laws for the education, employment, management, amusement, protection, correction and benefit of all males over six years old. On its part the women's Senate will function the same for all females, as well as for boys under six years.

This would seem to give the women more responsibility than the men, as they not only have authority over themselves for all time, but control the boys in their formative stage. The Monrovia reformer insists that this is right, as the mother should have direction over the early years of the son as well as the daughter.

It is all figured out to elect the first Governor and Governess in 1923 and every four years thereafter. The Governess must be at least 30 years old and she would have sole executive authority over the lady-like population of the State as well as over the male kids. It is insisted that there be separate polling places, ballots and judges for the elections of men and women and no man or measure concerning the rights of men should have place on the women's ballot.

This doubling up of officers and election machinery would mean added expense, but what difference does that make so long as the pathway of reform is made straight? California has tried lots of crazier things than this and it might be fine business to turn over half the government to the Amazons. Away back in 1510 Ordonez de Montalvo gave California its name, but described it as an island near the terrestial paradise which was ruled by a race of swarthy but beautiful women. The men were only used for bait.

What's the matter with giving the brunettes another chance to run the machine?

With dual lawmaking bodies there would be a friendly rivalry to see which could do most for its sex, and the State would continue to be the best-advertised commonwealth in the Union. The men would provide smoking cars on all railroads and the women would forbid smoking. This would result in parallel systems of railroads, with Jim Crow cars for the men. Each set of solons might have its own laws for marriage and divorce. The dames would make the pursuit of the blind tiger cause for a decree, while the men would want separation from a woman that spent her time making fudge or putting her hair up in curl papers. The women would be voting appropriations for the fall fashion show, while the men were establishing municipal barber shops.

Our splendid galaxy of magazine writers and scenario builders would have more material than ever, and the State would be hailed as a cross between Arcadia and Utopia—with a dash of Gehenna.

The sponsor for this movement says that he will only need 55,000 signatures on his petition to have the measure placed on the ballot at the next election. It ought to be dead easy to pick up this trifling number. They have been securing names to worse propositions. Maybe he could persuade some of the skirts to get out and hustle in their own behalf. The opportunity for becoming a Governess should invite their activity.

Go to it.

SENATE AND PRESIDENCY.

Senator Borah has taken it upon himself to nominate Senator Johnson for President on the Republican ticket. He volunteers the information that the Progressives are back of Johnson and that the "Liberals" in several States are coming into line. Unfortunately for the Idaho Senator's ambitions, however, "the advice and consent of the Senate" is not a requisite for the nomination of a Republican candidate for President. In fact, the pages of political history record scores of instances in which a Senatorial indorsement has proved a handicap too heavy to be overcome, and not a single case in which such indorsement has contributed to ultimate success.

Ever since the Republican party has been organized the great mass of voters included in its membership have insisted on making their own selection of Presidential nominees. Whenever campaign year comes round a group of Republican Senators gets together and selects one of its number to stand for the Republican Presidential nomination. Twice the membership of the party has accepted the Senatorial offering and each time the candidate went down to defeat, carrying his party with him.

That the Senate is a graveyard of political ambitions has become proverbial; for never in the history of the republic has a man gone from the floor of the Senate to the White House. The experience of more than one hundred years proves that the road to the Presidency does not pass that way. Governors and successful military men are choice selections for the Presidency, but Governors must be actually holding office at the time of their candidacy to be popular. An "ex" attached to a candidate's name is a handicap.

Senator Borah announces that it is the purpose of the Johnson boomers to push his candidacy in the direct-primary States. That was tried in both Republican and Democratic parties in 1912 and the results were so disastrous that Mr. Hughes and Mr. Roosevelt declined in 1916 to have their names "dragged through the mire of a Presidential primary."

It would be interesting to know by what method of reasoning the Idaho Senator has selected Senator Johnson as a desirable candidate. The Times recalls that in 1912 there was some talk of Senator Borah as a compromise candidate. The Senator then declined to permit his name to be used; and he gave as reasons that not in a generation would it be possible to elect a man from the far West, and in that category he included Idaho; he also mentioned the fact that Senatorial candidates were consistent losers in the Presidential race.

Disappointment Too Great.

A Houston man thought he was paying $8 for a quart of "Hooray-for-our-party" and found that he had merely purchased a quart of vinegar. It is thought that the timely arrival of the pulmotor was what saved him, together with oxygen, strychnine, digitalis and the introduction of salt solution into his arterial system. Some disappointments are a little too much for men who are not strong.—[George M. Bailey in Houston Post.

If it is the picture of a half-naked actress it is art; if of somebody else you cannot send it through the mails without fear of prosecution. What funny laws we have!

The lodge rooms of the proposed American Legion, made up of war veterans, will be known as "dug-outs," and of course all of the politicians will want to get in on the ground floor.

It is believed that the wireless telephone will soon be on the market and ready for universal operation. If so, it is going to break up a lot of gossip parties.

There isn't much excuse for the tax on luxuries, but the man with the nerve to wear a silk shirt ought to be willing to pay for the notoriety.

The expenses of the ex-Kaiser are said to be $1000 a week. He must have ham and eggs every morning, with a dish of strawberries and cream on the side.

JAPAN SUPREME IN ORIENT.

Alma Whitaker Says Nipponese are Progressive but Touchy—Newspapers Rant.

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

TOKIO, May 25.—We struck Japan in the throe of an anti-American campaign, with the Shantung question still hanging in the balance and the native press issuing hectic hourly "extras"—a mere sheet of letter paper sold by a bell-ringing picturesquely-clad, wooden-clogged specimen of masculinity, printed in tantalizing strokes and wiggles, which, however, were potent with sneers against one Kaiser Wilson. Bitingly sarcastic editorials referred to the U.S.A. as "the enemy" and accused us of aiding and abetting the Bolsheviks in Russia. And, to our amazement, nice American residents, with pictures of Washington and Lincoln in their homes, were steeped in resentment against the Presidential incumbent, practically echoing voiced Japanese sentiments, while having nothing but scorn for Japanese principles, ethics and customs. The Shantung settlement soothed the savage breast of the Japanese press somewhat, and the Japan Advertiser, an America daily run by a United States patriot, came forth with soothing comment and diplomacy rampant. The position of the foreign press in Japan is highly delicate, for while the native and wholly inspired press rants ferociously, the foreign newspaper is soothed by high officials with smiling assurance that the phase will pass—"merely a little politics which you Americans understand so well." Mr. Hearst makes things hectically alarming for foreign residents in Japan, whose every day is quite complicated enough without any assistance from home.

RICH AND THRIVING.

For Japan is rich and thriving and feels itself a mighty power. Its whole system of government is the antetheasis of ours and friendship, so essential to world peace, is doubly difficult on that account. Japan is naturally touchy just now—the racial clauses are potent with indignity from their point of view. Yet in this part of the world they are supreme. They have vast China in a mighty grip, their exports have increased in wild proportions, their shipyards are hives of furious industry, their fleet, paraded for the Prince's birthday, is vastly imposing, giant buildings are going up everywhere and each city has a Chamber of Commerce building of wondrous architecture, occupying whole blocks. Big sumptuous hotels abound everywhere. It is a truly amazing sight, this ebullient effulgence of a nation prosperous, so recently emerged from the dark ages. Never was such prosperity known before. Their immense palatial department stores are crowded with shoppers—and their hotel rates would make the Alexandria envious.

The county is flooded with Russian refugees—and they all have money, lots of money. The Russian rouble may be quoted at seven sen (about 3½ cents,) but they have 'em in tons. They arrive here shabby and worn, but loaded down with money and valuables—and Japan gets 'em all. Our hotel is full of 'em. Incidentally there is a marked feeling that Russia will, one day, redeem these roubles at par, so many foreigners and Japanese speculators are buying them up at the rate of $40 for $100!

MEETS MANY AMERICANS.

We have also met many Americans from Russia, notably Maj. Simmons (the hardware keen-cut man,) who is a United States Red Cross commissioner. He says there has been just enough bungling at home, just enough vacillation in Siberia, to warrant the Japanese accusations anent our collaboration with the Bolsheviki. He is on his way home now with his report, which should prove highly interesting.

I am to meet the Marquis Okuna a few days hence—too late for the mail—for an interview. The Marquis is one of the most influential men in Japan today, former Prime Minister, and has seen Japan through all her stormy progress. He is 80 years of age and is the archwise councillor.

Masculinity is supreme in Japan. Women are of no account whatever. But they are so dainty, so gentle, so competent, these women. It can't be good for the men, though, whose arrogance is in due proportion. Still, there is a woman's movement on the way. Oh, yes; there is an American college for Japanese girls in Kobe which is turning out some interesting specimens. One little lady of our happy acquaintance, who retains all the docile gentility of her race, wears clogs and kimonos and eats sitting on the floor, speaks English perfectly, is well read in our literature, has learned stenography and declines to be married in the Japanese manner. She is the "new woman," one of a growing type here, and with a vast little will of her own, though she veils it gracefully.

THE GEISHA GIRL.

She is self-supporting—and knows it joyously. Also, she is valuable to her firm—and knows that, too. Her mamma is way back in the dark ages and trembles for daughter's future. We haven't met anything more piquantly interesting than Miss Sasaya Nisimura. Not even the famous Geishas in the tea houses at Osaka, whose virtue, you understand, must not be impugned, who dress gorgeously and charge handsomely for just talking to people. They sing and dance, too, but they can be hired for mere conversational purposes and are the distinguished paid guests at the parties.

There is a lovely tale about an old American druggist here, whose pleasant duty is to pay certain allowances made to a Geisha by a prominent American, who married her sister years ago. He had a notion to pay the allowance in person on one occasion, and greatly enjoyed an afternoon's entertainment. Next day the bill was duly sent in.

The demimonde class is quite distinct from the professional Geisha, who has a settled social standing, and is entitled to be addressed as "Honorable elder sister." Every one has a fixed social standing here, and dresses accordingly. Married women have to wear their hair in a particular style, for instance, and students wear a fixed uniform. School boys wear long skirts and kimono blouses, and so on. It simplifies the fashion question considerably. Business men of certain credit may wear European clothes. But it doesn't matter how educated or progressive they are, they all retain their kimonos and sit-on-the-floor habits at home. The wealthy ones often have a "foreign room" furnished in our worst style, just as we have a weakness for oriental boudoirs—likewise in their worst style.

A JAPANESE DINNER.

We were entertained at a Japanese dinner which was entrancing but fearsome. Our shoes were removed at the door, we sat on our heels for three hours and ate raw fish, weird pickles, soups in the middle and rice as a finale, washed down with sake, which creates easy hilarity in the Japanese, but is neutral for us. The Japanese can acquire vast rakish hilarity on half a glass of beer—and do.

We are dead against government trading since we smoked the Japanese government's cigarettes. There is a duty of 240 per cent. on imported cigarettes and the government ones are vicious things. They make whisky and wine here, too, and just put any old foreign label on the bottle.

Oh, yes, and talking of whisky, the Rev. Gandier is here. When we saw his name advertised for a prohibition speech it gave us a thrill of home. Never thought I could feel so affectionate towards Mr. Gandier before. We positively gushed over him.

A very interesting condition here is the Union Church—it works well. Christians submerging their petty differences for the edification of the heathen is quite a pleasant experiment. Only the Roman Catholics stand apart and the cold fact is that they are making all the converts. Their Sunday-school is packed with Japanese children.

VISIT TEMPLES.

We have visited a few hundred temples, more or less, and have met Buddha in a thousand guises. If their shrines and the attendance is good evidence, they are a most religious people. There are Buddhas for everything—medicine Buddhas to rub when you are sick, Wisdom Buddhas, Maternity Buddhas, Lost Manhood Buddhas, Financial Buddhas, Warrior Buddhas and so forth. Old guns, decorate the temples everywhere and militancy is rampant. But that little fable about the Jap loving conscription won't bear investigation—they will play hockey like any German when they get the chance.

We saw the Diet building burned down in Tokio, but the real calamity was that a Japanese laundry that specialized in foreign washing was burned up, too.

The Tokio celebration for the Prince's birthday was gorgeous and prolonged—three days of it, and expensive decorations and arches everywhere. But the Emperor's cherry blossom party was woeful—lots of rain, no cherry blossoms and the Emperor and Empress failed to turn up! Oh, oh, oh! And to think of the intrigues to get invitations to it.

RIPPLING RHYMES.

WEATHER.

If I could run the weather for seasons two or three, a medal made of leather you'd doubtless hand to me. The climate now presented strikes us as being bad; most men are discontented and some of us are mad. When sunshine's badly needed the rain falls every day; the fields, by hard work seeded, are drowned and washed away. And when we need some water to save our oats and rye the sun gets hot and hotter and crops begin to fry. I'd get my friends together and ask for their advice, if I could run the weather just once, or maybe twice. I'd ask the honest voters, the farmers blue and tired, the weary burden-toters, to tell what they desired. I'd give them what they wanted, a cyclone or some sleet; by precedent undaunted I'd give it and repeat. The man who runs the weather sits in a tower alone and cares no fig or feather how weary mortals moan. He has no helpful system, no useful plan in force; though we have often hissed him, he goes his highbrow course; he keeps the punk sun blazing when we are needing rain, and sends the water drizzling when floods are on the plain. He combs his hangdown heather and runs things hit or miss; if I could run the weather I'd fill your lives with bliss.

WALT MASON.

KIPLING'S "BUTTON PUNCH."

When Rudyard Kipling visited the United States in 1889, en route from India to England, he tarried a while in San Francisco, and in an interesting letter to the Pioneer of India, republished in American Notes, he gives a graphic description of the compounding of a "Button Punch," which promises, if prohibition prevails, to become a lost art. After referring to the location of a certain drink dispensary, with a genial blond bartender, Kipling advises his readers:

"Go thither softly treading on the tips of your toes, and ask him for a 'button punch.' 'Twill take ten minutes to brew, but the result is the highest and noblest product of the age. No man but one knows what is in it. I have a theory it is compounded of the shavings of cherubs' wings, the glory of a tropical dawn, the red clouds of sunset and fragments of lost epics by dead masters. But try you for yourselves, and pause a while to bless me, who am always mindful of the truest interests of my brethren."

The secret of this delectable concoction is likely to be lost to posterity, but is it beyond the bounds of hope that some softer and kindlier drink of the future may attain to a like fame?

Dr. Holmes at 80 found new vistas opening in every direction, and we all know that the driest spot on earth, the desert, contains the finest mirages.—[A. J. R. in Minneapolis Journal.

Dangerous Hash.

The dangers of abbreviation are not to be sneezed at. "Poor nut," was what a western school nurse wrote on a pupil's card. The boy complained that the nurse had called him names, until it was explained to him that the nurse meant "Poor nutrition."—[Buffalo Commercial.

SAY :: THEY :: SPIED :: ON :: HER.

Wife Fights Mate's Charge of Misconduct.

Mrs. Hattie Henderson.

Mrs. Hattie Henderson, the young and attractive wife of W. R. Henderson, was not aware when she slipped on her nightie, one night last February, that she was being spied on by her husband and his two chums, Arthur Sentman and W. P. Finley. She heard all about it in Judge Monroe's court yesterday when Mr. Henderson and his chums testified as to her alleged lovemaking with Ed Buckley, a well-to-do mining man who resides near Compton.

Mr. Henderson is suing Mr. Buckley for $50,000 damages on the charge of criminal conversation. Both he and Mrs. Henderson are in court fighting the charge of misconduct.

Mr. Henderson testified yesterday that his suspicions were aroused, and he took his chums to Mr. Buckley's house one February night, and peeked through the windows. There, he testified, the young men saw Mrs. Henderson in her nightie; saw her turn off the light in her room and enter the room of Mr. Buckley; and they repeated to the jury what they saw until the light there was turned off, and what they heard afterward. Mr. Henderson said he did not interfere because "I wanted to see everything so that my chums could testify in this action."

The defense will be that as Mr. Buckley's housekeeper, Mrs. Henderson having separated from her husband, her conduct was not unseemly. It was his alleged cruel treatment, Mrs. Henderson says, that caused her to leave her husband. Many witnesses have been summoned to testify in the case, which is being heard by a jury that includes several women. The trial will be continued today.

FOURTEEN GRADUATE AT WESTLAKE SCHOOL.

HONOR OWN POETS THIS YEAR AT COMMENCEMENT SEASON EXERCISES.

Fourteen girls were given diplomas, yesterday, at the fifteenth annual commencement exercises of the Westlake School for Girls, in the school auditorium. The names of the graduates follow: Barbara Jane Neuner, Grace Marie Accola, Reina Florence Stovall, Daisy Canfield Danziger, Gladys May Rhodes, Lillian Belle Miller, Helen Cornelia Leidenger, Ruth Philleo, Alice Guendolyn Stevenson, Mildred Ahrens, Janice Martin, Lurah Spangler, Ruth Ann Sheafer and Lucile Marie Wells.

Miss Daisy Danziger, who had never attended any other school, received a special token of the affections of the principals, at the commencement exercises, the programme of which follows:

Music—Hymnus (Arthur Hartmann), Zoellner Quartette. Invocation—Dean William MacCormack. Music—(a) Lullaby (Charles S. Skilton); (b) Canzonetta (Mendelssohn), Zoellner Quartette. Address—"The Morale of the Student," Frederica de Laguna. Presentation of Diplomas. Music—Intermezzo from "Shanewis" (Charles Wakefield Cadman,) Zoellner Quartette. Westlake, this year, honored its own poets as a part of the commencement season observances. The programme follows: "Hail, Westlake, Hail," music and words by Mrs. Charles Miller (formerly Helen Fenner;) "A Humble Tribute to My Master Shakespeare," and "The Desert," Mrs. George Seeley Pelton (formerly Luella Forrester,) read by Miss Nancy Root; "The Boat," by Miss Ruth Woodcock, read by Miss Kathryn Burgner; "To Robert Browning," by Mrs. Dean Sherry (formerly Nina Scipio,) read by Miss Sarah Long; "San Juan Capistrano," by Mrs. O. Trent, (formerly Dorothy Parkinson,) read by Miss Ruth Philleo; "An Idyll," by Miss Florence Lewis; "Moonlight Charm," by Miss Margaret Smith, read by Miss Dorothy Hilmes, and a group of songs, composed by Miss Elinor Warren, sung by Miss Ruth Hutchinson.

FEWER NORMAL CERTIFICATES.

Graduation, However, at State School will be Notable.

Over Thousand Alumni will be at Home-Coming.

Greek Play, Exhibits, Simple Dresses to be Features.

The faculty and student body of the Los Angeles State Normal School (which, on July 21, will become the Los Angeles branch of the University of California) are preparing for the most interesting graduation celebration in the history of the institution, beginning with the home-coming day for the alumni next Saturday and closing with the presentation of diplomas, Friday, June 20. This June the State Normal is thirty-eight years old and this marks the fifth year of work in the new buildings at the corner of Monroe street and Heliotrope drive. Members of the faculty said yesterday that while, on account of the war and because the standard of examinations has been higher, there will be only 250 members of the graduating class, in comparison with nearly 350 for last year, those who receive diplomas will be exceptionally well equipped for the great work of educating the youth of California. In the entire graduating class, only about ten are men, most of them being service men, several of whom obtained commissions in the army.

More than 1000 of the 7000 members of the alumni are expected to be present at the school on home-coming day, Saturday, June 14, this date having been chosen in order that the hundreds of teachers, scattered all over the State, may have an opportunity to attend. Instead of the regular Saturday and Sunday vacation, the students of the school will be given Sunday and Monday "off." On Saturday the regular classes will be conducted from 8:15 a.m. to 1:55 p.m., with special work in several of the departments. Exhibits will be open all day, and the work of the students in art, millinery, sewing, cooking, leather, brass and clay work will be shown to members of the alumni and to other friends of the school. The alumni meeting will be held between 1 and 2 p.m., the annual election of officers will take place and Dr. E. C. Moore, president of the school, will outline the future plans of the institution. The present president of the Alumni Association is Miss Helen Matthewson, who is also dean of women at the school. A feature of the alumni meeting will be the retirement from active duty by Miss Harriett E. Dunn, who has been teaching in the State Normal for thirty-five years. At 2:15 o'clock, Saturday, students of the drama class will give their first performance of "The Trojan Women," a thrilling little war play written by Senor Euripides only twenty-three centuries ago. However, the drama will probably be new to a great many of the spectators, since very few of Mr. Euripides's plays have been produced since he wrote them, and also because of the fact that the State Normal is the only school in the United States in which a Greek play is annually presented by the students. The entertainment to be staged under the direction of Miss Evelyn Thomas, teacher of drama, the stage settings having been disgned by the school of fine arts, the customs made by the school of home economics, the music to be assembled and rendered by the school of music. The play will be repeated next Tuesday and Wednesday evenings. The big cast of fifty includes Russel Sloan, as Poseidon; Bonnie Barbarick as Athena, Ruth Fish as Hecuba, Nell Burke as Andromach, Mignon McCurda as Astyanax, Theresa Daze as Helen Milton Monroe as Menelaus, and John McManus as Talthybius.

The programme of the commencement exercises, at 10 o'clock Friday morning, June 20, will begin with the processional across the campus and into Millspaugh Hall. Music will be rendered by the Glee Club, Dr. Carl S. Patton will deliver the address of the occasion and Dr. Moore will present the diplomas. Only the regulation simple white dress will be worn by the young ladies—both the faculty and the student body having "talked things over" and decided that, while millions of people in the world are in actual need of ordinary clothing and food, it is not a time for extravagance.

RIVETER DROPS SUIT.

World Champion Had Asked Divorce, Alleging Wife Coquetted.

With the principals to the action both absent, the divorce suit of Henry Schluter, Jr., world's champion riveter, called in Judge Taft's court yesterday, was dismissed when the attorneys stated Mr. Schluter was in Portland, Or., and did not intend to press the suit, and Mrs. Jesse Schluter sent word she would not be in court. The suit was filed by Mr. Schluter, and based on the alleged flirtations of Mrs. Schluter.

Mr. Schluter, after making his record as a riveter, met President Wilson. Later he became a four-minute man, and talked to shipyard workers at San Pedro.

HE SAW 'EM FIRST.

Wife Getting Divorce Tells Why Sailor Husband Fled.

Mrs. Maggie Swanson, who met, fell in love with and married Robert C. Swanson, a sailor on a ship in Admiral Bob Evans's fleet at the time it sailed around the Horn, told of her sad awakening, when Judge Crail tried her divorce case, yesterday. Mr. Swanson obtained shore leave at San Pedro and met his bride-to-be. They were married November 24, 1908.

Two months later two men came to the house inquiring for him. He was home, but the men did not find him, as he had slipped out of the back door. The men told Mrs. Swanson that her husband was a deserter. Year after year went by, with Mrs. Swanson hoping that her husband would return, but she finally grew weary and filed suit for divorce. Judge Crail granted the decree.

LONG LODGE SESSION.

Railroader Left for One Year, So Lone Wife Gets Divorce.

Mrs. Delpha Nolan did not object to her husband, William C. Nolan, a railroad man, going to lodge if he had only told her why he stayed out so late. They had a quarrel. He told her he would go to lodge the next night, and she replied:

"Go on, then."

In Judge Houser's court yesterday Mrs. Nolan, in divorce proceedings, said her husband left home and she did not see him for a year. He then refused to return to her and she filed suit for divorce. The decree was granted.

An alluring glimpse into our newly-completed French room for displaying lingerie.

THE sketch herewith beautifully conveys an adequate idea of our latest addition to a floor of our establishment already the admiration of everyone who sees it—from both the standpoints of beauty and of efficiency.

IT IS in keeping with the desire of this store to provide absolutely everything in the way of comfort and convenience for those who honor us with their patronage, that this little room has been installed here.

HERE mildali may, in privacy and in the height of comfort, select elegant, handmade and hand-sewn lingerie from America, from France, from the Philippine Islands—representative assortments from each — a single garment, or an entire TROUSSEAU, as suits her fancy or her exigency.

AND the lingerie fittingly comports with its luxurious surroundings, of QUALITY unquestioned; of quantity ample; and of price most attractive—much of it having arbitrarily been marked at lower figures during our June Sales of Lingerie now in progress, to which we most cordially invite you.

SKY PILOT IS CROSS WINNER.

He Refused to Leave Wounded After Being Gassed.

Buried Ninety-first Men on Argonne Battlefield.

Capt. Roberts Williams, one of the few men in American history to have been commissioned a chaplain from the ranks, and who was recommended for the Distinguished Service Cross by his commander, Lieut.-Col. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., for refusing to leave his wounded comrades, after he had been gassed in the fighting near Soissons, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday to visit with Mrs. Nancy A. Cowan and other friends at 200 North Rampart boulevard.

Chaplain Williams came here from Chicago, in which city he and his parents have lived for some years, but the Williams family really belongs to Southern California, having lived in Orange County for fifteen years. Chaplain Williams intends to locate in Los Angeles permanently and to bring all his relatives "back into the fold of the glorious Southland."

Capt. Roberts Williams.

Chaplain Williams enlisted in Chicago, two years ago, as a private in the Seventeenth Engineers and soon afterward was commissioned a chaplain. He had been a divinity student before. Immediately afterward he was sent to the trenches, where, with the First Division, he spent forty-four days in the fighting on the Picardy front, which ended in the capture of Cantigny, the first planned American offensive. Again he went into the fray at the pivot of Marshal Foch's counter-attack toward Soissons to cut the Soissons-Chateau Thierry railroad which supplied the Germans in the Marne salient. It was during this battle that he was gassed and here it was that "sky pilot's" commander cited him for bravery. In this attack the First Division lost fifty-four per cent. of its enlisted men and sixty-two per cent. of its officers. In the Argonne Forest the First Division relieved the Thirty-fifth Division. Chaplain Williams also spent three months in Germany, his unit having been engaged in outpost duty twenty miles from the Rhine in Hunland. In all, Chaplain Williams conducted funeral services over the bodies of 500 American soldiers.

"Our division fought in the same part of the Argonne Forest as did the famous Ninety-first Division," said Rev. Williams, "and I helped to bury scores of our dear California soldiers. The only way that I knew they were from California was that I found in their pockets many pictures and other keepsakes that I recognized as having come from the Southland."

Chaplain Williams, who was lately made a captain, warmly praises Lieut.-Col. Roosevelt, who, he says, after he had been wounded in the knee at Soissons, was so eager to rejoin his regiment that he appeared, while he was still limping, and led the Twenty-sixth Infantry into the Argonne Forest drive, and later into Germany, after which he returned to Paris to undergo an operation.

THE POLICE FORCE OF THE BODY

DAY and night—without ceasing—a struggle is going on in your body between the germs of disease and the white blood corpuscles—the police force of the human body.

Constipation is the most common and dangerous way of corrupting the human police force. Food waste remains too long in the intestines—decays—poisons the blood—and opens the way for attack by the germs that cause tuberculosis, diphtheria, pneumonia and a multitude of other ills.

The culpable habit of using salts, pills, mineral waters, castor oil, etc., to force the bowels to move, makes this condition even worse, as constipation returns almost immediately.

Nujol is entirely different from drugs as it does not force or irritate the bowels.

Nujol prevents stagnation by softening the food waste and encouraging the intestinal muscles to act naturally, thus removing the cause of constipation and self-poisoning. It is absolutely harmless and pleasant.

REALTY BOARD HITS WESTLAKE FACTORY.

ANOTHER PROTEST AGAINST "INDUSTRIAL INVASION." HEARING TODAY.

The Public Welfare Committee of the City Council will have a public hearing at 11 o'clock this forenoon, in the Council chamber, on the application to have the property at Westlake avenue and Orange street set aside from the residential district, for use for a shirtwaist factory.

The Governing Committee of the Los Angeles Realty Board, yesterday filed with the City Clerk the following resolutions:

"Whereas, the Governing Committee of the Los Angeles Realty Board is in favor of the adoption of suitable ordinances necessary to protect the residential sections of the city from commercial enterprises, and

"Whereas there is now pending before the City Council of the city of Los Angeles a petition requesting permission to erect and maintain a factory for the manufacture of wearing apparel in the immediate vicinity of Westlake avenue and Orange street, and

"Whereas a movement is on foot to present a similar petition to said City Council, requesting permission to erect and maintain a warehouse in the immediate vicinity of Wilshire boulevard and Western avenue, therefore be it

"Resolved that the Governing Committee of the Los Angeles Realty Board hereby opposes and protests the granting of either of said or similar petitions, which, if granted, will permit the creation of industrial or commercial districts in those parts of Los Angeles now devoted to homes or used for residential purposes, and be it

"Resolved that a copy of this resolution be sent to the clerk of the City Council and to each member thereof, to the Mayor, the Superintendent of Buildings, the City Attorney and to such other persons as it may concern."

VOTE ON WATER.

Hansen Heights will Consider Bonding for Supply.

An ordinance calling a special election in municipal district No. 9—the Hansen Heights territory—was adopted by the City Council yesterday. This election will be held on the 24th inst., and it will be on a proposition to authorize the issuance of $150,000 bonds for the installation of a water system, to be supplied from the Maclay high line of the Los Angeles aqueduct. The territory to be supplied lies on the northeasterly slopes of the San Fernando Valley. The proposed system will comprise approximately twenty-three miles of pipe lines.

COURT BELIEVES ALL LOVERS LIE.

Piquant Interlude to Hughes' Domestic Troubles.

Wife Says She was Told Toga Would be Groom's.

Presiding Judge Weller yesterday heard argument on the demurrer of Thomas Hughes, maker of Governors and millionaires, to the amended complaint of his wife, Gertrude Osmun Hughes, who is suing to recover $500,000 in property he agreed to give her under a pre-nuptial contract. Thomas K. Case, counsel for Mrs. Hughes, argued that Mr. Hughes deceived his wife by declaring that he would lose the United States Senatorship if she did not marry him and he would be ruined politically.

Judge Weller held that Mr. Case's construction would lead to a very dangerous proposition.

"Do you suppose," he said, "the man ever lived who, when he proposed, did not lie?"

The question raised in the case was a very nice one which the court took under submission. It was whether what is set up as fraud is such a fraud that it would take it out of the statutes of fraud. The pre-nuptial contract is within the statutes of fraud.

George P. Adams, attorney for Mr. Hughes, said he could not pound the table as hard as Mr. Case, and then proceeded verbally to shatter Mr. Case's argument. William Cullom, the brother of Mrs. Hughes, was a spectator in court.

THOUSANDS ATTEND FETE IN HOLLYWOOD.

ROYAD ITALIAN BAND GIVES FINE CONCERTS—NOTABLE ARTISTS APPEARING.

Thousands are attending the Royal Italian Band concerts at Hollywood this week. Besides the splendid programme, famous artists are being featured each evening. Tonight Margaret McKee, Hollywood's own artist, will whistle two numbers. The Denishawn dancers will be the special attraction for tomorrow evening.

The concerts are free and several hundred chairs have been arranged for those not wishing to sit in their automobiles. The festival, which will be continued next week, is creating a delightful community spirit and an intivation is extended to the residents in other parts of the city to attend.

The evening concerts are given from 8 to 10 o'clock at Hollywood boulevard and Sycamore, and at Cahuenga and Selma at 3 o'clock. Today dodgers will be distributed from Broadway and Seventh and the one who gathers the largest number will have the honor of leading the band tonight.

POPULAR LAWYER CALLED BY DEATH.

ATTORNEY STEWART, HONORED IN LOS ANGELES COUNTY, LONG BEEN ILL.

Attorney Frank Stewart, for more than ten years prominent in public service in Los Angeles and Santa Monica, died Tuesday night after a protracted illness, at his home, 913 Sixth street, Santa Monica. He was for several years assistant United States District Attorney, and had practiced law in Los Angeles for a number of years.

Mr. Stewart was one of the most popular men in Santa Monica. He was prominent in the activities of the Young Men's City Club here, and was at one time Exalted Ruler of the Elks in the Santa Monica Bay Lodge. He died at the age of 39. He leaves a widow and two children. Funeral services will be held from the Elks' Lodge 906, at 2:30 Saturday afternoon. The body is held at the Kirkelie & Co. undertaking establishment, and will be cremated at the Rosedale Crematory.

GIRL VANISHES AFTER THREAT.

Dramatic Disappearance is Staged by Miss.

But When Ambulance Arrives She Can't be Found.

Considerable mystery surrounds the disappearance last night of Ethel Underhill of No. 1120 East Twelfth street after she is said to have swallowed a quantity of corrosive sublimate while her father was telephoning the Receiving Hospital for an ambulance. According to Mr. Underhill, he found a note written by his daughter which said that, as she was considered no good, she was going to kill herself. While he was reading the note he heard a loud crash in the hall. Opening the door he saw the girl lying seemingly unconscious in the hall and frothing at the mouth. Dragging her into the room Mr. Underhill went to the telephone in the next room to summon assistance. When he returned the girl had disappeared. When Ambulance Driver Wilson arrived a thorough search of the neighborhood was made, but no trace of the girl was found. She had a bottle of poison.

Another case of poisoning was reported at the Receiving Hospital late last night when E. H. Perry of No. 310 North Broadway was given emergency treatment by Dr. Zorb after he had taken several bichloride of mercury tablets in his home. He was discovered by his father who notified the hospital. According to the elder Perry his son has been drinking heavily of late, and that he will today sign a complaint against his son in order that he can be committed to the psycopathic ward of the County Hospital for the liquor cure.

CORPORATIONS CAN'T DEDUCT CHARITIES.

Collector of Internal Revenue John P. Carter made the following announcement yesterday:

The opinion of the Internal Revenue Bureau, as set out in the income tax regulations, to the effect that contributions made by corporations are not deductible from gross income, has been sustained by an opinion of the Attorney-General. Accordingly, the disallowance of contributions made by corporations is not subject to bona-fide claim for abatement.

The Commissioner of Internal Revenue further states that such claim will be automatically rejected and penalty of 5 per cent. of the deficiency imposed. Corporations that knowingly deduct contributions in violation of the regulations may also incur penalty of 50 per cent. of the tax for filing false or fraudulent returns.

WILL CONFER ABOUT OFFICERS' SALARIES.

OLD AND NEW COUNCILMEN IN QUANDARY; DEMANDS MANY, BUT REVENUE LIMITED.

The Budget Committee of the City Council began its formal sessions yesterday afternoon, and will continue sitting daily at 1:30 o'clock until its work is completed.

An invitation had been extended to new members of the Council to sit with this committee daily, but yesterday the only response was that of Boyle Workman.

The difficulties confronting the committee were reviewed and it was shown that nearly $2,000,000 must be cut from the estimates of department heads for the coming fiscal year in order to come within the estimated receipts. On top of this there was a big file of requests for increases of salaries, that would aggregate more than $700,000.

It was determined that the first step to be taken must be a conference with the Council-elect, and the reaching of an understanding as to what policy shall be pursued in the readjustment of salaries of municipal employees.

The total estimated requirements for running the city during the next fiscal year are $11,276,607.35, while the estimated receipts are $9,264,246.35. Last year the receipts from license fees amounted to $821,121.67, but the estimate of income from this source for the coming year is placed at $650,000.

The Budget Committee has set tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock for a consideration of the readjustment of licenses.

SAID FRIEND GAVE HIM STOLEN RUGS.

Elliott Loman, 30 years of age, a salesman, was arrested late yesterday afternoon by Police Detectives Harris and Rich while attempting to dispose of about $400 worth of stolen rugs. The rugs, according to the police, were taken some time ago from the Cala Myrna Rug Company. Loman, who is being held on a charge of grand larceny, told the police the rugs were given him by a friend.

LOS ANGELES SUNDAY TIMES TEN CENTS.

Commencing June 15, the price of the Sunday edition of the Los Angeles Times will be 10 cents per copy everywhere, when sold by newsboys or news dealers.

Delivered by carrier, the subscription rate will be 40 cents a month for the Sunday Only edition.

The regular subscription rate for The Times, daily and Sunday, by carrier, will continue at 85 cents per month.

The cost of white paper, labor and all the items entering into the production of a metropolitan newspaper have materially advanced in cost and, in order to maintain quality and volume, the price of 10 cents per copy on the streets and at news stands has been fixed.

This is a consistent rate, inasmuch as the price of the local Sunday papers outside of Los Angeles and the ten-mile limit has been 10 cents for several months. The same rate is now made to apply to the city.

San Francisco and Oakland publishers announce that the price of Sunday editions will be 10 cents per copy beginning June 15.

OSTEOPATHISTS IN RELAXATION.

Welcome Mothers with Babies to Today's Show.

Delegates to be Guests at Local Graduation.

The delegates of the convention of the California Osteopathic Association in session this week at the Gamut Clubhouse took a day off yesterday and enjoyed a twenty-five-mile automobile sightseeing drive throughout Los Angeles and vicinity. The ride ended at the mouth of Santa Monica Canyon, where a barbecue and party was held last night. More than seventy-five automobiles took the trip and but few delegates failed to attend.

The baby show will be conducted at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Dr. Gladys Morgan of San Diego will be in charge and twelve visiting osteopaths will be chosen as judges. Standard National Association score cards will be issued and all mothers are invited to attend with their babies.

At 4 o'clock the annual election of officers will be held following the regular business session. The convention today will discuss "The Liver Surgically Considered." Dr. W. Curtis Brigham and Dr. Ernest Bashor, both of this city, will be in charge of the discussions. The speakers will be Drs. T. C. Young, L. D. Reeks, W. V. Goodfellow, E. B. Jones, N. G. Stewart and L. T. White.

Graduation exercises of the College of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons will be held at the Gamut Club House at 8 o'clock tonight. Dr. Robert W. Bowling will be chairman. Addresses will be made by the following osteopaths: William Horace Ivy of Berkeley, C. J. Gaddis of Oakland, Harry W. Forbes of Los Angeles, Gladys Morgan of San Diego, W. W. Vanderburgh of San Francisco, Lillian M. Whiting of Los Angeles, Arthur T. Seymour of Stockton. Mrs. Gale Milis Dimmett and the Orpheus Four will sing.

The clinics will be opened all morning as usual at the College of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons in the San Fernando Building. The convention will close Saturday afternoon.

BOYS BEAT GIRLS.

Show Greater Ments' Powers in Essay Contests, Says Teacher.

Boy students at Hollywood High School possess greater mental powers than the girls at that institution, according to the announcement made yesterday by Assistant Principal Hughes in making public the prize winners in the the essay contests recently held under the auspices of the Board of Education. In three of four contests, boy students captured the prizes, one girl student saving the feminine contestants from being wholly outclassed by their boy rivals by winning a gold medal.

Adrian Head won the first prize of $50 given by Barker Bros. for his essay on "Los Angeles Forward;" while Alice Jenkins won the second prize of $5. The first prize of $20 in the Chamber of Commerce contest on "How We Can Best Serve Our Community," went to Lawrence Cooper; second prize of $10, to Granville Smart; third, $5, to Dorothy Pohlman. William Roberts, Hervey Porter and Marjorie Potter won $1 prizes. The Victory Loan contest prize of $20 was captured by Granville Smart, while Nelson Valjean took second prize and $10 Barbara Burks won the gold medal awarded by the National Society of Colonial Daughters for her essay on civic loyalty. Adrian Head was presented with the gold medal for winning first place in the recent Southern California debating championship.

OUT ON LOWER BAIL.

Man Accused by Clerk of Taking Guest's Money is Released.

Bail for Robert W. Haddon, a mining engineer and member of the Royal Colonial Institute, accused of grand larceny in connection with the peculiar disappearance of an envelope containing $950 from the Clark Hotel, was reduced yesterday by Justice Forbes from $2000 to $1000. Bail was furnished and Haddon was released, pending his hearing on Friday.

The money, according to information given the District Attorney's office, was placed in an envelope by David A. Lewis, representative of the Ural Mountains Navigation and Mining Company, Ltd., of London, and handed to a clerk in Haddon's presence. The next morning a man, who a clerk claims was Haddon, called and got the money.

PASS-KEY BURGLARS ROB APARTMENTS.

Clothing valued at $700, jewelry worth $200, four revolvers and two rifles were stolen yesterday afternoon when pass-key burglars entered two apartments in the Denzel Hotel, 826 South Hope street, and after loading three suit cases with their loot escaped without anyone noticing their operations, according to a report made to Detective Herman Cline and Syd Hickock last night. Those visited by the burglars were E. C. Cain and Max Posen.

AT HIS OLD TRICKS.

Local "Jim the Penman" Again Gets Into Law's Clutches.

Charged with having passed over $1500 worth of fictitious checks during the past two months, W. P. Higgins, 40 years of age, a metal worker, was arrested yesterday by Police Detectives Walborn, Reed and McCarron at Stephenson and Lorena avenues, where he was attempting to negotiate another worthless piece of paper.

According to the police, Higgins, who made a full confession following his arrest, was released from prison about three months ago, after serving a sentence for forgery. He was first arrested in this city a number of years ago by Nick Harris detectives after having floated a large number of checks in downtown department stores.

BRAND WOMEN WITH KISSES.

Los Angeles Shriners Have Captured Indianapolis.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

INDIANAPOLIS, June 11.—A dazzling parade tonight, participated in by all the bands, patrols, drum corps and other uniformed units and nobles of the various temples of the United States, featured the day's programme of the North American gathering of the Arabic Order, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine. Members of the order declared that the big event tonight was the most brilliant affair ever staged by the organization. The line of march was walled by tens of thousands of spectators, who poured into the city from all parts of Indiana and surrounding States, beginning at an early hour this morning.

Al Malaikah Temple Shriners of Los Angeles made a great showing in the parade and were greeted by continuous cheers along the entire line of march.

PARADE ENDS DAY.

The parade was the windup of an eventful day for the Los Angeles Shriners. They were up with the sun this morning, devising more "stunts" and pranks. Everything is taken in good humor, and anything a Shriner "pulls" goes without question. They have taken the Hoosier metropolis by storm and own the old town. One striking example is at the great fountain at the monument on the circle. Ordinarily, it would be a heavy fine even to dip your foot into it, but now it is being used as a bathing pool by the frolickers. There are other examples too numerous to mention, including B.V.D. specialties and the like.

Branding the pretty cheeks of the women Shriners and guests with kisses and beauty spots cut to resemble a camel was one of the favorite pastimes of the nobles today. The beauty spots were similar to those placed on the cheeks by followers of the ultra-feminine vogues, and much amusement resulted during the branding process. The nobles referred to the operation as placing the official seal upon the women's cheeks, and the appearance of a woman brought forth the cry: "Attention! nobles! Another candidate."

HOLD IMPROMPTU DANCES.

Although there are scores of bands here representing temples in every section of the United States and Canada, the band of the Al Malaikah Temple is carrying off more than its share of the honors. The Los Angeles Shriners are liberal with their music and don't have to be coaxed to play. In making the rounds to the various hotel lobbies, they have been called upon for dance music and the instant they strike up the Shriners about grab partners — no matter whose sweetheart she may be—and a full-fledged dance is on.

The Al Malaikah Temple Band made a trip through a number of the large department stores this afternoon and the clerks were forced to suspend business, as they were lifted over counters as dance partners. The aisles served as dance floors. There is not a band nor patrol in Indianapolis having more fun than the Los Angeles Shriners and they all appear to be "live wires" from the word go.

SILVERWOOD GETS OVATION.

"The noblest Noble of them all" was the affectionate appellation by which members of Al Malaikah Temple of Los Angeles designated F. B. Silverwood, better known among Pacific Coast Shriners as "Daddy" Silverwood. When he arrived with the Los Angeles delegation he was met by a group of friends who hung a wreath of Portland roses about his neck and escorted him in triumph to imperial headquarters at the Claypool Hotel. "Daddy" has a face as characterful as that of the lamented John Bunny and, his friends say, a heart as big as a bass drum. He is a millionaire, so it is said, with numerous interests along the Coast all the way from California to Oregon. He is the author of a song, entitled "I Love You, California," which is being featured by the Al Malaikah Band.

All the while the Los Angeles Shriners have been putting California on the map the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce has been whooping it up. A truck loaded with Southern California oranges made a trip through the crowded downtown district today and hundreds of oranges were showered upon the bystanders.

COTTON COMPRESS TOUR.

J. G. Ludlow, harbor engineer, will leave today for Houston, Dallas, New Orleans and other southern cities, to inspect cotton compressing plants and gather information of value to the Harbor Commission in planning for the high density cotton compress which is to be erected at the harbor and operated as a public utility.

AT BARKER BROS.

SPORTS MOTORING FILMLAND DRAMA

FROM SUB BASE TO BASEBALL.

From the Submarine Base to baseball is the great transaction which is about to take place in the lives of Walter Jackson, stockholder in the Vernon club; Bobby Meusel, outfielder of the Tigers, and Herb Hunter of the Seals.

It was announced last night at baseball headquarters that the three will be discharged from the service today and that the players will join their clubs at once. Hunter recently was given a furlough to visit his folks in the East. Before starting he allowed himself to be talked into staying on the Coast and playing with the Seals during this furlough. This got him in bad and it looked for a time that he might be sent to the East Coast for service. He was court-martialed, and got by with a small fine.

Fournier registered the first hit off Arlett in the fourth, with two gone. It was a high bounder, which Buzz knocked down, instead of leaving it for Bill Stumpf, who was crouched in the background. Jack stole second. Mitze and Arlett held a council of war in the center of the diamond, at which it was decided not to pass Crawford. Sam, realizing this, fled to Willie.

Both Pertica and Arlett pitched ball which would win in any league if the other side didn't make any runs. Few such soul-stirring exhibitions have been witnessed here this season. Of the two, Arlett had the edge, all except one of the hits off him being flukey. Pertica's delivery was hit just hard enough to make stars out of the fielders, and they never faltered. Rube Ellis played almost a third of the game in left field, having no less than eight putouts, one of which was very difficult. It's hard to beat Rube as a fielder.

The Oaks changed their caps, discarding the white ones, deeply stained with hair oil and honest perspiration, and, donning caps of navy blue. This not only changed their luck, but seemed to strengthen their intellects, which did not seem to be very strong on Tuesday. Yesterday there was perfect co-ordination between mind and muscle, and they seldom failed to execute any of their well-laid plans. The theory is that the navy-blue caps, suggesting one of the seven seas or more with cool breezes blowing, tended to soothe their minds, and prevent them from developing any hot boxes in their mental machinery. But for this, there is little doubt that the cogs in their heads would have become redhot from rapid thinking. One could hear them thinking, but it was done so smoothly that it sounded like the purr of a young motor which has not yet developed carbon or cracked any cylinders. Del

GOLFERS ARE NOW TIED UP.

Hagen and Brady Now Have an Even Score.

Will Play Eighteen Holes for Title Today.

Tremendous Gallery is Witness of Close Play.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WEST NEWTON (Mass.) June 11.—Michael King Brady, a black-haired homebred, with the breath of Ireland in his name, had just turned in a score of 301 for the seventy-two holes of open championship playing. Standing on the final tee of the final round, after a magnificent dash up to this point, Walter Hagen, another powerful homebred, needed a 4 to tie and a 3 to win. His score here was 277 strokes for seventy-one holes. The eighteenth hole at Braeburn is 400 yards long, winding out through a valley uphill to a sloping green. Today, as Hagen stood on the last tee, it was doubly fringed—fringed with the Braeburn oaks and maples, and fringed with over 5000, who formed two complete human walls from the tee to the green.

Then Hagen crashed into his tee shot. He tore into it like a Jimmy Braid battling for the honor of Scotland's thistle against the English rose. For 250 yards the ball carried as straight for the pin as if a Tennessee rifleman had been firing the shot. With this start under way, Hagen then followed with a wonderful iron that almost lost itself against the late June sky before it dropped with terrific backspin exactly ten feet from the cup. The mighty cheer that followed might have been welcoming the winning run in a world series.

As Hagen came up to the green for his bid to win, the crowd surged around in such proportions that he could barely scramble through. One ten-foot putt and he achieved the miraculous feat of overhauling a five-stroke lead, rather, of playing the last six difficult Braeburn holes in two under fours.

As Hagen stepped on the green another salvo greeted his two fine shots, and when he saw his ball but ten feet away he turned and asked:

"Oh, where is Mike?"

He hit the putt firmly and it ran straight for the cup, struck the back of the tin with a thud—and then popped out.

It is for this reason that Mike Brady and Walter Hagen play off an eighteen-hole battle Thursday morning to decide who will be the next open champion of America in place of Chick Evans, who now holds one section of his double title.

The day's draw is the seventh tie for the open title since Alex Smith and Willie Anderson were knotted together some eighteen years ago. And it was one of the most spectacular of them all in view of the mighty bid that Hagen made after he had hooked his tee shot out of bounds in the afternoon at the twelfth hole. This mistake had apparently left him in a hopeless position, but the 1918 winner, in place of weakening, girded himself up for an extra-powered assault that carried him safely through to even terms.

Mike, by returning a fine 73 in the morning round, led Walter Hagen and the field by five well-earned strokes. Hagen had taken a 75. So, starting the afternoon trudge over hills and hollows, Brady's count was 221 for the first fifty-four holes against 225 for Hagen, his most formidable opponent.

With a final eighteen holes to go and five strokes to the good, Mike soon began to slip and skid under the pace-setting strain. You can rave all you want to about coming from behind, but it is front running that tears hardest into the nerves.

On the third he plunked his second short to a trap, chipped five feet away and got his par in a fine recovery.

If Mike should lose Thursday he can attribute the extra stroke this afternoon to a golden-winged butterfly. He made a fine second to the green and his approach putt left him eighteen inches from the pin. Then, just as he settled to tap the ball in with the putter on the upward swing, the butterfly lit gently on top of the ball, acting in the belief that it had discovered a white blossom on the green. Mike checked his stroke, chased the intruder away and then, beginning all over, missed the putt. That eighteen-inch butterflyed putt kept him from being open champion tonight. He had the next two holes in par through steady golf, but slipped at the seventh with his iron a trifle short and slipped again at the ninth where he topped his tee shot. He was out in 39 still safe enough with steady golf coming home. The 490-yard tenth was a barricade of disaster. His second shot caught a trap. He failed to get out with his niblick try, merged on his fourth shot and, finally needed a seven for this hole, a heart-breaking starter on the decisive journey. A twenty foot saved a topped second at the eleventh but he took three putts again at the thirteenth and fifteenth greens. A sliced tee shot under a Braeburn apple tree cost him another at the sixteenth and here, with a championship in his brawny grip he was about to fritter away by trying to play every shot too safe. At seventeenth Mike rallied with a prodigious tee shot of 255 yards that left him a twelve-footer for a two which he missed by an inch. A fine four at the eighteenth gave him an 80, leaving a total of 301 for the seventy-two holes.

Speaking of the Price of Eggs.

Here's something that's higher up than hen fruit. This is Cy Falkenberg, the only man in the Coast League who can stand in the pitcher's box and spit over the grand stand. Cy, who is drawing pay from Oakland at the present time, stands 6 feet 6½ inches tall in his undershirt and can throw a ball past the plate so fast that the wind from it gives the batter a cold in the head.

MAY STAGE YOUNG WORLD'S SERIES.

FATTY ARBUCKLE WILLING TO PIT VERNON AGAINST A.A. CLUB.

As president of the Vernon ball club, Roscoe ("Fatty") Arbuckle, yesterday addressed letters to the presidents of all clubs in the American Association, with an idea of arranging a Class A world series, in the event Vernon should win the Coast League pennant next fall.

Mr. Arbuckle was very enthusiastic when seen yesterday. He said:

"We are climbing the ladder, you observe, and it only bears out what I said when I took over the club. I don't think there is anything to stop us. All we need now is what Bill Essick has in mind in the shape of new pitchers, and we can do the trick. If the Vernon team were in the National or American League it would certainly give a fine account of itself before the season closed.

"I understand that Mr. McGill, the president of the Indianapolis club, is in Los Angeles, and that he has signified his willingness to cross bats with either of the Los Angeles clubs, should the pennant stick in this city. To show you my heart's in the right place, I will cover any losses of a financial nature that may occur should the Indianapolis team or any other club in the American Association come out here to play Vernon.

"Although I am a busy man, I have not neglected my club, and I am continually trying to make it more efficient. I can't see all the games, because my film enterprise won't permit of it, otherwise I would be on the grounds daily. In this connection, I am sorry that it has been announced several times that I would attend when I could not possibly be present. In each case such a statement was not authorized.

"When it comes to rooting, however, I'm the best little simon-pure dyed-in-the-wool, get-there-or-bust rooter there is in this or any other town. I want Vernon to bring home the bacon all wrapped up in the pennant—not for the money, not for the publicity to myself, but for the boost it will give this little old town where I got my first start.

BOWLING TOURNEY IS TO CLOSE.

The losing teams in the bowling tournament just ended in the Y.M.C.A. bowling alleys, gave a supper in honor of the winning teams, at the cafeteria, last night. Short talks were made by some of the association secretaries and bowlers, after which ten prizes were presented, both for individual and team prizes. There were six three-men teams in this contest, which has been running for ten weeks, and was one of the most successful tournaments ever conducted on the alleys. Plans have been made for a duck pin tournament, to be started within the next few days.

PIONEER ROAD BOOSTER HERE.

Completing a transcontinental trip from Lansing, Mich., to Los Angeles, J. W. Leavitt, pioneer automobile man, who is known from coast to coast as a good roads booster, arrived here yesterday and launched at once into the campaign for the good roads bonds.

"There never was a time when good roads are so badly needed as today," said Leavitt, "and I am thoroughly convinced that every business man, every farmer, every merchant and every automobile man should devote his energies to the work of securing the passage of the road bond issue."

Challenger not Worrying About Jess' Southpaw.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

TOLEDO (O.) June 11.—A man does not need to be up a tree to see that left hand of Jess Willard is intended as a forceful weapon in his encounter for the title with Jack Dempsey on July 4 at Bayview Park. Watching the champion today as he "played" with his sparring partners at the Casino was convincing evidence of that fact.

Willard passed most of the afternoon in horseplay, but when he wasn't kidding his helpers he was shooting left jabs which landed with accuracy on the noses of Jack Hemple and Walter Monahan. He seemed to be developing speed in jabbing, for he let his left fly time and again so fast that his opponents could hardly swing a block into position to prevent being hit.

Jack Dempsey knows about that Willard left hand. But Jack Dempsey only smiles when one intimates the champion is going to hold him off at arm's length—Willard has a reach of eighty-three inches—and prevent him from coming to close quarters for punching action. Dempsey isn't worrying about any one kind of punch or a bunch of them.

He is more annoyed by his damaged eye brow, which was split open by the Jamaica Kid and which will keep the mitts off his hands for a couple more days.

So while the champion is working to throw the clutch in for speed on his left jab "Submarine Jack" will have to be thinking out a method to make that important possibility null and void.

It's a cinch that Jess figures on left jabs as essential in the approaching bout and it also is a cinch that Jack already has planned out a way to avoid rubbing his nose against that punch.

There was another thing that stood out today in the single training camp workout, for Willard was the only one to go into action, Dempsey still being unable to box. When Walter Monahan appeared in the ring he showed a bit of popping stuff.

He jumped into the air in an effort to reach the chin of the champion with both hands. But if Walter's imitation of the sort of attack that is expected of Dempsey is no better than the challenger pulls, this popping stuff looks like lost effort. Monahan did not have a bit of success in that respect today.

The Willard workout did not get anybody all "het up." It really was a bit sluggish. The champion punched and punched hard at times, and had both Hemple and Monahan—the only men he boxed—all in when time was called. But Jess was breathing a bit himself, indicating there is plenty of work ahead for him.

Tex Rickard was one of the interested spectators at the camps today. Rickard is joyous over the smooth sailing these days and sees nothing ahead but pleasure and the counting-house job. Tex is a frequent watcher at the workouts and agrees both Willard and Dempsey look like a pair to put up a great battle.

A bet went into the hands of a Toledo stakeholder this morning. A fellow who had $100 to stake met another fellow that had $700 and offered to wager his century against the $700 that Dempsey would score a knockout. The Dempsey adherent was snapped up quicker than it takes to tell it.

A few lines about this referee business. The latest report is that Bill Rocap, a Philadelphia sporting editor, is going to be the third man in the ring in this battle. If Bill has been chosen Tex Rickard doesn't know it and neither does Jess Willard nor Jack Dempsey. If they don't know, who does?

Among the prominent candidates for the job who have not been announced as picked or who have not turned down the assignment are Walter Kelly of Buffalo and Jack Skelly of Yonkers.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR RICKENBACKER DAY.

That the home-coming entry of Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker into Los Angeles, June 21, will be one of the most dazzling events ever staged in the city was indicated yesterday by members of the "Rickenbacker Day" committee, which has his welcome celebration in hand.

Arrangements were announced by Secretary Frank G. Lowry of the "Rickenbacker Day" committee for securing a fleet of airplanes to fly from Los Angeles to Riverside and there escort into the city the train bearing the master ace from the East.

CHALLENGE OF COCKRAN ACCEPTED.

Walker Cockran's challenge was accepted by O. C. Morningstar, and two 300-point 18-2 balk line games will be played at 544 South Spring street, Friday and Saturday nights. Seldom games of this kind are played in this city, and lovers of billiards will avail themselves of such opportunity of seeing two of the greatest billiardists of the world in action.

Morningstar has changed the hours of his lectures to 1 p.m., and exhibitions every evening at 8:30 p.m.

TENNIS OUTLOOK IS VERY GOOD.

Tennis prospects for this year are very good, as nearly all of the best players of the country are out here and many of the service boys are coming back right along. Wynne Face is back in the city and has taken back his old position at Barker Bros. Wynne Mace is back in the across the water and expects to play tennis regularly. Mace won the Southern California tennis championship last year and the year before.

Cliff Herd, the demon racket star, is expected back next week and also will start right in to annex whatever there is to annex. He has done some playing in England, while there with the army, and also in the East.

The weather seems to be calling all of the tennis players into the courts now. Maurice McLoughlin is going to get back into the active play shortly and give himself a rest from the routine of business. Altogether things are going along fine and will be humming merrily throughout the year.

BLOSSOM SEELEY PITCHES SATURDAY.

Blossom Seeley, the Orpheum's jazz queen, wife of Rube Marquard, the famous ball player, will get into the game here Saturday. As the guest of Jim Morley, she will be at Washington Park for the afternoon game, and will pitch the opening ball, and several more, if she doesn't get Charley horse in her tossing wing. Rube, it will be recalled, broke his ankle last Monday in a game in Cincinnati, and is laid up in a New York hospital, but Blossom says the family must do its duty by the national game, and, as he cannot play, she will try to hold up the family end, and keep the Marquard name before the fans. It is understood Morley will make quite an event of the affair Saturday, with movies of the opening, flowers, and so on. Blossom promises to don an Angel uniform and to fling a nasty ball at the batter who faces her—and there is some scramble to see who shall be the first to line out a four-bagger on her.

DOC AKIN IS NOW IN GOTHAM

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, June 11.—"Doc" Akin of Los Angeles, the man responsible for placing the Eighty-eighth Division foremost among the A.E.F. champions in wrestling, baseball and boxing, has just returned to the United States. For the last five months he has been the Y.M.C.A. director of athletics with the famous western division.

"Earl Caddock, world's champion heavyweight wrestler, who was top sergeant of the division headquarters troop, did some great work for us in training wrestlers," he said. "As a result, there are some coming champions in this sport in the Eighty-eighth."

But the baseball team that "Doc" developed was the means of dragging the division from darkness into the limelight of fame. After trimming such teams as the Thirty-sixth Division, Sixth and Seventh divisions, the University of Bonne, the champion repair depot at Teul was taken on. This outfit had lost only one game of forty-two played, but went down to an ignominious defeat before the Eighty-eighth. Of seven games played before the division was suddenly ordered to the embarkation area, not more than two runs were scored by an opponent in any game, and all were won.

The names of some of the stars, all of whom were professional ball players, sounds like the roster of an all-American team. Corp. Beck, formerly National and American League ball player, who later jumped to the Feds, was the manager. "Bing" Miller, Detroit, was the leading slugger, while Sheehan of Philadelphia hurled them over, to the utter mystification of opposing sluggers.

The boxing programme put over under the direction of the "Y" with the Eighty-eighth was the means of developing some fast youngsters. By commandeering discarded airplane hangars for arenas, six to eight fights per week were staged, each of which produced between four and eight bouts.

Mr. Akin returned with the division headquarters, and has some very flattering letters commending him for his efficiency in handling athletics in the division. He is a well-known athletic coach in several western cities. He is returning to Los Angeles immediately.

A Cadillac Is Well Worth Waiting For

The demand for every model of the Cadillac is greatly in excess of the output. The factory output as planned for this season cannot be increased. That means that the purchasers who obtain Cadillacs next Fall and Winter will be the people who place their orders now.

On some models delivery can be made in a short time, on others orders are listed four months in advance.

If you do have to wait for the particular model you desire it is far better to wait a short time than to buy something else and be dissatisfied.

Anticipate your motor needs and make sure of a Cadillac, if you wait too long you may be one of the many who are certain to be disappointed.

SEALS PULL FAT OUT FIRE.

Indulge in Very Juicy Ninth-Inning Rally.

Looked Bad Against Tigers Early in Game.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 11.—Because the Seals put over two runs in the ninth inning and thus pulled the fat out of the fire, they sent San Francisco fans home today pulling for instead of "cussing" them. In the early part of the game the Seals looked awful and had they lost the game the memory of how they looked would have lingered long, but as they stepped out and won, what they failed to do in the early innings was soon forgotten. The score was 6 to 5 in favor of the Seals and as Los Angeles lost to the Oaks, the race was tightened up a bit.

There is something wrong with the Seals. Just a few weeks ago we were all yelping about how they did not know when they were whipped; that four or five runs made no difference to them when they took a notion to charge, and that the game was never over until the last man was out.

But today the boys were very weak-kneed. All but Willie Kamma, the youthful wonder, who guards third base for the Seals. Willie's gang, composed of 14-year-old kids, was out in force and as Willie beat out two bunts and whaled out a two-bagger, he had his chin up, and his gang challenged the world, including Sapo from Oakland, who deserted the Seals and is now rooting for Vernon.

Tom Seaton started the affair, but it took no seventh son of a seventh son to see that Thomas was not the pitcher today that he was on last Sabbath afternoon when he blanked the Angels with one hit. A pass to Mitchell in the first was cashed into a run when High lofted a double to right. Two runs scored in the second on a puny sort of hit that bounced over Seaton's head, and scanned both Crandall and Cavener. Reiger hit the ball, which hardly rolled out of the infield, yet two runs scored on it. That inning saw the last of Thomas, and Johnny Couch went on guard and he pitched fine ball.

A run was scored off Johnny in the fifth, because Catcher Baldwin made a greatest toss ever Couch's head, and let a man score from third. The only run really made off Couch was in the eighth when Hosp hammered a long double to right that scored Edington from first base.

The Seals looked sick until the eighth, when they scored a couple of runs and came within one of having a tie. Koerner opened that round with a hit, but was forced at second by Connelly. Then up stepped Young Willie Kamma, his gang cheering shrilly, and bumped the boards in right field for a double. Baldwin's out scored Connelly and when Fisher kicked Couch's grounder, Willie counted.

The Seals were still one down when they came to bat in the ninth. Schick opened by nearly cracking the shin bones of Hosp with a wicked slash. Hosp was hit hard and often during the matinee. Jimmy Caveny was hit by a pitched ball and retired to let Corhan run for him. Reiger was also yanked and Dawson went on the job. Zamloch laid down a bunt and all hands were safe when Dawson fumbled the ball. Then it was that Koerner took a hard swing at the ball and dropped a perfect Texas leaguer just back of second. Schick and Corhan counted and the game was over before a man had been retired in the ninth. The score:

DOPE KICKED OVER BY OAKS.

Howard greatly enjoyed listening to the even hum of their intellects as the thoughts surged to and fro. He was greatly worried by the knocking which he heard in their heads on the day before, and was on the verge of having their valves ground when he hit on the cap-cooling system.

Buzz Arlett's greatest crisis came in the seventh. Fabrique fashioned a line smash to right, which was good for a double only because Willie played the ball like a shortstop and let it get by him. Denny and ground balls don't get along together any more. Fournier hit one down to Brother Pop, which was too warm to handle. This placed runners on first and third, with nobody out, and optimism ran high. Crawford flied to Cooper, whose shot home held Fabrique at third. Fournier went down to second on the peg. A single would now put the Angels in front, but where to get the single stumped everybody. Kenworthy popped to Wares back of first, who ran in and handed the ball to Mitze. Clyde realizes that it isn't safe to throw the ball much with a runner on third. Ellis then slammed a hot one down to second. Wares squatted down and extinguished the ball. After smothering it, he fired to first, getting Rube by a foot or so.

With the return of Fred Haney from his honeymoon, things became more complicated around third base. Killefer found himself confronted with the problem of what to do with three third sackers, but solved it in his usual masterful fashion. His first step was to have Bates bat for Niehoff in the eighth. Then he let Haney play the bag in the ninth. Thus all hands were given a crack at the game.

Bates grounded to Stumpf, and Bassler beat out a high bounder to Buzz. At this juncture Fittery was sent forth to bat for Fertica, and drove to Brother Pop for a double play.

Lefty Caldera took hold in the ninth, and this seemed to suit the Oaks. After Pop Arlett had flied to Ellis, things began to happen over which nobody had any control. Willie dumped a bunt to Haney, and beat it out. Murphy walked. At this point, Cooper offered a terrible rebuke to Killefer by tripling to the left field fence, scoring two. With Wares at bat, the Oaks tried the "squeeze" once too often, and Cooper was caught cold at the plate when Caldera wasted one. Wares, who had a hit left, singled to center. Stumpf kissed a strpple off Killefer's out-stretched mitt, and Wares checked in at the pan. Mitze put stumpf across with a safety to left. Arlett, feeling that the game had been made safe for Oakland, fanned. Killefer's walk, an out, a sacrifice and Crawford's clout in the ninth, saved the Angels from a shutout.

Fatty Arbuckle passed the afternoon writing defies to all the clubs in the American Association, pointing out that the Tigers are pretty sure to win the pennant, and insisting on his right to challenge them to a post-season series. Some were unkind to intimate that being in second place for twenty-four hours had caused reason to totter on the Arbuckle throne. Others, however, including some deep students of baseball, regard the Tigers as sufficiently dangerous to justify Fatty's outburst of optimism, and refuse to believe that he has cracked under the excitement of being in the first division. WINS GRAMMAR SCHOOL PENNANT.

SOUTH SIDE JUNIOR SCHOOL AGAIN TAKES HONORS AT POMONA.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

POMONA, June 11.—With all the snap and "pep" of big league baseball, the South Side Junior High School, for the third successive season, won the championship of the Grammar League of this city today by defeating the Garey avenue Junior High team with a score of 8 to 5. In the victory the South Side lads also won the right to the permanent possession of the beautiful big silver trophy cup. When the cup was first put up it was understood that the school which would be allowed to keep it permanently should win it for three successive seasons. This the South Siders have done.

The game today was a battle from the start to the finish, and, while the south Siders kept in the lead, they were forced to fight for every inch of their progress, and the final outcome was uncertain until the very last. Neither team had played a better or more consistent game throughout the entire year. However, the boys from the South Side had a little the best of it in the hitting and the ability to play together. The few errors made by the Garey players were costly ones and helped to put them behind.

Considerable credit for the victory is due to Sam Antes, the wiry little South Side pitcher. He was on the job every minute. He came through the fray with an even dozen strikeouts to his credit. In the sixth and seventh innings he struck out six men almost in succession. He had a splendid backstop in his catcher, Raymond Burt. Nothing got by this lad. Ovington for Garey avenue also did good, consistent work, and deserves credit, as does his catcher, Galus Ketser.

A five-game series was agreed upon to determine the championship, and it required the playing of the entire number, for when the game opened today each team had two victories and two defeats to its credit. This will give an idea of how evenly the teams were matched.

Neither side scored in the first inning. The South Siders ran in one man in the second and one again in the third. In the fourth they managed to run in four men, and received one each in the fifth and sixth. After the sixth [illegible] sides scored. How a Packard Truck Can Show Economy for 8 Years—and Longer

It Takes Two Ordinary Trucks, Each With a Life of Four Years, to Make Comparisons With One Packard

THESE days of close figuring—no business man can afford to make his truck investment without considering what service he can expect from his trucks six or eight years hence—and what the operating cost is likely to be.

Uncertain trucking cost is the bane of the cost-accounting and the auditing departments of many an otherwise well-conducted business.

How can a merchant figure on five cents per dollar for delivery if at the end of two years his trucking costs go up to eight cents and then to ten?

* * *

Packard sells transportation at a figure which can be determined before the truck is bought.

The relation of this figure to every other element in the owner's manufacturing and selling costs can be ascertained and depended on.

* * *

It takes the balance, design and stamina of the Packard truck to deliver transportation at a definite reasonable unit of cost per mile.

Supposing an ordinary truck at a thousand or fifteen hundred dollars less than a Packard would last four years. And supposing the Packard lasted only eight.

It would take two such trucks to last as long as one Packard. And during the final two years of each ordinary truck, maintenance costs would increase out of all proportion—while service value would decrease in the same ratio.

Ten-year-old Packards are a common sight in America.

So by putting your transportation on the Packard 8-year basis you might easily save one-half the cost of using ordinary trucks.

At the same time, you would be certain of the cost per week, per month, per year—you would eliminate guessing from your transportation problem.

Get in touch with the Freight Transportation Department of your Packard Branch or Packard Distributor. Obtain from them the actual figures it should cost you per mile.

MILLER HERE FROM PORTLAND

Also Believes Dempsey will Win Big Fight.

Walter Miller is back in town from Portland, where he forfeited a wrestling bout to Ted Thye, last Monday night, and says that he will go after Thye for a return match on reasonable terms, any time, but as long as he gets at him he holds his title of middleweight wrestling champ of the world. If I don't defeat Thye I'll quit cold," said Walter Miller, "and it's about time some other guy won my title, if he's good enough to do it."

The Portland papers conceded that I had the best of the bout right through at the Harlick and that only through a piece of bad luck was Walter able to forfeit the fall and match. Also that the bout was held on the ring of a theater, and no ropes to get around the mat. Miller got a crab for, Thye's left leg. Also that party got a double hold on him, kicking Miller's head under him, causing the latter to fall on his right shoulder, severing the ligaments from the bone, while breaking the double hold on his left arm. The fall was a fluke of the mat and was not a really hard one, but in falling the men ran into the chairs of the spectators and Miller was rendered unconscious.

At one juncture of the proceedings, Miller had a head scissors on Thye, but was prevented from taking advantage and winning, by falling off the mat. The match was forced by Miller, according to all accounts, as Thye appeared to be very careful about what he was doing.

Miller is 33 years of age and has been wrestling for fourteen years. He captured the middleweight championship December 2, 1916, from Mike Yokel at Billings, Mont., in three hours and sixteen minutes.

Miller's first desire to enter the mat game was brought about by seeing a picture of Battling Nelson in a Chicago paper, while in Duluth, Minn., and he went to the Duluth Y.M.C.A. and took boxing lessons. He struck up a friendship with Mike Gibbons, who was wrestling some at the time and Gibbons was defeated by a Milwaukee chap named Jack Redman. In order to get back at Redman on Mike's account, Walter took up wrestling and made short work of Redman. Managers who saw the bout became interested and matched him up until he became better known and Butler, his first and only manager, stuck by him for a number of years until he went into the automobile business.

Miller picks Dempsey to win the scrap against Willard, saying that Jess can't come back after four whole years of idleness. "If Willard lasts more than five rounds I'll be very badly mistaken."

"I'm going to get another match from Thye, or know the reason why," was the last remark of Walter Miller yesterday at the L.A.A.C., where he is stopping, and teaching a large wrestling class daily.

SAILING PARTY OF YACHT CLUB.

The South Coast Yacht Club has scheduled a sailing party for Saturday and a race for Sunday around Bird Rock for the Nordlinger trophy. The S.C.Y.C. cup is offered as special prize for yawls.

The starting gun sounds at 11 a.m., the race starting from end of breakwater and flag, the course taking in Point Vicente buoy, leaving mark to port, then around Bird Rock to starting point. Yachts with universal ratings are eligible for the Nordlinger trophy. Allowances will be made for yawls on their past performances. Yawls will travel fifty nautical miles.

Cleves Harrison, commodore of the club, predicts a good number of yachts and trawls for the two days.

SWIMMING MEET TONIGHT.

Word has gone out by all parties concerned that a fine meet will be pulled off tonight when the L.A.A.C. comes across with the duckfest scheduled for a watery start at 8:15 o'clock.

Entrants are plenteous and the names on the card go far toward promising a meet well worth attending. Jack Kilburn will swim against Walter Rau, Jr., and Guy Sylvester in a special 100-yard free-style race. This looks like a good affair. Several swimming exhibitions will be put on. An underwater swimming affair will be put out by Charles E. Ramsell, swimming the crawl stroke, and also R. R. Rucks will go the underwater route, using the breast stroke.

Swimmers from San Diego and around Southern California are all determined to make the best records possible in the Athletic Club tank. A feature which promises to be rather good in the shape of a life-saving exhibition is little Norah Moore of the L.A.A.C., who will rescue Fatty Lampman of the Rolin Film Company.

Six entries in the men's spring-board diving championship are to be on tap and will provide the diving end of the evening. A blindfold race will make interest, and the 150-yard back-stroke championship, with Fletcher of San Diego Rowing Club, H. B. Unruh, Pasadena; Lieut. Tod Burns, Walter Rau, Kenneth Carraher and Ray Kegeris, all of the L.A.A.C., will be about the best of the entire bunch of events. The meet will be entirely open to the public and a crowd is expected.

CUBS WIN AGAIN.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, June 11.—Chicago won its fifth consecutive game by defeating Philadelphia, 7 to 2. The game was called in the eighth on account of rain. The locals hit Woodward freely and took a lead which the visitors could not overcome because of Douglas's good pitching. Score:

FLASHES.

GRIFFITH RETURNS.

MASTER PRODUCER DENIES HE WILL DESERT WEST.

By Grace Kingsley.

The suspense is ended. After all, D. W. Griffith, master picture maker of the world, is not to desert Los Angeles for New York, as producing locale. He made that statement yesterday on his arrival from the East, after he had greeted the friends who had come to the station to meet him, among whom was Bobbie Harron. Griffith saluted Bobby in fatherly fashion on both cheeks.

"It's all nonsense, that rumor about my going to New York to produce pictures or building a studio there," said Mr. Griffith. "I still think Los Angeles is the only place in which to make pictures."

Mr. Griffith spoke of the success of "Broken Blossoms," which is his latest and greatest triumph. For the first time in the history of the photoplay, the film has been placed in the $3 class. This means not only money, but prestige, and a much higher consideration for pictures than ever before. "Broken Blossoms" has reached a class of people who had never before attended pictures, including especially artists and musicians.

Even the hard-boiled critics in Boston and Chicago acclaimed the film from the housetops; Amy Leslie, the most famous woman critic in the country, said it "went further than the flight of the spoken drama, while A. Parker, dean of Boston critics, said other like things in the Transcript.

That was a big plunge for Mr. Griffith, the making of "Broken Blossoms," and its success is a real artistic triumph, in as much as it reflected his own ideals, and he hadn't known whether the public would take kindly to it or not.

"And now, that this first one is a success, you'll go on and make more of the sort of pictures you yourself want to make?"

"Well, yes, it gives a person courage," smiled Mr. Griffith.

Just before leaving the East Mr. Griffith addressed the members of the big Methodist convention, who have asked that he return to the mammoth world convention of this church to be held in Columbus, O., in July, in order to make an address and take pictures of the affair. He has consented, feeling it was a triumph for films.

"The Methodists are building the biggest tabernacle ever constructed for such a meeting," said Mr. Griffith, "and they are going to put on a great religious miracle play called 'The Wayfarer,' regarding the staging of which they flattered me by asking my advice. But the great triumph for pictures is that a part of the convention entertainment will be films, picture plays, not mere educational or religious themes."

Mr. Griffith is going to take motion pictures of the affair, and he admits that he is doing it partly in the interests of photo production, but also in big part in memory of his little mother, who was a devoted Methodist and never missed church nor prayer meeting, while she lived, but who did not live long enough to see his great triumph.

"Somebody in New York said to me: 'Well, your mother would be awfully proud of you now.' But I don't know—she was unreservedly set against the theater and, what she thought, was the evil of all its ways—I don't believe she would be proud of my success in that way!" he said sadly.

Asked about the European trip he had meant to take, Mr. Griffith seemed uncertain as to the time of his departure, especially as he has three pictures to make for the First National Exhibitors' Circuit before he will be free to do as he pleases in the matter of production. He will at once complete the picture interrupted by his trip east, and which has as its stars Carrol Dempster, Richard Barthelmas and others.

Blossom Seeley Will Pitch.

The thrilling announcement came yesterday through the whiskers of Bill Ham Cline that Blossom Seeley, the Orpheum jazz queen, who off the stage is Mrs. Rube Marquard, wife of the noted baseball star, that she will be the guest of the Angels at Washington Park, Saturday afternoon, and will pitch the opening ball in the game to be staged then. Miss Seeley is, of course, a baseball enthusiast, and now that friend husband is laid up with a broken ankle—it happened Monday in Cincinnati—she wants to keep the family in the eyes of the fans, so will do her duty here Saturday.

Mabel Normand Shimmies.

That the shimmie dance is invading even our most exclusive motion-picture studios, is revealed by the fact that Mabel Normand executed the cunning little wiggles incidental thereto, in the exigencies of picture making, at the Goldwyn studio yesterday. Meikeljohn, who lost a year of his dancing life due to being called away to help the Allies win the war, and who is now presenting a clever act at the Pantages, staged the Normand dance, being assisted by M. de la Plaza.

Morosco has Isabel Irving.

Isabel Irving is the latest star to be signed up by Oliver Morosco for one of his new productions to be made in this city. Miss Irving will play the leading role in Thompson Buchanan's latest play, "Civilian Clothes."

Marshal Neilan's Plans.

When Marshal Neilan returns from the South and from completing the direction of Anita Stewart in "In Old Kentucky," he is going to commence work on his first picture for the First National Exhibitors' Circuit. This first picture promises to be one of the most interesting stories ever filmed. It will be nothing less than a filmization of Randall Parrish's popular story, "Bob Hampden of Placer," and will be called, in all probability, "The Eternal Three."

Just who the stars of the production will be isn't yet determined, but it is understood that Henry Walthall is being negotiated for to play the name part, while it is likely that Blanche Sweet may play the feminine star role. Another important part is that of a boy. Wesley Berry, the freckle-faced youngster who made such a hit with Mary Pickford in "Daddy Long Legs," has been engaged for this.

Alas We Don't Get Diana.

It looks after all as if Lady Diana Manners is lost to the screen forever. Word is just at hand that on June 2 Lady Diana was married, in London, to Lieut. Alfred Duff Gordon of the Grenadier Guards, in St. Margaret's Church, Westminster.

Lady Diana is twenty-seven years old and the youngest daughter of the Duke and Duchess of Rutland. Her democratic charm earned her the name of "Lady Perfect Manners." She appeared in a Griffith film and made such a favorable impression with her beauty that she has been besought by a number of firms, including the Famous Players, who sent a representative to London to sign her name to a contract. She refused, however, not because she wasn't keen to accept, but because her parents declined to sanction the proceeding. Her prospective husband also refused to hear of such a thing. In fact, it is understood relatives have used their influence to hasten the marriage in order to prevent Lady Diana from putting into execution a long-cherished plan to earn her own living by playing in pictures. Lieut. Alfred Duff Gordon saw service in France, during the world war, where he won the D.S.C. for performing acts of great bravery.

He Lost His Ford.

It now leaks out that Will Rogers owns a Ford car. Just before coming West he lost it. He says he doesn't mind the man's stealing it. What he minds, he says, is that the man didn't keep it. The car was stolen from in front of the stage door of the theater where he was appearing in the Ziegfeld Follies.

"I allowed as how I didn't want the thing back," said Rogers, "but my friend, he says, 'It is the thing to do to report it and not to worry the police won't get it back.' So I did, worse luck. The very next day they phoned me that they had the old thing. They couldn't drive it to me—nobody could. I had to go and coax it away from the place where the thief had left it. That was over on First avenue, and I must say I admire the fellow for being able to get it that far. He took an extra wheel and tire which was on it, but I guess he got tired of the car itself. What I want to know is, can't there be a law making it a crime for anybody to return something he has stolen? It seems to me the person that is robbed ought to have that much protection!"

Barker With Farrar.

Reginald Barker, Goldwyn director, has again signed up with that organization, and is to direct Geraldine Farrar in her next picture.

Geo. D. Baker Leaves Metro.

So long has George D. Baker been connected with the Metro that he has been considered one of the landmarks and the announcement the well-known director is to withdraw from that organization has something of thrill in it. However, such is the fact, the announcement reaching us yesterday. Mr. Baker, it is stated, is going to make his own productions, to be sold on the open market. He will have two stars, who are breaking off their present affiliations to go with him. He has many successful pictures to his credit, chief of which is "Revelation," with Alla Nazimova, reckoned one of the great picture successes.

Farnum Buys Story.

If William Farnum, Fox star, weren't already one of the best sellers in picturedom, he would certainly become so now if good stories for the screen can achieve that result. The latest story purchased for him by the Fox organization is "Wings of the Morning," by Louis Tracy. J. Gordon Edwards will continue to direct.

DE HAVEN TELLS OF SCREEN ACTOR'S BURDENS.

By Edwin Schallert.

The screen actor is weighted down with responsibilities. He carries a burden which is incomprehensible to the public or to the player of the stage. Whatever the film actor does is bound to be fraught with a thousand grave consequences.

Carter de Haven, playing at Grauman's Theater this week is the one who has announced this discovery, and here's how he backs it up:

"As soon as an actor enters the moving-picture field the really serious part of his life begins. I might use as an illustration Charlie Chaplin. He succeeded in making the whole world laugh, and in doing this he burdened himself with the duty of never ceasing to be funny. Imagine Chaplin in 'Hamlet!' Why, even the ghost would die of ennui if Chaplin tried to be serious, that is, if he didn't dissolve into a mist of laughter.

"When Mrs. De Haven and myself gave up the stage we realized what a hard task we had before us, as we could not rely on our singing, dancing or talking to make a success, but must develop a screen personality to take its place, and to give the public a chance themselves to judge as to whether we had succeeded in doing so."

Alex Pan. En Route.

Alexander Pantages will arrive in Los Angeles about July 1. He is making a trip over the entire Pantages circuit, and is at present in Seattle.

Writing Was Easy.

Dorothy Dalton, who is appearing in the "Lady of Red Butte" at the Victory, handed a good one to the telephone girl the other day. Miss Dalton was trying to get one of those numbers where, when you ring up, you encounter two or three operators, all the supervisors, the general manager and perhaps the president of the telephone company before you can get your party. Miss Dalton got as far as the supervisor, who, after asking three or four times what the number was, then wanted to know the name of the party being called.

"Well," said Miss Dalton, "the lady's name is Mary, and the husband's name is John, and the servant girl's name is Frieda, and I did know the cat's name, but I've forgotten it now. Thank you, I'll write a letter."

And What of the Shimmie?

It's hard to believe that the fascinating dance in the second act of "Maytime" was in its day considered extremely shocking. However, it was barred from the court of Queen Victoria. The dance originated in France some time in the forties; later it was introduced into this country by a dancing master in New Orleans, and through his pupils found its way up north to New York City. It is a variation of the polka.

Chauffeur for Foch.

Just a slip of a girl, with big, lustrous eyes of brown, and the most engaging smile in the world is Ruth Rose, who comes to the Mason Operahouse Monday night with Otis Skinner in "The Honor of the Family." To look at her one would never under the sun imagine her driving a big motor truck in Paris, or driving so noted a person as Gen. Foch, yet this is just what she did.

When the war first broke out, Miss Rose was spending the summer on Belle Isle, in the Bay of Biscay, off the coast of Normandy and Brittany. She wanted to do her part in aiding the Belgians, and so volunteered for refugee work. After some months she returned to America, but later went back to France as a motor truck driver. She was one of the first women to drive a truck in France.

Miss Rose wears a little wrist watch, which is the pride of her life. On the back it reads "Pour Service." The watch was presented to her by some English and French officers in appreciation of her work. On one occasion, Miss Rose carried Gen. Foch in her Buick. His motor had broken down, and she drove him and his staff back to headquarters, for which the General kissed her most gallantly.

Hughes Story to Return.

"The Unpardonable Sin," which proved a cinema sensation on its recent showing at the Kinema Theater, is to come over to Broadway at the Garrick next week. Blanche Sweet heads the cast in this forceful picturization of Rupert Hughes' story.

Studied With Rudolph Ganz.

Daisy Neills, who is appearing on the Orpheum programme this week, is a pupil of Rudolph Ganz. Heretofore, she has been heard only in concert, notably with the Milwaukee and Minneapolis symphony orchestra, as soloist. She has many friends among musicians in this city.

Real Wild West.

Rodeos seem to be popular on the screens at picture theaters this week, for they occur in both the "Money Corral" at the California and "Fighting for Gold" at the Alhambra. William Hart and Tom Mix are the stars of the respective features.

Both rodeo scenes are expensive, but give a touch of realism that could not otherwise be obtained. In the Hart picture, over 1000 persons appeared; many cow-punchers, Indians and Mexicans and cowgirls came to Hollywood to take part.

Author to See Feature.

Stewart Edward White will come to Los Angeles to see the first showing of his famous novel, "The Westerners" at the Kinema next Sunday, it is announced.

Ruth St. Denis Soon.

Ruth St. Denis will arrive at the local Pantages Theater in about two weeks. Miss St. Denis is one of the stellar attractions of the Pantages circuit this year. Her act is said to have cost the management $100,000.

It's a "Ca-sad" Story.

Tom Derling thought that Tom Geraghty was trying to get jocular about the show. But Geraghty was merely endeavoring to make an inquiry concerning the press agent Casad. That's how they misunderstood each other. Out at the Lois Weber studio the other day they were talking about "Maytime," which is playing at the Majestic Theater this week.

"It's a good show," said Derling.

"No, I mean Press Agent Casad."

"Oh, I thought you said the play was sad."

Geraghty Going Abroad.

And, by the way, Tom Geraghty is going across to London this summer, if the passport-iers don't object. He will see that the Irish get a square deal in the new British film enterprises, and will write a few scenarios himself if necessary to assure this result.

Doesn't Miss a Thing.

A novelty in the theatrical world will be the production next week of "Super-Strategy," by the Mena Film Company, to be shown at the Symphony. This photoplay covers the history of the world from the creation to the present day. It is said to have remarkable beauty in the settings surrounding the unusual story.

Slim has Quit West.

Here's the reason for Slim Summerville's prolonged absence, as they tell it on Hollywood boulevard. You see, when Slim chose his home out here in California, he picked out one with a nice big veranda. After he got the veranda he didn't know what to do with it, because Slim had imagined that summer nights in California were like the hot summer nights in the East. And now it is reliably stated that Slim is never coming back to California "no moah."

Why?

Because Slim says, "There's no bar life and no veranda life" out here.

Miss Balfour's Success.

During the fourteen months she spent in the East, Constance Balfour, who is delighting audiences at Grauman's Theater this week, sang at a number of notable affairs. Her principal engagement was at a concert at the Hippodrome in New York, at which David Bispham, the celebrated concert artist, also appeared. Miss Balfour was also heard at the Newark festival and at programmes given at the Columbia University Stadium in New York. She also sang in Chicago and Philadelphia, and other eastern and middle western cities, and entertained in various training camps.

Catalogues Superstitions.

Blossom Seeley, at the Orpheum this week in "Seeley's Syncopated Studio," has compiled a catalogue of stage superstitions, of which the following are samples:

"The thirteen and the Friday superstitions are both strong in stagedom. A play with thirteen characters or with a title containing thirteen letters is believed to be doomed to failure, although there have been notable exceptions.

"A yellow costume, or a costume containing yellow, worn upon the opening night, has been generally considered certain to doom a show to disaster.

"In the dressing room shoes should never be placed on the table. Nor must hats be laid upon a trunk. It will mean the removal of the trunk and failure of the show.

"It is considered a fatal thing to open an umbrella on the stage at the first performance, and there are some actors who believe that to open an umbrella at any time even for the purpose of drying it is bad luck.

"To whistle in the dressing room is considered a portend of ill luck; so is the dropping of a comb in the theater.

"The belief that the passing of two persons on a staircase is a sure sign of 'dead bad luck' prevails throughout the profession generally and among chorus girls particularly.

"It is surprising to me," said Miss Seeley, "how many different kinds of superstitions there are for the stage. Never a day goes by that I do not discover some new one and sometimes I despair of ever finishing the book."

A Titian Invasion.

Last week Tally's Broadway advertised that they could use several red-haired girls to work in conjunction with the picture, "Redhead" now showing. On Monday the opening day there was a mob of Titian-haired beauties awaiting the arrival of the manager. When he announced to the fair maids that he would choose several to act as ushers during the run of the picture, there was a chorus of "Aw gee's" and the bright-haired ones turned away exclaiming, "I thought we were going to work in pictures. How in the world will we get to be big stars if we hang around a movie theater ushering."

So the manager had only one other way out of the difficulty. He thought of red wigs for the ushers, but when he looked the girls over when they came to work he found that they were all deep brunettes and that red-hair and an olive complexion would not blend, so the "Redhead" stunt was off.

New Phillips Feature.

"Destiny," Dorothy Phillips's first big picture since "The Heart of Humanity," comes to the Superba Sunday. It is a story of the everlasting battle of the sexes taken from the novel of Charles Neville Buck, and produced by Rolin Sturgeon.

Kewpy Comedian Recovering.

G. Allen Williams, president of the Kewpy Komedy Kompany, who has been ill for two weeks with a severe case of tonsilitis, is to return to work in a few days. Rehearsals are on for "The Flirt" but the giddy thing has to ogle thin air in the absence of the star who will probably appear in slippers which may cause a revision in the directors ma. Whether anybody loves a fat man or not everybody laughs at him even when he is sick; but if Kewpy lost his avoirdupois he would have to build a reputation all over again, and "The Flirt," instead of registering sympathy over a three-feet-across tonsilitis sufferer, would be forced to emote over the usual foot and a half, and then the audience would want its money back because it bought twice as much funny man as it saw.

Navy Band Pleases.

Special rehearsals are being held every morning at the Kinema Theater by Thomas J. Kennedy, bandmaster of the forty-five-piece United States Navy Band, as the programme is changed every day. They have added a grand military fantasia, which includes every bugle call in the United States naval service.

Smart Subtitles.

Clever subtitles mark the latest Dorothy Gish offering, "I'll Get Him Yet," which is being shown at Clune's Broadway this week. In one instance where the inimitable Dorothy persistently pursues her angry fiance, Richard Barthelmess, into a "red hot" lunch wagon, she clambors on a high stool just in time to hear him call his order of "Beans." Promptly she echoes the order. The subtitle reads: "Even to Chill she follows him."

"Bee's" Manager Goes East.

J. L. Allen, business manager of Trinity Auditorium, will leave this morning for a three months' vacation on his farm in Southern Indiana, returning early in October for the first event on the philharmonic course.

BERT LYTELL PLAY AT THE HIPPODROME.

The picture attraction at the Hippodrome for the rest of the week is "The Lion's Den," an adaptation of the famous Saturday Evening Post story of the same name. Bert Lytell, the star, is considered the most promising star of the day, and this picture is so human and entertaining that it will not fail to give him a multitude of new boosters.

Polly, Os and Chick are three very clever entertainers in songs and pianologue, and live up to their billing, "Cute, Clever and Classy."

The Four Novelty Perriots have something new in gymnastic comedy feats, while Marion Osmun in a series of dances, with beautiful scenery as a background, completes a splendid bill.

ADMITS ASSAULT CHARGE.

Arsenius Chaleco, an Indian from the Yuma Reservation, who was indicted by the Federal grand jury, charged with making a criminal assault on Carmel Chapel, a ward of the government, pleaded guilty in United States District Judge Bledsoe's court yesterday and will be sentenced Monday afternoon. Assistant United States District Attorney Green wanted more time to get the details of the affair. Under the law the term of imprisonment lies within the discretion of the court, there being no time limit.

DAILY TRADE TALK.

Revival Well Under Way; Meat for Sale; Shipping; Beans, Etc.

BY CHAPIN HALL.

The developments of the past thirty days have served to dispel all doubts that the revival of industry is well under way. As might be expected," says a careful review just issued by the National Bank of the Republic, of Chicago, "the renewal of activity is most marked in those industries which had borne the brunt of war-time privation, such as the automobile, jewelry and others once classed as nonessential; while those which had been fully mobilized for war purposes, as iron and steel and copper mining, have been slower to complete the readjustment. In the field of new enterprise great activity prevails, and plans for taking advantage of the expected era of prosperity are being rapidly brought to maturity, although promotions of companies which have to do with immediate opportunities, such as oil development and foreign trade, are the most conspicuous."

Humanizing Finance.

Frank A. Vanderlip, who has just retired from the presidency of the National City Bank, has perhaps done more to humanize finance than any other one man. Vanderlip was a newspaper reporter who specialized in telling to the public in language it could understand the inside and outside doings of big business and high finance. When he was called to a place in the sun he retained his reportorial instinct. He swept away red tape fetishes, and he avoided circumlocution. He knew what he wanted, and the point of his story was always in the first paragraph. He took the public into his confidence. He revolutionized the attitude of the man on the street towards the men at the heads of our great financial institutions. He talked finance and economics in the language of the people. He carried to the highest point of attainment the traditions of his early training, acquired in the rough and ready school of journalism.

Bargain in Meat.

On June 20 the government proposes to reduce its stock of stored meats in California by selling to the highest bidder 150,000 pounds of bacon in crates, of which 54,740 pounds are stored in Los Angeles; 30,008 six-pound cans of corned beef, of which 8280 cans are stored in Los Angeles; 5008 two-pound cans of corned beef hash, of which 3060 cans are stored in Los Angeles. All meats are reported to be in good condition, but carry no guarantee. Bids should reach the zone general supply depot, surplus property division, Fort Mason, San Francisco, by 8 a.m. on the 20th, and must be f.o.b., warehouse, at place of storage. This sale is in line with the plan of the government to gradually dispose of its surplus food holdings, acquired during the war for military purposes, but to do it in such a way that the retail markets will not be disturbed.

Our Growing Port.

April tonnage figures for the port of Los Angeles have just been released by Traffic Manager Clarence H. Matson. They show that in that month inbound domestic receipts amounted to 16,956 tons, to a total value of $2,650,950, exclusive of lumber products, which amounted to 35,581,210 feet, board measure, or 58,469 tons, to a value of $943,104. Outgoing domestic commerce amounted to 117,469 tons, valued at $1,721,317. Inbound foreign was 713 tons; value $82,970. Outbound foreign, 3060 tons; value $171,014. The grand total of all commerce was 196,844 tons; value $5,569,355, carried in 196 commercial vessels, arrived, and 192 departed. Flour, steel, tobacco, fresh fish, gasoline, news print, coffee and automobiles head the list of inbound supplies. Dry goods, fuel oil, and poultry food, lead the outbound domestic business.

Day's Bond Activity.

A $500,000 Napa county road issue was sold Tuesday to the Anglo, London and Paris National Bank, of San Francisco at par, with interest and premium amounting to $13,490. These bonds are 5 1-2 per cents, maturing at the rate of $20,000 annually 1924 to 1934 inclusive and at the rate of $30,000 from 1935 to 1944 inclusive. An Oregon 4 per cent. road issue of $1,000,000 maturing from 1924 to 1944 inclusive was sold yesterday. Today $1,000,000 worth of 5 per cent. road bonds will be offered at Fresno. The National City Company through its Los Angeles office yesterday offered $275,000 Tom Green County, Texas 5 1-2 per cent. bonds to yield about 5 per cent. and also $1,500,000 city bonds of Waterbury, Conn., 4 1-2 per cent. maturing from 1920 to 1940 inclusive and priced to yield 4 1-2 per cent. The Blankenhorn, Hunter, Dulin Company is offering $1,000,000 San Joaquin Light & Power Corporation 6 per cent. convertible gold debentures at 93 and interest to yield about 7 per cent. McCormack, McKeen & Co., 410 L. N. Van Nuys Building, one of the newcomers to the bond family in Los Angeles, is also interested in the San Joaquin issue and offer $25,000 worth of these bonds in denominations of $1000 at 94 and interest to net a full 7 per cent. on the investment.

The Stock Market.

The local stock market was held within narrow lines yesterday, and the trading seemed to lack sufficient determination. The Postal wire connection with San Francisco was out of commission because of the strike and this had a tendency to slow down the out-of-town trading somewhat. United Oil activity featured the market. Under a determined effort on the part of traders apparently interested in forcing the price down for a "buy-in" the price which was 94 cents at the openings of the market receded to 50 cents from which point it reacted and closed strong at 53 3-4. Associated Oil was active and strong. This stock sold down to $91 in the morning but at the close sold up to $91.50. Union Oil continued to slide, going to $148.50, but this was followed by a reaction and the loss was regained together with half a point additional, the close being at $149.35. Mascot continued its climb back to the upper deck of the band wagon going from $2.40 to $2.48 through the course of the day. Other oils were comparatively quiet. Industrials held their own on a rather light market. Globe Grain

COMMENT.

Recent sales of beef steers in Los Angeles at 10.50 per cwt. f.o.b. here is not altogether an accurate criterion of the market for beef cattle. These cattle were sold at that price because they had to be marketed at once. The market was full of good cattle and those who had to buy found but few to their liking. To-day's offerings of steers in the open market a stronger price is anticipated. Yesterday, sheep sold early in Kansas City are as follows: 2871 lambs, 72 to 1161 pounds at 13.25; 28 steers, 1100 pounds, at 11.50; one lot of steers still unsold; 1500 strong weight wethers sold in the same market yesterday at 11.75@14.00, with a few cattle out at 14.00. Receipts of yesterday and to-day, 118 pounds at 9.40. The local market for lambs is weak at 14.00, selling under last week's prices. The market is fully adequate. Lambs of good quality are very scarce and the market is strengthening daily. Sales of 14.50@15.00 per cwt. is reported during the week just past. Hogs and veal and wethers hold steady under a light demand.

It is reported that this company is soon to apply for listing on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange. This is one of the old established dividend-paying oil companies of California, paying dividends at the rate of 16% on the present market price around 50c per share.

This stock has not participated in the general rise of California oil stocks, and it is not unlikely should sell considerably higher if listed.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

NEW YORK, June 11.—More consideration was paid today to the money situation in dealings on the stock exchange. Rates for call loans were again elevated to nine per cent, following a similar rise yesterday for accommodations on industrial collateral. The increased prominence given to the current active speculation in connection with the warnings emanating from the Federal Reserve Board as to the danger of overspeculation, together with the fact that the money market will still be called upon to supply considerable funds for government purposes, has brought about a decided modification of the bullish sentiment which was so rampant for so many weeks among outside speculators.

A further decline occurred in the early hours when breaks from three to six points were made in a variety of stocks, including General Motors, Studebaker, Atlantic Gulf, American Woolen, Texas Company, Kelly-Springfield tire, United States alcohol and Mexican Petroleum. United States steel was also carried down about two points, to 106 7-8, and sharp inroads were made on the prices of some of the investment rails.

Consistent strength was shown by the tobacco group, and this eventually crystallized into a buoyant upturn which had a tonic effect on the balance of the list. Buying of the tobacco shares was fostered as yesterday, by the formation of the new company whose operations are to be world-wide. Buying of special character also developed in other portions of the list, notably in the leather, International Harvester, Copper and Bethlehem steel stocks. Prices were going up fast in the late dealing and the market closed strong with final figures showing very little effect of the early depression. Sales amounted to 1,350,000 shares.

Bonds manifested a reactionary tendency, with the Liberty issues mostly working toward lower levels. Total sales, par value, aggregated $13,400,000.

Old United States bonds were unchanged on call.

NEW YORK COTTON IS NERVOUS, UNSETTLED.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, June 11.—The cotton market was nervous and unsettled today. Better cables than due, and a private report making the mid-month condition 69, compared with the mid-May report of 73.8, encouraged some scattered buying. Weather conditions were considered more favorable. Encouraging private crop accounts were received from the Southwest and, with sentiment somewhat unsettled by the strike of telegraph operators, there was a good deal of scattering liquidation. The market opened barely steady at a decline of 7 to 20 points, and soon sold 50 to 65 points net lower, with October selling at 30.02.

The early break extended to 29.75 for October or about 85 points below last night's closing

PHONOGRAPH

Is the only phonograph in the world—strange as it may seem—that has all tone chambers made exclusively of sweetly vibrant silver grain spruce, the same wood used for centuries in making the finest violins and piano sounding boards.

The Starr is made by a firm that for over fifty years has built only musical instruments of world-wide reputation.

FILMS TO HELP SAVE RUSSIA.

Head of Slav Mission Here Advocates Their Use.

Says Kolchak Backs Plan for Educating Peasants.

Visits Big Plant; Party is on Way to England.

Russia's reconstruction will be accomplished only after the complete overthrow of Bolshevism and through the media of the Kolchak regime, now in power in Siberia, and the motion picture.

This was the statement yesterday of M. Gennady Alexandrevitch Bersenyeff, president of the Sincredsoyoos—the largest co-operative credit scheme, it is said, in the world, who visited Universal City with Mme. Bersenyeff, Miss Mary Woodyard and Howard D. ("Pop") Hadley, American consul in Russia for the last two years.

M. Bersenyeff met Carl Laemmle, president of the Universal Film Manufacturing Company, and outlined his plan, really the Kolchak scheme, for educating Russia via the cinematograph.

Mr. Laemmle pledged the co-operation of the Universal in any effort the United States government, which Consul Hadley is representing in the tour of the Bersenyeff party, might put forth to aid Russia.

KOLCHAK TO BE SAVIOR.

Both Mr. Bersenyeff and Consul Hadley gave their opinion that the Bolshevik influence in Russia is fast crumbling, that Lenine already is finding Petrograd untenable and is preparing to flee, that Trotsky, is doomed, and Admiral Kolchak is the great factor in Russia's politics.

Miss Mary Woodyard, who is with M. Bersenyeff and his associates, is foreign buyer for Farmer & Co., Australia's biggest importing organization.

It is planned to spend $100,000,000 in the United States in the purchase of machinery and construction materials for Russia, according to M. Bersenyeff, whose system, which is composed of 1,000,000 members, serves 4,000,000 Russians.

"The party left Siberia but a month ago, coming to Los Angeles directly from San Francisco. They left late last night for New York, where they will confer with big manufacturing corporations and then go to London.

WILL REPUDIATE CURRENCY.

That the currency of the old Russian government and that of the Kerensky regime is destined shortly to be repudiated and that Russia, under the intelligent direction of Kolchak, will soon be restored to industrial sanity and a sound financial standing, is the opinion expressed yesterday by Ernest M. Christiansen, of White Point, Cal., who expects to leave this month for Siberia. Mr. Christiansen came to Southern California from Russia in 1916 and shortly afterward returned to Petrograd to arrange for the exporting of dried fruits from Southern California to Russia. In December of the same year he returned to California with several contracts, but in the meantime the import of dried fruits to Russia was qualified under the head of luxuries and thus practically prohibited for the duration of the war. Mr. Christiansen intends, however, to resume the business of transportation as soon as conditions become normal.

COUNCILMEN ALLEGE AUTOS ARE JUGGLED.

REQUEST OF CAR FOR GRIFFITH PARK BRINGS OUT ODD TRANSACTIONS.

The request of Van M. Griffith, commissioner of motor-bus transportation, that a Studebaker touring car now in the salvage department of the city, be assigned for emergency use on the municipal bus line to Griffith Park, made to the City Council yesterday, brought about a warm discussion over what was termed "juggling" in deals on city-owned cars, and steps members of the Council had taken to thwart such plans.

The request of Mr. Griffith was granted, but in the discussion of the request, Councilman Reeves, chairman of the Supply Committee, objected. He stated that the car had been turned into the salvage department as unusable by the police department, and that it was simply inviting expense and possible accident by impressing the car into further use.

It was then that Councilman Mallard, chairman of the Finance Committee, made his charges regarding three autos that are now in the salvage department.

"The only reason those cars are there," said Mr. Mallard, "is that the police department got up a scheme to get new cars. We took over those three cars to prevent their being juggled. There were people simply waiting to take them over for the small amount allowed by the agency in the new deal, and every one of those cars had at least $150 worth of work done on it just before they were turned in. We proposed to stop this scheme."

Councilman Reeves declared that the purchasing agent had been trying to sell the cars for a year, but couldn't get offers of $550 for them, which was the trade-in valuation placed upon them.

GETS BADGE OF GOLD.

Angeleno Deputy Sheriff Honored for Aiding Orange County.

A deputy sheriff's badge, made of virgin gold, was presented yesterday to Deputy Sheriff J. S. Sepulveda by Sheriff C. E. Jackson of Orange county in appreciation of Deputy Sepulveda's work in this county in apprehending fugitives from the neighboring county. During the past four years Deputy Sepulveda arrested twenty-five fugitives from Orange county, ten of whom were murderers, and he has recovered $5,000 worth of property for that county. In 1905 the deputy was presented a gold badge by Sheriff White for the most arrests during a four-year period.

ON RATES AND "PERISHABLES."

Commerce Commission Examiner is to Hold Hearing Here in July.

Examiner R. C. Marshall of the Interstate Commerce Commission will hold a hearing in Los Angeles, during the week of July 7-12, at which testimony will be given by shippers in relation to the proposed new tariffs and regulations on shipments of all classes of perishable freight.

A similar hearing will be held at Portland, July 16.

SAYS HE'S LOATH TO EMBARRASS MAYOR.

POLICE COMMISSIONER MINES OFFERS RESIGNATION TO NEW EXECUTIVE.

W. W. Mines, member of the Police Commission, stated yesterday that immediately after the general municipal election he had sent a letter to Mayor-elect Snyder, in which he tendered his resignation from the Police Commission, to take effect July 7, "or as soon thereafter as may suit your convenience." The letter to Mr. Snyder said:

"Now that the people have spoken, and you have been their choice, I want to be among those to congratulate you. I trust all of those who opposed you in this election will do the same, as I believe it is the part of good citizenship for all to get behind you and help make this, your fourth administration, a most successful one, as the welfare of this great city means much more than any little personal differences. You can count upon my hearty co-operation in every way.

"Being an appointee of this present administration, I feel it only right that the new man assuming charge of our city's affairs should have a free hand in appointing his various commissions, and, therefore, I tender you my resignation as a member of the Police Commission of the city of Los Angeles to take effect July 7, or as soon thereafter as may suit your convenience.

"If I can be of any assistance to the new commissioners, I shall be glad, indeed, to be called upon. With best wishes and my kindest regards, believe me, yours very truly."

ADMITS INSOLVENCY.

Joseph J. May, the last-known secretary of the United States Magnesite Company, who says his occupation is that of an insurance agent, filed a petition in bankruptcy in the United States District Court yesterday, giving his liabilities as $25,985.08, of which $23,985.08 is unsecured. His assets are alleged to be $7166, of which amount $4000 is in the shape of life insurance policies, exempt under the law. The most of the liabilities were bills created in behalf of the United States Magnesite Company, a bankrupt concern, charged to Kennedy & May, agents of the corporation; also from the stockholders' liability arising from the fact that the petitioner owned 41,500 shares of stock of the Provident Oil Company.

CITY TO HELP GET RECRUITS.

Big Two-Weeks' Campaign for Regular Army Men.

Government will Advertise Widely for Soldiers.

To Get Superior Education and Travel Abroad.

With the object of recruiting the present regular peace army up to 500,000 men, principally for overseas service, the War Department during the last two weeks of June will launch a nation-wide recruiting drive, according to Col. A. M. Wetherill, in charge of the Los Angeles recruiting headquarters in the San Fernando Building. This will be the largest recruiting job undertaken by the Government in a like period in the history of the army. It will be conducted largely through the medium of newspaper advertising, this form now being recognized by the Government as the most effective, Col. Wetherill said. It is expected that this campaign will produce some of the best "copy" prepared for newspaper publication since the Government first began to sense the need of using this form of publicity to acquaint the people with its various needs.

"This will be the most extensive 'selling' campaign the army has attempted through daily newspaper advertisements," said Col. Wetherill. "The Government literally will be selling to the young men of America an opportunity to acquire a superior education and the advantages of foreign travel. The use of daily newspapers to carry out this campaign is of course due to the fact that the Government recognizes the great force of newspaper advertising in promoting an enterprise of magnitude. One of the great lessons of the war was the good sense of employing newspaper publicity to put over the loan, food and welfare campaigns. They would have failed had it not been for newspapers."

The men recruited under this drive will be enlisted for one or three years, and will have both educational advantages along general and technical lines and the opportunity for foreign travel. Former service men desiring to re-enter the army need enlist for one year only in order to enjoy the opportunity going overseas.

TO CANAL ZONE.

Chairman Dodge of the Board of Supervisors, has received word from his son, Charles Dodge, midshipman on the flagship Alabama, that he has started on a three months' cruise which will take him to the Canal Zone, thence back to Boston, New York and Newport News. Midshipman Dodge has been in the navy just one year, and enjoys the life.

TO ANNUL MATCH.

Reyez Robles, the mother of Rita Robles, filed suit yesterday to annul the latter's marriage to Valentine G. Zarate, on the ground that Mrs. Robles had not consented to the marriage. The girl was only 14 years old when she married the defendant in Ontario.

SEND OUT ROAD BOND BALLOTS.

Registrar Busy Informing Voters About Big Issue to be Settled Soon.

Sixty clerks are engaged in the office of David B. Lyons, Registrar of Voters, mailing and addressing sample ballots for the election to be held July 1 to decide the appropriation of $40,000,000 for good roads throughout the State. Registration has closed. Instead of supplying new rolls of voters, the names of persons who have moved or are not entitled to vote are taken off the old lists and supplemental lists are being typewritten. This is done to save the extra cost of printing.

SIXTH GRADUATION.

Two dozen pupils of the Broadoaks Kindergarten Normal Training School, Pasadena, will receive diplomas as teachers in the sixth annual graduation exercises to be held at 6 p.m. on Friday, June 20, at 714 West California street. VERSES AND OIL.

Wife Says Poetess Well Owner Won Husband, So She Seeks Balm.

Because Mrs. Alice H. Gayhart is not a resident of this State, she will, under a stipulation entered into before Judge Jackson yesterday, file a bond next week in her $25,000 lest love suit against Mrs. Ida Eckert Lawrence Connor, who is said to be an Ohio poetess. In this action Mrs. Gayhart alleges that Mrs. Connor purloined the love of her husband, Walter C. Gayhart. The Gayharts have been married twenty years.

Mr. Gayhart is alleged to be the manager of Mrs. Connor's oil properties near Montebello. Mrs. Gayhart resides in Toledo, O. If she files the bond Mrs. Connor will file an answer to the complaint.

Care and Responsibility

THE responsibility attached to the preparing of a remedy for infants and children is undoubtedly greater than that imposed upon the manufacturer of remedies for adults whose system is sufficiently strong to counteract, for a time at least, any injurious drug. It is well to observe that Castoria is prepared today, as it has been for the past 40 years, under the personal supervision of Mr. Chas. H. Fletcher.

What have makers of imitations and substitutes at stake? What are their responsibilities? To whom are they answerable? They spring up today, scatter their nefarious wares broadcast, and disappear tomorrow.

Could each mother see the painstaking care with which the prescription for Fletcher's Castoria is prepared: could they read the innumerable testimonials from grateful mothers, they would never listen to the subtle pleadings and false arguments of those who would offer an imitation of, or substitute for, the tried and true Fletcher's Castoria.

CASTORIA

A Word About Truth.

"Great is Truth, and mighty above all things." So says the Old Testament, yet it is equally true to-day. Truth shows no favors, fears no enemies.

From the inception of Fletcher's Castoria, Truth has been the watchword, and to the conscientious adherence to this motto in the preparation of Fletcher's Castoria as well as in its advertising is due the secret of its popular demand.

All imitations, all substitutes, all just-as-good preparations lack the element of Truth, lack the righteousness of being, lack all semblance even in the words of those who would deceive.

And you! Mothers, mothers with the fate of the World in your hands, can you be deceived? Certainly not.

Fletcher's Castoria is prepared for Infants and Children. It is distinctly a remedy for the little-ones. The BABY'S need for a medicine to take the place of Castor Oil, Paregoric and Soothing Syrups was the sole thought that led to its discovery. Never try to correct BABY'S troubles with a medicine that you would use for yourself.
